As we go through the pamphlets we picked up on our latest journey, we find that the majority of them will go into the wastebasket. We wonder why visitors pick up so much junk—and sometimes pay good money for booklets and illustrated material that they will never look at again. We have been one of the guilty ones.

Discovered this week that the nearest C & NW freight station to Palatine, Arlington Heights and Mount Prospect for shipment of less than carload lots is Chicago or Crystal Lake. This further explains why the North Western has no use for the cement block freight station built years ago by Arlington commercial interests. It has now given way for the Jewel Tea parking lot. We recall the enthusiasm of George Schneberger and others who built the freight station at no cost to the railroad.

Attorney Moyer, Arlington Heights, likes children. When entering the Palatine municipal building, he stopped long enough to reward James and Alson Morland and Laurie Ostergaard, 7 and 9 years old. The youngsters thought they were doing a public service when they brought to the police a first aid kit found near the highway.

Lack of parental guidance has been blamed for much of the delinquency of today. In comment on the latest decision of the U.S. Supreme Court, Bishop Burrill of the Episcopal church places responsibility upon the parents for the non-religious life of the coming generation. "The decisions dissipate the myth that ours is a Christian country," says Burrill. "For a long time the minority who are believing, practicing Christians, have been lulled by the comfortable illusion that this is a Christian nation.

"The court's decision should clear the air and put the challenge squarely up to the churches and Christian parents to do the job to which they are committed."

Too many of the best features of TV are "repeats"—something like reading last week's newspapers today. We are not a TV fan but we do not like to see TV fans being gypped. We wonder if the sponsors are given a special "repeat" advertising price.

Roadside eating places are ordering quadruple supplies of chicken since the race track opened. The colored gentlemen certainly love chicken, was the explanation given to us by a purveyor.

Cook County Farm Bureau was host a week ago to the Arlington Heights Rotary Club, along with a group of Rotary Anns. It was a Thresherman's Dinner served at the Frank J. Rathje farm in Schaumburg Township. It was delicious, and as bountiful as it was good.

Sixty years ago the men who sat down to a thresher's dinner did a lot of manual labor before and after in the harvest field. In those days, labor at harvest time was on an "exchange" basis. The wives of the farmers upon whom fell the responsibility to feed the workmen, made an effort to surpass the dinners of their neighbor. But none of them ever served such huge pieces of strawberry pie or more delicious fried chicken than was served the Rotarians.

The necessity for a good education was emphasized to us this week by a telephone mechanic who said, "A college degree is needed if a man desires to make any progress in the business world. A high school diploma today is about as unimportant as was a grade school diploma years ago. I wish I could impress this fact upon some of my acquaintances."

Arlington Heights Trustees to Meet

The Arlington Heights Village Board will meet as a committee of the whole Tuesday, July 9, to discuss annexation of Arlington Heights Gardens — long-time sty in the village's eye toward orderly southern expansion.

The 300-home subdivision, developed by Realty Corporation of America, is located just west of State Road, south of Central.

An annexation petition circulated among Gardens homeowners came before the board Monday after approval in Cook County Court, but members voted to postpone consideration until full time could be devoted to annexation problems and more facts could be gathered.

Principal problem in the annexation is Citizens' Utility Co., a private corporation now serving the subdivision with water and sewer facilities.

AT MONDAY'S meeting Village Atty. Jack Siegel outlined several means by which the village could take over services now rendered by Citizens'.

But he also made it clear that Arlington Heights is under no obligation to supply water and sewer to the subdivision residents if annexation is completed.

Citizens' has the right to continue service, Siegel said, or the village can duplicate and bypass the company's operation, purchase it, or condemn it with approval of the ICC.

EVENTUAL annexation seemed to hinge only on solution of the water and sewer service problem Monday as village officials moved right into discussion of that aspect.

Wallace Ambrose, president of the Arlington Heights Gardens Homeowners' Assn., came before the board and brought to light another difficulty—the possibility of long-term contracts between residents and Citizens' for services.

Though discussion of the annexation was stopped short, one thing remained clear. Residents of Arlington Heights Gardens—and nobody else—will somehow pick up the tab for placement of private utilities within the village system, if and when it is accomplished.

SIEGEL CITED two logical methods for financing the conversion. The first was revenue bonds, to be paid back either through a tap fee or through temporarily increased water rates.

The second choice is special assessment, which could only be used to put in new facilities. He also stated it would be possible to combine the two methods.

Village Mgr. L. A. Hanson said the village does not need Citizens' well—just water lines for connection to existing village water supply.

SIEGEL ALSO expressed the opinion that sewer and water lines under the street may have become public property upon dedication of that street as public.

According to Hanson, payment for utilities running under the streets was made to RCA, not Citizens', and RCA later yielded dedication of the streets. This would perhaps make the utility lines public property upon annexation.

But before postponement of the matter, Village President John G. Woods added, "I'm afraid we will find that Citizens' is not anxious to leave this area."

Daylight Robbery Nets Diamond Ring

Two armed men escaped with a 26½ carat diamond ring and a purse containing $48 in cash in the daylight robbery of Mrs. Russell Firestone, 730 S. Beverly, Arlington Heights, at 8 p.m. Monday outside her summer home.

The Firestones, Palm Beach, Fla., residents are residing in Arlington Heights during the Arlington Park Racing season. Firestone owns a stable of racehorses.

The two men apparently followed Mrs. Firestone and her brother, Charles Turner, home from the track, according to L. W. Calderwood, Arlington Heights police chief.

THE TWO got out of a blue four-door sedan, each holding a snub-nose revolver, and told Mrs. Firestone, "Give us your jewelry."

She removed her ring, insured for $250,000, and was then told to hand over her purse. The robbers then got back into their car and fled south on Beverly, Mrs. Firestone told police.

Mrs. Firestone and her brother had been with her husband at the track, but Firestone had left the others after dinner at the Classic Restaurant to go to his stables.

ONE OF THE two robbers is described as white male, age 38, height 5 feet-10 inches, weight 185, medium build. The other is described as also white male, age 48, 5 feet-9 inches, 165 lbs., grey hair and using rough language.

Mrs. Firestone has made partial identification of one of the men from police mug shots of known jewel theives.

Heidemann Chairman For VFW

John C. Heidemann, 1017 N. Stratford, Arlington Heights, was elected state chairman of the Veterans of Foreign Wars Sunday at the close of the organization's 44th annual convention.

First Arlington man to win state VFW office, Heidemann heads an organization boasting 89,000 members. Nearly 30 members from Arlington Post 981 went to Peoria as delegates to work for his election.

A Commonwealth Edison accountant, Heidemann is a Marine Reserve, married and the father of two children.

OTHER NEW state officers are Ray R. Soden of Bensenville, senior vice commander; William Brumett of Olney, junior vice commender; Francis J. Arnold of Park Forest, seventh term as adjutant; W. F. Glassford of Elgin, third term as quartermaster; Don Oberlander of Mendota, chief of staff; Robert L. Lansden of Cairo, judge advocate; Dr. Robert Mitchell of Park Ridge, surgeon, and the Rev. Marcel LaVoy of Aurora, state chaplain.

In girls' drill team competition at the convention, the Coronets, sponsored by the Arlington Post, took second place in their first competition.

City Series

Paddock Publications recently assigned writer Dick Hoffmann and photographer Larry Cameron to combine their talents in a three-part report on what the flow to the suburbs had left behind in Chicago's "inner city" and how it affects life in suburbia.

The last of their special reports on "The Hidden City" will be found inside this week's edition.

WHEW! The Federal Savings sign was just about right in Arlington Heights Friday as it zoomed to 101, then levelled off at 100 degrees. Day climaxed a week of hot weather, with more promised for this week.

125 Homeowners Object to Campbell Street Widening

After a delay in obtaining a quorum, explanation of planned improvements, estimated cost and steps in making and spreading a special assessment, the Board of Local Improvements got to the business at hand.

Thus began the formal hearing on proposed improvement of Campbell Street, and the business at hand was hearing and answering questions for any of the more than 60 affected residents present who wanted to speak.

The business of listening, answering and explaining took an entire evening June 27 — right into June 28, and decision by the board on whether improvement plans will go ahead was postponed until at least 9 p.m. July 11, when the hearing will be continued.

A PETITION signed by 125 property owners on Campbell Street and residents affected by the planned assessment was presented to the board by W. McKinley Baird, 900 W. Campbell, chairman of the board of the Arlington Heights Home Owners' Alliance.

The petition requested that Campbell Street and adjacent streets be separated into two categories for consideration, analysis and discussion.

But L. W. Ewing, board president, said he would hear residents row-by-row, regardless of address.

MAJOR COMPLAINTS lodged by the home owners' alliance were voiced by Freeman W. McCord, vice president, who claimed that residents along Campbell would not benefit, but rather suffer, from improvement of the thoroughfare to four lanes.

But Ewing answered that cost to home owners would ouly be that of a normal residential street — the remainder to be covered by public benefit funds.

Ewing continued that necessity for a four-lane improvement was supported by traffic surveys indicating 6,000 to 7,000 cars daily as opposed to 500 to 1,000 on a quiet residential street.

SURVEYS WERE conducted by Normann Toberman, village engineer.

Complaints were also heard from residents protesting the inherent traffic increase involved in such improvements, and the increased danger to neighborhood children, but the board held that the proposed road's ability to handle traffic would actually decrease danger.

THE BARRICADES went up this week as work proceeded on widening of Arlington Heights Road, sending area residents in search of alternate routes. The portion of the road from Higgins to Algonquin was the first to be blockaded. This picture was taken at the Algonquin intersection of what eventually will be a four-lane highway. Work is expected to be completed by fall.

Fireworks Not Legal

With complaints of illegal fireworks explosions growing more frequent as July 4 approaches, Police Chief L. W. Calderwood again warns of the double danger of fireworks in the hands of both children and adults—arrest and injury.

Statutes forbid either the sale or use of any fireworks, including sparklers, without a permit in Illinois. Permits are issued only to those trained in handling of explosives—and only for authorized displays.

Project Near Forest View

by JIM CARNS
News Editor

The Village of Arlington Heights rose to a new level of multiple dwelling development Monday night — a fourth story presented in plans for the Shalamar Apartments, to be constructed near Forest View High School at the village's southern boundary.

Members of the village board voted formal approval for the planned development 4-1, subject to seven conditions outlined by the plan commission and one set into the approval motion by Trustee Bud Beacham.

Trustee Eugene Schlickman entered the board's single no, but he drew vocal support from two attending citizens in stating that the development is "in two respects below standards presently being implemented by the village."

One of these standards is a height limitation which would preclude approval of any multiple dwellings above three stories.

THE OTHER, related to height, would require allotment of 2,500 square feet of land for every dwelling unit.

Four-story plans approved for Ludwig Marcy and Sons' development provide just over the present minimum 2,100 square foot per unit limit.

Schlickman also cast the single no vote in April, 1963, when the board approved R-5 zoning for the 20 acres bordering Goebbert Road north of Algonquin which Marcy plans to develop.

Citizens objecting to what they termed "precedent-setting" height were Lester W. Ayres Jr. and John A. Mitchell, outspoken figures in recent successful protests over planned "high rise" development of Regent Park.

AYRES AGAIN appealed to the village board to quickly establish a height limitation for multiple dwellings, suggesting 22 feet as a possibility.

But Trustee William Moore, back with the board after more than two months' absence due to hospitalization for surgery, capsuled the board's majority opinion:

"If we lay out guideposts for development and they (the developers) follow them, I think they are deserving of consideration."

Guideposts for development of the Shalamar project originally provided for only 10 acres of R-5 zoning and a greater amount of land per living unit, but in order to maintain a degree of control over the area and prevent it from being zoned in the county or Mount Prospect, the board bent with the developer's desires.

IN THE OPINION of Village Atty. Jack Siegel, the planned apartments will only set a height precedent in their immediate area, and one has already been established there by the proximity of Forest View High School—several feet taller than the planned 36-foot apartment height.

Trustee Carl Mees commented Monday that he "would rather see four stories in this situation" than the sacrifice of ground space involved in building the same number of units on fewer levels.

Trustee Beacham explained to protesting citizens that the Shalamar project is "entirely different than an eight-story high rise development."

But Mitchell contended again that the trend is "up—up—up" in Arlington Heights.

SPECIFIC CHANGES in development plans approved by the plan commission did not touch on the controversial issue of height.

They included additional road dedications, satisfactory access to the middle two buildings of the eight-building development, revision of one parking lot, recomputation of density and access to the future dedicated street along the west edge of the development.

Marcy stated all conditions for approval had been satisfied. The board's single condition was that screening be provided between the eastern parking lot and Goebbert Road.

The apartments, planned for completion in three years, will total 376 units—16 two-bedroom and 31 one-bedroom units in each building.

Plans for two swimming pools and adult recreational facilities are also included.

New Plat Of Regent Park Set

The revised plat for Regent Park subdivision—once planned with two eight-story apartments —will be reported on next Wednesday at the regular meeting of the Arlington Heights Plan Commission.

The meeting will be at 8 p. m. at the Municipal Building.

Approval of the 45-acre subdivision layout north of Prospect High School was rescinded by the Village Board of Trustees June 10 following vigorous protests against the high-rise apartments by residents of the area.

Plans have been redrawn with the 72 apartment units rearranged in four three-story buildings.

In other business on the agenda, architect Joe Bennett will appear to discuss possible vacation of a portion of Evergreen Street at the rear of the new St. James Junior High School on North State Road.

CD Action Postponed

Arlington Heights Village Board action on a civil defense master plan, scheduled for Monday's meeting, was postponed until the next regular meeting, July 15, at the request of Wallace Daughtry, village civil defense director.

Kerner to OK Bill on IPAC

SPRINGFIELD, ILL., (UPI) — Gov. Otto Kerner announced Tuesday he would sign into law a measure abolishing the Illinois Public Aid Commission.

The governor said Harold O. Swank, present executive secretary of the IPAC, would be the new director of the Public Aid Code Department which will replace the commission.

Kerner, in announcing that Swank would be the new director of the Public Aid Department, praised him as a man "who is able, intelligent and will make an excellent director." Swank presently is the highest-ranking full-time employe of the IPAC in his executive secretary post.

ALSO ON the subject of public aid, the governor said he had told Sen. Morgan Finley, D-Chicago, that Finley's bill to restrict the IPAC birth control program to all but married women living with their spouses was "a step backwards."

However, Kerner said, he had promised that under the code department he would direct that this bill, in effect, would be the policy for the next few years while a 15-member commission studies the public aid birth control issue.

The governor said he had been opposed to signing a bill placing ceilings on payments to public aid recipients but he said he had been "blackmailed" into signing that ceiling bill "against my better judgment" because it was the only way the Republican-dominated Legislature would agree to pass a needed emergency appropriation to carry the IPAC through to the end of the last biennium.

KERNER SAID he would have agreed to accept a $40-a-week average payment plan. Under this this plan, he said, some families would receive more than $40 and others would receive less.

"This plan would have saved as much money as the ceilings plan," Kerner said.

The governor said the Public Aid Commission had between $7 million and $8 million left over in funds from the emergency appropriation last May that ended the long deadlock on public aid.

Ordinance Published

The annual appropriation ordinance of Arlington Heights Park District and the park board may be found among today's Herald legal notices.

The appropriations, for the fiscal year from May 1, 1963, to April 30, 1964, total $380,729.70.

Main topics and their totals include $80,063.10 for bonds and interest, $224,364.60 for general corporate purposes, $71,982 for recreational program fund and $4,320 for social security.

The ordinance serves as a guide to expenditures previously outlined in the annual budget, but funds may be transferred from one fund to another to make up deficiencies if they arise.

Mailman Ralph Stippick Retires After 36 Years

Ralph Stippick is going fishing.

But there aren't many people in Arlington Heights who go with as clear a conscience or as good a send-off. He retired Friday after 36 years and nine months at the Arlington Heights Post Office.

At the retirement party, Arlington Heights Postmaster Mrs. Virginia Dodge told Stippick's fellow workers, "He's given the best of his life to this service."

Stippick himself is ready for a vacation, but adds that he will spend a great deal of his time aside from fishing at his son-in-law's farm in Burlington, Wis.

"There's lots of work to be done on a farm," he explains.

HE WENT TO WORK for the post office Oct. 1, 1926, as a letter carrier and continued in that position until 1957, when he began driving a parcel post truck.

He has watched the village grow from a population of 3,800 to more than 30,000, and the number of carriers increase from two to about 50.

But more than anything else Stippick notes the change in relations between the carrier and residents along his route.

He remembers threading a needle for a woman whose eyes were failing and making special deliveries of long-awaited letters from soldiers in World War II.

AT THE RETIREMENT ceremony Stippick received many cards of commendation and good wishes, including one from members of Branch 2810 of the National Letter Carriers' Assn., of which he is past president.

He also was accorded honorary recognition from Edward Day, U. S. postmaster general, for "dedication to duty in the course of an honorable career in the United States postal service." The citation included a "cordial expression of esteem from co-workers in the service."

Stippick will continue to live at 127 S. Walnut, Arlington Heights, with his wife Marie, who, he says, also likes to fish. (A

White Poodle Wins Pet Show Blue Ribbon

A white poodle owned by Eddie Gaenzle, 1016 N. Harvard, Arlington Heights, won first place for best over-all excellence in Recreation Park's pet show Friday, June 28.

Second place in over-all excellence went to a white and brown chihuahua owned by Sandy Auer, 202 S. Stratford Road.

Ten other categories were available for judging. More than 20 pets were entered in the contest.

OTHER award winners were:

Most well-groomed pet—white terrier, Kathy Gohr, 407 N. Wilshire Lane, first; black poodle, Eileen Falardeau, 2119 Kensington Road, second.

Most well-mannered pet — dachshund, Jan Dieters, 844 S. Chestnut, first; light brown poodle, Paul Ebel, 910 N. Pine, second.

Biggest dog — grey collie, Chris Brand, 1002 N. Walnut, first; light brown collie, Pam Hatch, 21 S. Rammer, second.

Biggest cat — grey persian, Kathleen McBride, 216 N. Brighton Place, first.

Smallest cat — tan persian, Mary and Martha Corwin, 403 N. Douglas, first.

Smallest dog — chihuahua, Sandy Auer, 202 S. Stratford Road, first; white poodle, Ed Gaenzle, 1016 N. Harvard, second.

Ugliest pet — turtle, Jeff Hatch, 21 S. Rammer, first.

Most unique pet — guppies, Ken Wells, 24 N. Belmont, first.

Most beautiful pet — hamster, Linda Dietz, 100 Elaine Circle E. first; pekinese, Sue Hagan, 411 Chatham Place, second.

Longest tail — dark brown collie, Danette Draut, 746 N. Belmont, first; Siamese, Charles Scharf, 528 S. Prindle, second.

Judges for the event were Mrs. Lois Dietz, Mrs. Maxine Gohr, Mrs. D. J. Kennedy and Mrs. Betty Gilling, all local townspeople.

Blue, red and white ribbons were awarded in all of the categories. (A

Triple Trouble Hits Power Line

Lighting didn't strike twice in the same place, but it might as well have on the 800 block of North Dunton during an electrical storm June 27.

The Public Service Co. explains that lightning struck a transformer in this block, blowing line fuses and leaving 60 or 70 customers temporarily without electricity.

The first blow was at 9 p.m. Fuses were soon replaced, but as quickly as they were replaced they blew again. Crews discovered this time a tree down across the line had shorted it out.

The tree was cleared, the fuses replaced, but again they blew. Another survey of the line yielded another tree down. Again the fuses were replaced and the current surged. Ah, sweet success.

But by that time it was almost 12:30. Most residents had retired after an evening of candlelight.

Sgt. Glueckert Gets Top Rating

An Arlington Heights man last week earned honors as the first supply sergeant in the 85th Division to receive a 100 per cent superior rating.

Sgt. John Glueckert of 2002 N. Verde Dr., supply sergeant for Headquarters Company, 1st Battalion, 337th Regiment, Des Plaines, received the rating at Army Reserve summer camp at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo.

After the rating was given, Glueckert explained his records system to all company, battalion and regimental commanders at a meeting specially called by the division commander, Maj. Gen. John S. Gleason.

Glueckert is a funeral director at Black's Memorial Home, Arlington Heights. (A

Dispute Tree Ad Verdict

Judge Daniel J. Ryan of the Jury Court branch of the Chicago Municipal Court will hear arguments Aug. 15 on whether to vacate conviction of Nels J. Johnson on charges of advertising for employes without mentioning a strike at his firm.

The firm, Nels J. Johnson Thee Experts, Inc., is being picketed at the Arlington Heights Municipal Building and elsewhere by Local 703 of the Teamsters in a drive to organize employes.

JOHNSON IS presently under contract with the village for tree care and removal.

Testimony leading to the original judgment established that Johnson advertised for tree trimmers on June 12, 1962. Picketing was in progress at that time also.

Johnson's attorney, Raymond L. Jones, contends that the statute, providing for a maximum fine of $300, is unconstitutional.

THE UNION'S business representative, Clarence Leonard, describes present picketing in the village as "token" disapproval of the village's hiring non-union labor.

But Leonard also says the union is awaiting an opinion from the state's attorney's office on whether picketing of the municipal building ina village actually constitutes a picket of all village operations.

Homeowners Object to Widening

Answers to questions involving spread of the proposed assessment were postponed until accurate figures could be made available. The project cost estimate of $214,460.45 does not include costs of obtaining right-of-way on eight parcels of land not clearly dedicated.

INCLUDED IN the cost estimate were pavement, sidewalks and curb and drainage improvements from Ridge to Yale on Campbell Street, and paving, curbs and gutters on Kennicott, Salem and Wing streets.

Proposed pavement is 37-foot concrete on Campbell and 28-foot concrete on all other streets.

Planners to Study New Office Plans

Proposal by Robert L. Nelson Realtors for an office building on the northwest corner of State Road and Northwest Highway was referred to the plan commission Monday for study and subsequent report to the village board.

Plans for the building include purchase of Sterling Oil Co. property at State and Wing Street and purchase of North Western Railway property along Northwest Highway, including an easement which must first be vacated by the village.

The board indicated its approval of office use for the corner site, but Village Pres. John G. Woods also said that the possibility of a future State Road railroad underpass must also be kept in mind.

PRELIMINARY plans for the underpass have incorporated part of the property now being considered for office use.

In presenting the preliminary office plan to the board, M. Edward Smith, 221 Wilshire, Arlington Heights, indicated that Nelson has already taken option on the Sterling property, and that North Western Railway representatives had been agreeable in preliminary talks.

Smith estimated finished value of the office development at about one-half million dollars. (AF

Educators Elect Miner Principal

C. F. Raasch, principal of Miner Junior High School, has assumed presidency of the Lake Shore Division of the Illinois Education Assn. this week at the National Education Assn. convention in Detroit.

The Lake Shore Division will have approximately 10,000 members during the 1963-64 year—about one-seventh of the IEA's total membership.

Raasch has been an IEA delegate every year since 1958, and an NEA delegate since 1960. He served as first vice president of the state organization in 1962-63, and second vice president in 1961-62.

He has been a member of NEA for 18 years, and an IEA member since coming to Illinois six years ago. (A

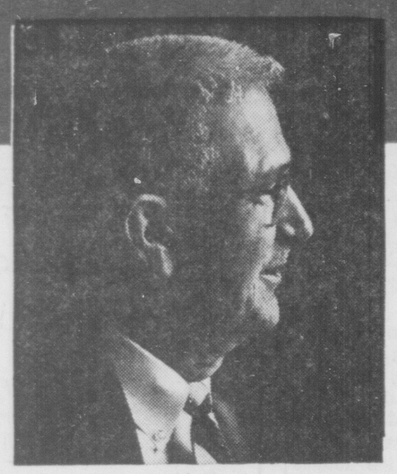
Where you save DOES make a difference!

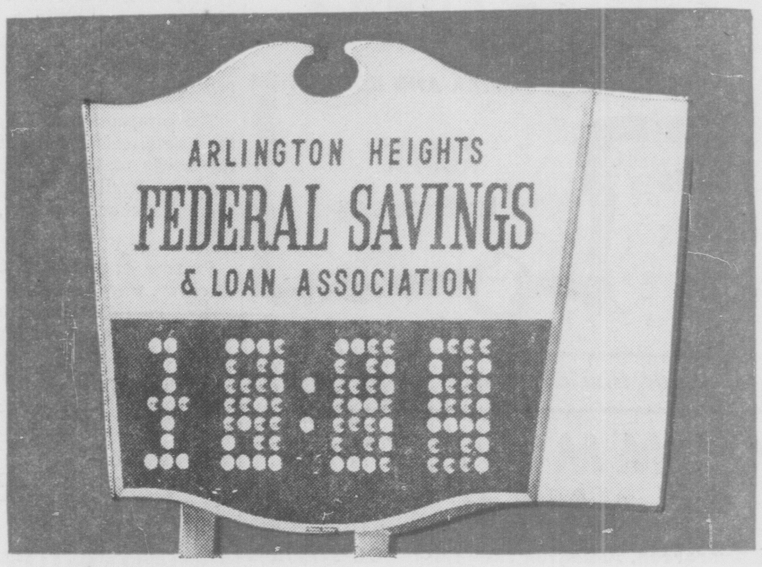


"Ten years ago," says Arlington Heights Federal Savings president Paul E. Collins, "our founding directors set out to establish an outstanding home for savings. This meant a place our neighbors could trust, with sound, conservative business policies. It also meant a place that would attract savings, where saving makes a difference, because we know the competition that exists for every family savings dollar.

"The fact that in ten years our home for savings has become a $30,000,000 thrift institution with more than 17,000 savers indicates that we are making good progress. Customers appreciate our old-fashioned respect for the value of a dollar. They also like our efforts to make every aspect of doing business with us a pleasant experience. We like to live up to the slogan, 'Where you save does make a difference!' "

We have 15,000 square feet of private parking space right at our doors for your convenience. No streets to cross, no blocks to walk.

A major building, we feel, imposes a responsibility to the community; we have tried to make ours attractive.

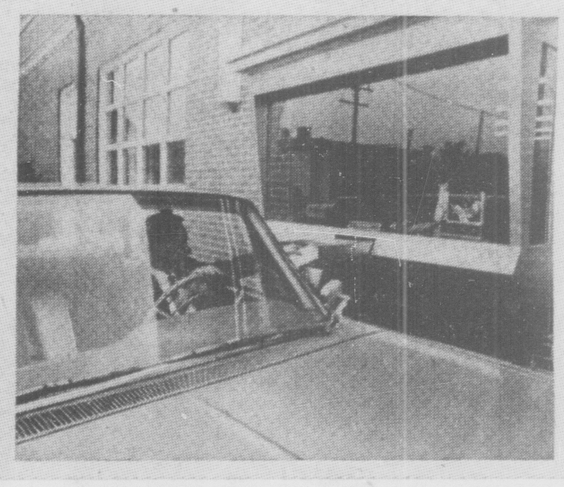


A time and temperature clock was erected this spring for information to passers-by in downtown Arlington Heights.

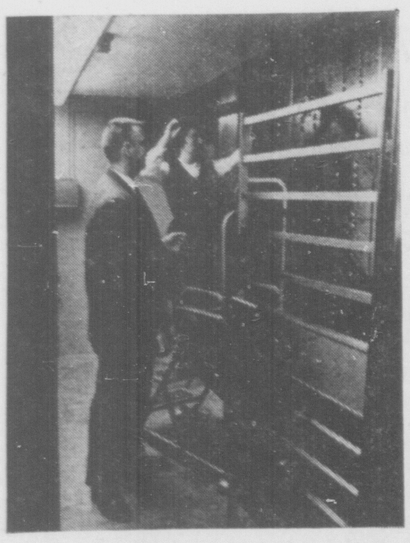
Our savings department is prepared to handle all questions of new or prospective customers.

The teller department's well-trained personnel have latest equipment for handling transactions.

Customers find the Walk-Up Window in our new rear lobby particularly handy for after-hours business.

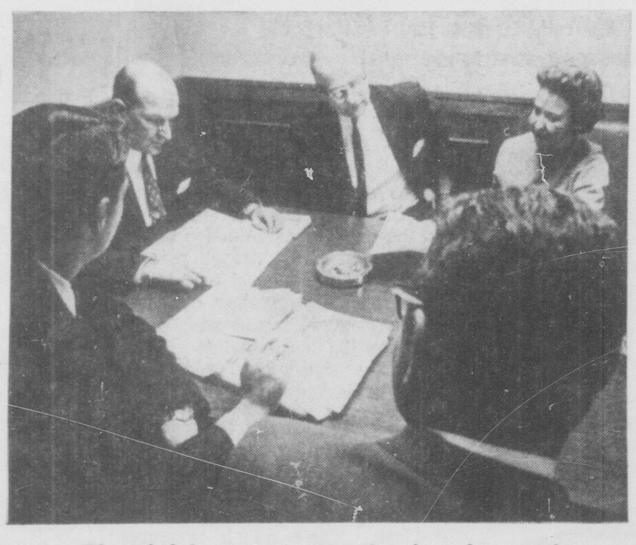


The Drive-Up Window is also available to our patrons on a 59-hours-a-week schedule.



Safe deposit vault affords fire and theft protection for as little as 2c a day.

Counseling on home mortgage loans is the other half of the business activity in which we specialize.



Thoughtful, prompt attention is a key part of our home mortgage loan policy and service.

We made over 500 home mortgage loans in 1962 to local families — an investment of $10,000,000.

Apartment Zoning Vetoed By County Board President

In unprecedented action, Cook County Board President Seymour Simon has vetoed zoning requests granted by the county board to permit erection of two apartment projects near Park Ridge.

In this decision, Simon referred to the meeting held May 8 in Arlington Heights in which he and other county officials heard complaints from over 60 suburban municipal heads concerning the spreading throughout the county of multiple-family dwellings.

Among the villages represented at the meeting were: Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect, Palatine, Elk Grove Village, Hoffman Estates, Rolling Meadows, Wheeling, Schaumburg, Park Ridge, Des Plaines, Barrington, Barrington Hills and South Barrington.

THE TWO tracts of land re zoned by the county board on recommendation of the county zoning board of appeals were on the north and south sides of Golf Road west of Greenwood Avenue near Park Ridge. The land was rezoned to R-6 multiple-family residence district (1,500 square feet per dwelling unit).

Simon suggested if the county board wished to reconsider the matter that it hold a special meeting "at night in Maine Township so that the residents of the area may have ample opportunity to come forth and express their views. At such a hearing I would suggest a more penetrating inquiry than the transcript reveals into whether the community involved has planned for R-6 zoning and is prepared and equipped to handle it."

If the county board wished to override Simon's veto, it would take 12 of the 15 county commissioners voting in favor of it.

IN MAKING his decision to reverse the board action of June 17, Simon observed: "Large apartment structures containing small apartments similar to those found in the central city are being provided in the suburban areas. Perhaps development of this nature cannot be blocked; perhaps suburban areas with a more city-like appearance is a requirement of the future — desired by the people and best for our metropolitan areas. But, before we embark upon a path, the ultimate result of which will be to make the suburban areas undistinguishable from the city itself, I would suggest that deeper consideration be given to this problem. I would like to see the public given greater opportunity to discuss what the development of the future should be."

The county board president also noted that in his meeting with northwest suburban community leaders they objected to unchecked erection of apartments due to "the increased demand for municipal services which expanded apartment development places on their already over-taxed municipal facilities."

Simon said: "I am also concerned with the effect our decisions will have on other applications for rezoning. The experts testifying on behalf of the rezoning stated a great demand exists in the suburban areas for small apartments of the type R-6 zoning permits. If this is so, our action may open the floodgates to a new wave of zoning requests for an intensity of use that was severely limited in our ordinance adopted only three years ago."

IT IS BELIEVED the first time in more than 30 years that a county board president has exercised his veto.

The meeting between Simon and northwest suburban officials came about as a result of protests over rezoning of a number of parcels of land for multiple-family dwellings south of Mount Prospect. The area is bounded on the north by Golf Road, the east by Elmhurst Road, the south by Algonquin Road and the west by Busse Road in Elk Grove Township.

Kids Asked to Write A 'Letter to Lincoln'

Youthful admirers of Abraham Lincoln who live in Illinois, Indiana or Kentucky are invited by the Civil War Round Table of Chicago to "Write a Letter to Mr. Lincoln" and compete for a number of interesting prizes.

The competition will highlight the formal opening in Illinois of the newly designated Lincoln Heritage Trail at New Salem State Park on Saturday, Aug. 3.

Purpose of the contest is to discover why so many young people consider Abraham Lincoln more fascinating than any other figure in American history.

LETTERS of 250 words or less should begin, "Dear Mr. Lincoln" and describe an imaginary meeting with him. Entries will be judged on the basis of originality, imagination and understanding of the subject. No letters can be returned and the decision of the judges will be final.

To be eligible for prizes, contestants must be under 15 years of age, and live in Illinois, Indiana or Kentucky. Entries should be addressed to: Contest, Civil War Round Table, 18 E. Chestnut St., Chicago 11, and must be postmarked by midnight July 21.

HINTS TO HOMEOWNERS

by James Fizzell, Associate Farm Advisor

ALERT HOMEOWNERS DIAL DAILY 392-3060

Elm trees affected by many diseases — Dutch Elm disease is probably the most damaging elm tree disease in our area, but is by no means the only one present.

A very common disease is known as wet-wood. This disease is caused by a bacteria which lives in the sapwood. It is found in other trees besides elm, but is more wide-spread and causes more damage in elms than other trees.

The disease produces wilting of one or more branches of the tree and examination of the sapwood of the branch reveals brown streaking not unlike that associated with other diseases. The name wet-wood comes from the accumulation of sap in the tree which produces a water-soaked condition.

IN ADDITION, fermentation of the sap produces gas in large amounts in the trunk, creating very high pressures as high as 60 pounds per square inch. These high pressures force sap out of cracks in crotches and trunks, and through wounds made by the removal of branches.

The sap soon dries to form white or gray encrustations below crotches and wounds, creating a very characteristic symptom. If these encrustations are present on a tree, wet-wood is to be suspected.

Another vascular disease producing brown discoloration in the affected elm branches is Verticillium wilt. This disease is common on a number of other types of trees and is particularly destructive on maple.

THE LEAVES of the affected tree may wilt at any time during the growing season. Single branches or the entire tree may wilt at one time. Some trees may show a limited amount of wilt one year, recover, and not wilt in succeeding years. Others may wilt every year until the tree finally succumbs. Often branches which show wilt will produce new leaves 3 or 4 weeks later.

Dothiorella wilt is a third vasular disease of elms, the disease causes yellowing, curling, and wilting of the leaves, followed by defoliation, development of cankers, and die-back of affected branches. Diseased bark turns reddish brown and becomes shrunken.

In time, black raised pusticles of the fungus appear in the diseased bark. Brown streaks produced in the young sapwood of wilting branches may be confused with those caused by dutch elm or verticillium wilt.

THE ABOVE three diseases of elm, unlike Dutch Elm Disease, can be kept under control. All three are present in this area. Proper diagnosis can only be made by a qualified mycologist after culturing in a laboratory. Do not rely on the visual symptoms alone as positive proof of any of the diseases.

For information on how to have samples cultured and how to control these diseases, contact the Associate Farm Adviser's office at 201 N. Dunton, Arlington Heights.

New Country Club Opens Near Cary

A new swim and tennis country club opened activities at the Fox Trails sports area in Cary June 25.

The private club, offering adult recreation as well as a special youth program, features all outdoor sports.

A 12-room club house and all recreational facilities are situated on a bluff overlooking Fox River Valley.

CLUB DIRECTOR is Andrew Voisard, who is present manager of the Fox Trails Sports area and also headmaster of Vernon Oaks Country Day School in Deerfield.

Voisard will head the club's Youth Sports Program, which offers recreational instruction and competition, cultural courses, and academic tutoring.

The eight-week youth program will offer tennis, baseball, football, track, gymnastics, trampoline, volleyball, badminton, archery, horseback riding, boating, and other water sports.

THE STAFF consists of teachers and students from nearby universities, according to Voisard.

A year 'round adult social program will include theatre parties, bridge and canasta groups, dances, and parties.

Winter facilities include 10 ski tows, 12 ski trails over Fox Trail hills, and snow-making equipment.

The club plans to conduct ski tours of the West and Europe after the Midwest ski season ends. (B8

Rodeo, Beauty Contest Slated at Frontier Days

A rip-roaring look into the past and fun for young and old await crowds at Libertyville's upcoming 5th Annual Frontier Days, July 10-13.

One of the many top events of the festival is the National Championship Libertyville Rodeo, featuring contests in bareback bronc riding, calf roping, steer wrestling, saddle bronc riding and brahman bull riding.

The rodeo is co-sponsored by the VFW and American Legion and will be held on the 12th, the 13th and the 14th.

LAKE COUNTY'S most beautiful girls will compete in the Frontier Days Queen Contest at 9 p.m. July 10. The contest, emceed by a top disc jockey, will will follow a Torchlight Parade and precede a Dixieland band concert.

Thursday, July 11, features a kiddies costume parade in the morning, with prizes for the most unique costumes, and a magic show in the afternoon. Throughout the day merchants in authentic western costume will display and sell their wares on Libertyville sidewalks.

An amateur talent show will start the annual summer celebration Thursday evening. A square dance exhibition and 10 p.m. fireworks display will round out July 11 activities.

FRIDAY morning any male or female may enter a pie-baking contest. All pies will be auctioned off following the contest. A magic show, evening music concert, another fireworks display, another square dance exhibition and the opening of the rodeo all will take place during July 12.

A fastdraw revolver exhibition will be the first of many events scheduled for Saturday the 13th. The Chicago Highlanders will present a bagpipe concert shortly after noon and will precede the Frontier Days parade with floats, bands and marchers.

Excitement at the rodeo will continue Saturday evening, along with a street dance in downtown Libertyville where special BONANZA PRIZES will be awarded.

FOLLOWING a Teenage Twister at the Legion Hall, festivities will wind up with a gigantic fireworks finale at 10:30 p.m.

Carnival rides will operate during all four days, and top personalities will be in town to participate in the fun and judge various contests.

Libertyville's 5th Frontier Days celebration, jam-packed with more entertaining events than ever before, promises to be the most exciting event in Northern Illinois this summer! (A14

Suburban News of the Week

ELK GROVE VILLAGE — Possibility of sprinkling restructions being clamped on village residents was discussed at last week's village board meeting. However, the water level in the reservoirs rose this week following a doupour, somwhat easing the situation. Details in Elk Grove Herald.

WHEELING — Village planning consultant, Marwood Rupp, said Wheeling and other area communities would have to surmount jurisdictional jealousies and intergovernmental competition to avoid bad development. Until there is inter-governmental cooperating, developers will play one village against another on a "divide and conquer" system, he said. Details in Wheeling Herald.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS — The village board Monday approved plans for the first four-story apartment development within village limits. Developer Ludwig Marcy plans 376 one and two bedroom units in eight buildings on Goebbert Road just north of Algonquin Road. Details in Arlington Heights Herald.

ROLLING MEADOWS — A 50-minute $1,500 fireworks display at Kimball Hill Park, rated the best in the northwest suburbs and financed by contributions from individuals and businesses in Rolling Meadows, will climax the city's second annual Fourth of July celebration. Picnics, contests, softball games and a band concert, beginning at 5:30 p.m., have also been planned by the local Chamber of Commerce and park district. Last year's festivities attracted 10,000 visitors. Details in Rolling Meadows Herald.

PALATINE — Talk of re-introducing the Palatine downtown street lighting program is being tossed around by village trustees. Engineer's, assessor's, and attorney's fees on the $97,224 street lighting assessment thrown out of court on a technicality have not been paid. Details in Palatine Enterprise.

HOFFMAN ESTATES — Expansion of Hoffman Estates into Palatine Township has encountered a new roadblock in the defeat of proposed legislation to permit the Chicago Sanitary District to annex 800 acres of land which is proposed for development of 2,000 homes and a shopping center. The land, now part of Hoffman Estates, runs a half mile north of Palatine Road, and six miles from the present center of population of the village. State Sen. John Graham (R., Barrington) last week succeeded in getting the legislation killed and Joseph I. Woods, chief investigator for the Better Government Association, charged the "a major scandal" is involved in efforts to get legislative approval. Residents of countryside type of subdivisions in Palatine and Barrington Township have been fighting the Hoffman Estates expansion. Details in Hoffman Herald.

SCHAUMBURG — A referendum has been called for July 27 on a proposal to establish a park district covering the Village of Schaumburg and most of the unincorporated areas of Schaumburg Township. Details in Hoffman Herald. (B8

Suburban Wells Deeper, Running Dry

by NANCY ANDERSON

The wells are running dry.

Water won't disappear this summer or next, but it's possible within the next 20 years. Suburban communities are drilling deeper and deeper to get the water so badly needed for mushrooming populations and industries.

Arlington Heights is putting in a seventh well, Mount Prospect a sixth, Palatine a fifth. Elk Grove Village has okayed a third, and Wheeling last week discovered there was no water at a new well site.

And as they drill, as more pumps pull more water from the ground, the water table — the below-ground level saturated with water — drops another 20-30 feet each year. It's gone down 400-700 feet in the past 70 years.

In 1890 most communities got their water from gravel aquifers, water-bearing stratum 150-200 feet below the ground. As these ran dry, wells in limestone aquifers at 200-300 feet proved too expensive, so by the late '30's drills were going into sandstone aquifers at 1,200-1,600 feet.

BUT MONEY spent now on new wells is just "so much down the drain," according to one engineer who's studied the problem for a number of years.

Arlington Heights Pres. John Woods and officials in other communities are inclined to agree.

"With new industry and a doubling of population in the northwest suburbs expected, the wells could dry up in 10 years. We can't wait 10 years to find out," Woods points out.

"We're only staving off the inevitable," admits Pres. James Gibbons of Elk Grove, Where a village board committee has been given descretion for sprinkling regulations during dry spells.

Sprinkling regulations are common throughout the suburbs. Only Rolling Meadows, with three wells, has no water problems. There, residents use only about half the water pumped each day.

But rolling Meadows, too, is looking to the inevitable — Lake Michigan.

Bringing in lake water could double residents' water bills, but in the long run it would be cheaper. As wells go deeper, costs go higher, and "we could find ourselves economically out of water before the wells run dry because of increased costs," says Warren Nelson, Arlington Heights commissioner on DAMP, the Des Plaines-Arlington Heights-Mount Prospect-Palatine water commission.

Originally, DAMP planned to attempt to pipe water directly in from Lake Michigan. Then the Tree Towns Water Commission (Elmhurst-Villa Park-Lombard) got embroiled with Chicago in an extended seven-state legal battle over use of lake water.

CHICAGO HAS been diverting lake water for sanitary purposes for more than 30 years. Instead of returning water to the lake — as do other lake states — the city drains water through sanitary sewers to the Illinois River system.

In 1958 the Tree Towns were blocked from a similar arrangement by Michigan, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Wisconsin, Minnesota and New York. Judge Albert B. Maris has been hearing testimony in chancery court now since 1958 and his findings are not expected to go before the U. S. Supreme Court for six months to a year.

So DAMP has turned, instead, to the city of Chicago, now providing lake water for 60 other suburbs. Cost estimate by Consoer-Townsend, DAMP engineers, is $9,640,000.

But negotiations in the joint effort are being complicated by the possibility that Des Plaines, in "desperate" straits, might pull out and go it alone in requesting Chicago water immediately. Engineers' reports put Des Plaines share of a DAMP hook-up at $3-500,000, but Des Plaines officials think the cost could be less.

"If this happens, DAMP is dead," says Mount Prospect Pres. C. O. Schlaver, indicating his village might go with Des Plaines in attempting a Chicago hook-up. "It's up to Palatine and Arlington to get busy."

Obtaining water through DAMP would be easiest for the villagers, Schlaver notes, because of the bond issue to be floated.

Whatever happens, Mayor Herbert Behrel of Des Plaines has agreed Arlington Heights and Palatine won't be foreclosed. A main to Chicago from Des Plaines could be extended to other villages.

"It's not as bleak as at first, when there was the possibility of Woods. "But I do hope Des Plaines," says Arlington Pres. Plaines will stay in DAMP, although they have my sympathy. I don't think they can move any faster or more efficiently."

HANDLING OF the water situation through the years has been neither fast nor efficient, in the opinion of Joseph Koenen of Arlington Heights, former consulting engineer for the Tree Towns and now consultant for the Lake County Public Water District, also seeking Lake Michigan water.

He points out civilizations that have literally dried up as he accuses Illinois of being remiss in facing the problem. Koenen helped investigate establishment of the Great Lakes Commission by Gov. Otto Kerner to study solutions for the water shortage.

With others, he is firmly convinced lake water is the only resource left — aside from a few gravel aquifers — no matter what the outcome of the suit before the Supreme Court.

Whether they win or lose the case, other lake states may have to take the route they're fighting and start diverting lake water themselves.

CHICAGO DRAINED the water away for two reasons: Illinois topography slopes westward and, because the southern end of Lake Michigan is virtually stagnant, sewage returned to the lake would have caused extreme pollution.

Now, at Milwaukee and Toledo, where sewage has been flowing back, beaches have been closed because of pollution. The Wisconsin State Health Department has reported water will have to be diverted instead of returned, and the same is expected for Ohio.

So the problem isn't just in the northwest suburbs, where wells are running dry — it covers several states. And, as Koenen and others suggest, the money "draining" down the wells might be put to better use on negotiations among the states. (B9

SANDY TRANSISTORS

by ED LANDWEHR

I don't think there is another appliance that gets knocked around as much as transistor radios. And with the coming of summer, we'd like to pass along a tip about care of these delicate instruments.

When you take them to the beaches, be careful that sand does not get lodged into the circuits. We've seen a lot of sets ruined this way at LANDWEHR TV, 218 N. Dunton, Arlington Heights. A good idea is to carry them in thin plastic bags, operating the controls right through the plastic. This material will not substantially reduce the sound for comfortable hearing.

We service all kinds of electronics including these radios. The next time you phone CLearbrook 5-0700 for television service we'll check your transistor radios, too.

Square Dance Club News

Dorothy Meyer — CLearbrook 3-2298

Summertime dancing, under the stars or indoors, goes happily on, and area dancers can take their pick of a half-dozen dates this month or next. Since this will be the only square dance news column for July, do-ci-doers are urged to make a note of the dates listed here.

Club publicity men are reminded to get their news in, in plenty of time for the next column in the Aug. 1 issue.

MUSIC BOX SQUARES

Tonight's (Wednesday) the night for club members and guests (always welcome) to enjoy dancing in the Music Box Ballroom where Tib Tibbetts will square 'em up at 8 o'clock.

The gang gets together the first and third Wednesday nights of each month, and they issue an open invitation to join 'em any time. The ballroom is on Lake Street (Route 20), 1½ miles east of Route 53, just west of Addison.

TRI-CLUB

Arlington Squares, Palatine Squares and Arlington Heights Swingin' Squares are jointly sponsoring summertime Saturday night dancing in the parking lot of Coach Lite Inn, Rolling Meadows. There'll be four dates this month and two Saturday nights worth of fun in August, and everybody's welcome.

The first dance, this Saturday night, July 6, features Bill Clarke, regular caller for the Arlington Squares. Bob Kim will call July 13; Tib Tibbetts, July 20, and Art Mathews winds up the month's dances July 27.

CHUCK BROAD will be at the mike Aug. 3, and Don Finfrock calls August 10. Another August date, the 24th, was scheduled until it was found to be in conflict with Palatine Squares kick-off dance.

The Palatiners suggest that anyone already set to dance August 24 simply shift to Palatine and help club members and friends get in the mood for the upcoming 1963-64 season. Remember, though, the previously scheduled Coach Lite dance for that date has been cancelled.

CAMPERS' DELIGHT

For those who vacation via the campers' trail will be interested in the goings on planned for Aug. 9 and 10 at Timber Lake Park, where any square dancers in the area will want to get in on the fun. Bob Luebbe, co-sponsor of events planned for that weekend, says, "Here will be a chance for many to earn special badges, dance on the grass and dance in a lake. Yes . . . we do kooky things, but it sure is fun."

Anyone interested in further details or more information about the park itself may call Luebbe, Cl 5-9338.

RANDHURST SPECIAL

There'll be an impressive line-up of callers for the second annual under-the-stars dance to be held Saturday, Aug. 17, on the blacktop at Randhurst Shopping Center, Mount Prospect. Dancing starts at 8 p.m. and everyone is invited.

Featured will be Wally and Maxine Schultz of Janesville, Wis., and locally well-known callers, Jim Smith of Brookfield, Jim Stewart of Des Plaines and round-dance specialists. Carl and Marie Peterson.

TEEN PROMENADERS

Arlington - Palatine -Mount Prospect teenagers dance throughout the summer, meeting the first and third Wednesday nights of each month in the home of their host and caller, Wally Paulsen of Des Plaines. Any guys or gals interested in joining the group or hearing more about it may call Karen Sauerland, Cl 3-2192. It would be a good idea to wait, though, until next week when Karen returns from an out-of-town trip. A14

Talks to Rotarians On Farm Programs

Farm programs "must go in the same direction as the free enterprise philosophy that made America great."

This is the view of the director of the membership records department of the Illinois Agricultural Association, Emmett R. Keim, who spoke recently to Arlington Heights Rotarians.

In the last 2,000 years, 21 major countries—including the Roman Empire and all following welfare state policies—disappeared from the face of the earth, he pointed out.

FOR EXAMPLE, he cited these figures if the United States were to match the Soviet Union:

—Steel production would have to be reduced by 60 per cent, petroleum production by 66 per cent, electric motor production by 95 per cent, hydro-electric plants by 66 per cent and natural gas consumption by 90 per cent.

—Complete destruction would be necessary for 14 of every 15 miles of pavement, two of three miles of mainline railroad tracks, eight of 10 ships, 19 of 20 cars and trucks, 40 million TV sets, nine of 10 telephones, seven of 10 houses.

—Living standards would have to be reduced by three-fourths, and 60 million persons would go back to farming.

Jaycee Wives Group Gets State Charter

The Arlington Heights Jaycee Wives, organized for three years, have been chartered by the state as a not-for-profit corporation.

Affiliated with the Arlington Jaycees, the Wives "help them with whatever we can," according to Mrs. Eleanor Kams, president. The group belongs to the Community Council.

Other officers are Mrs. Carolyn Pinney, vice-president, and Mrs. Mary Beth Davis, secretary.

The group meets in members' homes the first Thursday every month.

Current projects are fund-raising for Clearbrook School and caring for an "adopted" resident at Lutheran Home and Service for the Aged.

Band Concert July 11 at Pioneer Park

The Arlington Area Concert Band, under direction of Fred Schmoyer, will perform at 8 p.m. Thursday, July 11, at Pioneer Park.

This performance marks the continuation of a number of years Schmoyer and his group have been taking part in the Arlington Heights Park District's Concert on the Lawn program.

The band will play just outside the main park building. (A

Japanese Jaycees Given Honorary Citizen Plaques

Visiting Jaycees from Japan got the official tour of Arlington Heights and honorary citizenship plaques from the village Friday, then they rounded out the day American style with an outdoor barbecue-buffet.

Arlington Heights Jaycees, cooperating in a Chicago-area venture to give the 12 visiting Japanese. A view of all facets of American life, "put on the dog" at the home of Jerry Beauvais, 118 S. Patton.

The guests were in America to study small and medium-size business operations, and to attend the national Jaycee convention in Louisville, Kentucky.

The Chicago phase of their junket was sandwiched between the national convention and a Saturday flight to the East Coast for more visits and studies.

THE VILLAGE tour began at 5 p.m. Friday and climaxed in a demonstration of fire equipment at the municipal building.

All 12 were then presented Village Pres. John G. Woods, and in turn presented a Japanese painting to the village.

At the Jaycee barbecue they again presented an art object—honorary citizenship plaques by this time a unique fish print—to the Arlington Jaycees.

Seven interpreters, including the group interpreter, were present at the relaxed affair, and conversatio between Jaycee groups was frequent and enlightening. (A

Campbell To Attend Seminar

Robert P. Campbell, assistant superintendent of Arlington Heights public elementary schools, will attend a five-day study seminar next week.

Scheduled for Monday through Friday at the Aurora Hilton Hotel, the seminar is sponsored by the National School Public Relations Association, an affiliate of the National Education Association.

Some 150 public school administrators from 38 states will attend the meetings, conducted by leaders in school administration and public relations.

Village Minutes Offered to Citizens

Copies of the agenda and minutes of the Arlington Heights Village Board, Plan Commission, Zoning Board of Appeals and Board of Local Improvements are available to all village organizations and residents.

In an effort to increase dissemination of information concerning village business, trustees have decided all recognized civic, fraternal and political organizations groups may each have one copy of the materials sent to presidents or secretaries by written application to Village Clerk Alberta Foerster.

INDIVIDUAL citizens may have copies of individual village board agenda and all minutes as long as a supply is available and may receive copies regularly by mail at a cost of $5 per fiscal year, May 1-April 30. If a citizen's request is received during the fiscal year, he will be charged only for the remainder of the year, by quarters, at $1.25 per quarter.

Plan Commission, Zoning Board of Appeals and Board of Local Improvements members will receive all agenda and minutes as a matter of course.

All petitioners and principal objectors will receive copies of minutes of meetings at which they appear and make presentations.

Sleepy Rider Earns Free Bus Trip Home

ST. LOUIS, (UPI) — No doubt Clarence Wilkerson of Morenci, Ariz., remained awake backtracking to his destination on a Continental Trailways bus yesterday.

Wilkerson paid an unexpected visit to St. Louis. He got on a bus at Dallas, Tex., with a ticket for Newport, Ark., to join his wife at the home of relatives.

Mrs. Wilkerson met the bus, but Wilkerson didn't get off. He was asleep, and so were several other passengers who offered to keep an eye out for him on arrival at Newport.

WILKERSON was still asleep when the bus, with a new driver who took over at Popular Bluff, Mo., arrived at St. Louis at 6:30 a.m., yesterday.

The bus line gave Wilkerson a paid ticket back to Newport. (A-14

Plant Shut By Squirrel

MILWAUKEE, (UPI) — One exploring squirrel managed to shut down the Inland Steel Products Co. plant here last week for about seven hours.

The squirrel didn't live to tell it but he apparently jumped from the steel frame at the main power substation to a power duct. Joseph White, manager of engineering and product development, said the squirrel's tail must have been in contact with the frame at the same instant its forepaws touched the power line.

THE RESULTING short sent most of the factory crew, about 500 persons, home and left the entire plant and office idled.

White said the power duct carried 13,200 volts. (A-14

Judge, Attorney Debate

Three Amendments; Positions Differ

EDWARDSVILLE, (UPI) — The U.S. Supreme Court was both defended and attacked in a debate billed as the first of its kind in the nation, with Florida Supreme Court Judge Millard F. Caldwell contending the high court "has risen above the constitution and usurped powers belonging to the states."

On the other side, St. Louis Attorney Arthur J. Freund said Supreme Court members are special guardians of legal procedure and that the amendments are "a ruinous road toward establishing a confederacy."

THE DEBATE was held before the Madison County Bar Association last week on three proposed amendments to the Constitution.

Caldwell supported the amendments, and Freund took the opposing view.

The debate was held in response to a challenge by Chief Justice Earl Warren for "a great national debate" spurred by the legal profession.

After the debate, bar association members present voted 40 to 13 in opposition to two proposals, and 43 to 10 against the third. The balloting was described as a "non-binding straw vote" by Dick H. Mudge Jr., Madison County State's attorney and association president, who presided.

THE FIRST TWO amandments opposed by the majority of the lawyers following the debate would:

Take away from federal courts all jurisdiction over state legislative apportionment.

Change the amendment process of the Constitution so that two-thirds of the 50 state legislatures approved an amendment congress would be required to call a constitutional convention.

The third amendment would establish a "court of the union" composed of the 50 state chief justices with power to overrule the U. S. Supreme Court in cases involving federal-state relationships.

Each speaker talked for about an hour before balloting on whether the amendments should be enacted.

Caldwell based his argument on the stand that the Supreme Court in recent decisions has, in effect, amended the Constitution by creating new laws and, therefore, taking away the rights of the people.

He said, "It assumes the role of a third legislative house."

Caldwell asked the audience three questions:

"Which do the people prefer — the Constitution as it was written or as it is being amended by the Supreme Court?

DO THE PEOPLE want a system of dual sovereignty or do they want a government centralized in the Supreme Court?

"Which method should be used to change the Constitution or our government if it needs changing — should we do it as the Constitution provides, by amendment, or by a decree of the Supreme Court?"

Freund said that to think on these amendments there must first be an understanding of the role and mission of the court.

To do this, he said, it must be understood who is attacking the court. He claimed the attackers of the court are segregationists, rural interests and some church groups (with reference made to the "school prayer" decision).

FREUND'S BASIC contention was that the Constitution endures "because it responds to the needs of successive generations." This change, he said, should come from the Supreme Court — the agency to interpret the Constitution.

Freund claimed that states have much greater authority now than ever before and used state taxation as one example.

In a question-and-answer period preceding the balloting, Caldwell said all judges should be elected so they are "answerable to the people." He reiterated that the Supreme Court should stay out of politics.

When asked if integration problems had anything to do with his stand, the justice from Florida replied "no."

Judge Caldwell said the proposed amendments resulted from nationwide unrest over Supreme Court decisions that "repudiate Constitutional principles and previous court decisions."

On the "super Supreme Court" proposal, Caldwell said he would "rather risk the future of Amrerica on 50 state chief justices than on nine political appointees who are there for life and responsible to no one."

Freund responded that such a court would be too large for effective deliberations and its members would not be concerned principally with interpreting the Constitution.

Caldwell contended that the high court "has obviously set about writing laws." He called for "reestablishing constitutional government in this country."

FREUND SAID the Supreme Court members protect standards of "decency and fair play." He said this is a necessary balance in federal-state relations.

He said the present amendment process in article five of the Constitution gives the document "firmness" and he said it is the legal profession's "solemn duty" to preserve it. (A-14

8 Licenses Lifted For Drunk Driving

Clabaugh Invited To Institute

R. E. Clabaugh, superintendent of Arlington Heights public schools has been invited to attend the 1963 Advanced Administrative Institute to be held at Harvard University from July 8-19.

The institute, which includes some 60 school superintendents from all parts of the country, will utilize the talent of nationally recognized educational leaders.

Among these will be: Herold C. Hunt, former general superintendent of schools of Chicago, and currently professor of education at Harvard; Otto Eckstein, professor of economics, Harvard University; Samuel M. Brownell, superintendent, Detroit public schools and Harold Spears, superintendent of schools, San Francisco.

THE INSTITUTE theme will be "Influences on American Education: Constraints and Opportunities."

Study of the theme will begin with an investigation of "The Environments of Public Education," move to "A Consideration of the Specific Forces Influencing Educational Decisions" and close with "An Analysis of Working with Boards of Education."

Immigrant Started Up Building Enterprise

With $25 in his pocket, Steve Schavilje sailed to America in 1909 to begin life as a carpenter.

He began trade as a home builder, but his growing business was wiped out in 1929 by the depression.

In business once more, Schavilje met fellow builder Albert Knuth, and the two formed a partnership.

TODAY THAT partnership, with the addition of sons Robert Schavilje and Joe Knuth, has completed 100 (out of a proposed 240) Sunset Heights homes.

The two-father, two-son team of Schavilje and Knuth work with their work crews eight hours each day.

Sunset Heights, a $7 million development, has taken Schavilje and Knuth six years to construct.

THE SUNSET Heights model homes are open every day at Golf Road, one-half-mile west of Elmhurst Road, adjacent to Mount Prospect Country Club.

Schavilje and Knuth's latest model is the Candota, now open for inspection. The Candota is a spacious two-story colonial, comprising 2,000 feet of living space.

Entering a sheltered foyer, there is a guest closet and a sweeping view of a 12' 5" x 20' 4" living room. Adjoining is a 10' 9" x 11' dining area connected to an L-shaped 16' 7" x 10' 4" kitchen, complete with built-in oven, range, and kitchen cabinets.

DIRECTLY connected to the kitchen is the roomy dining room, with a sliding glass door to the back yard and patio, plus a handy powder room and storage closet.

This careful floor plan allows children uninhibited play in the back yard so that their muddy footprints do not adorn the carpeted areas of the home.

The Candota is priced at $34,300 with a flexible down payment. Other Sunset Heights homes range from $29,000 and up. (B-8

House Speaker John Lewis Deserves Man of Year Award

SPRINGFIELD, (UPI) — If they gave a "man of the year" award in the Illinois Legislature, it undoubtedly would go to House Speaker John Lewis.

The big farmer-auctioneer from Marshall has been the dominant force in the General Assembly from the time he was first selected in the Republican caucus in January until now. His Nononsense approach and firm handling of sometimes-temperamental legislators has kept the House right on schedule as it dealt with the biggest load of bills in its history.

AT TIMES Lewis seemed too firm, and more than one legislator complained that he was using "dictatorial" methods. But he won the overwhelming respect of most lawmakers of both parties.

An example of this respect came in an unruly late-afternoon meeting about mid-way through the session. The lawmakers were restless and anxious for adjournment, but Lewis was determined that they vote on the issue they were debating.

"Would all members please be in their seats," he ordered — the traditional direction of the speaker to an unruly House. The order was given scant attention.

Then Lewis went a step further — calling members' names and requesting them to take their seats. The House was stunned — no speaker had gone this far. The errant lawmakers, caught by surprise, hurried sheepishly to their desks.

THE SHOCKED silence was broken by a thunderclap of applause for the speaker, with virtually all members of both parties participating.

Rep. Paul Elward perhaps has been the most frequent critic of Lewis. Elward backed a senate-passed bill to restrict the Illinois Public Aid Commission's controversial birth control policy. Lewis opposed the measure and simply refused to call it.

Elward tried every method he knew to bring the measure to the passage stage in the House, but Lewis simply refused to recognize him. Finally, the issue was settled with a compromise amendment directing a commission to study the problem for two years.

Former House Speaker Paul Powell again and again has taken the floor to support rulings by Lewis. Even when many members think Lewis is wrong there has been no attempt to overrule him.

ONCE DURING a roll-call debate the bill plainly had carried, but still supporters of the bill stood up to explain their votes and try to persuade others to vote with them.

Lewis gaveled the proceedings to a halt and said, "If the speaker may be out of order for a minute. In my years in the House I have learned one thing. I stayed in my seat when a bill I backed was winning, and when a bill I was against was losing."

The speaker's observation cut off debate. It probably has saved the House hours of time on other debates as members resisted the urge to "explain their vote."

It was a simple, common-sense statement — but effective. And that also describes John Lewis.

Boat Exams Urged, Centers Announced

Northwest suburban Safe Boating Week chairman Alfred Banas this week urged area boat owners to take part in a "stepped up" motor boat examination program being offered at area boating centers.

Banas announced, "By displaying a United States Coast Guard auxiliary decal on your vessel, you will not be subjected to Coast Guard officials boarding your boat, unless some boating violation is observed."

BOATING Safety Week (June 30 through July 6) will also feature Lake Michigan sail boat races along with the Great Lakes Water Ski Tournament on Fox River.

Inspection centers are located at Kazimour Marina, McHenry, July 4; Cialoni Marina, Crystal Lake, July 4; St. Charles Marina, St. Charles, July 5, 6, 7; Evanston Boat Ramp, Evanston, July 4, 7, 10, 12; Northbridge Marina, McHenry, July 4; Bauske's Boat Basin, Fox Lake, July 4; Watts Marina, Fox Lake, July 4, 6, 7. DAR Urges Bells Ring

Area Daughters of the American Revolution headquarters this week urged residents to observe the Independence Day bell-ringing project endorsed by Gov. Kerner.

The proposal asks that church and college bells ring at 1 p.m., July 4, for four minutes and that radio stations broadcast two minutes of bell-ringing followed by a reading of the Declaration of Independence.

Sets Reunion

The class of 1953 of Arlington High School is planning a 10-year reunion party this weekend. There will be a dinner dance Saturday, beginning at 6 p.m. in Old Orchard Country Club. The following afternoon the group will assemble for a picnic at Deer Grove.

Anyone wishing to join in the reunion may call Mrs. Donald Hesch of Rolling Meadows, CL 3-0033, for further information.

Man Found To Be Man

Ralph Edmond Ferguson, 31, was released on $1,000 bond and returned to his Chicago residence after he was apprehended by Arlington Heights police Saturday afternoon in the women's dressing room at Pioneer Park Pool.

The police report indicates Ferguson was dressed in woman's clothing, including a wig and babushka. He has a record of similar arrests and mental treatment, it was reported.

CHECK YOUR FIRST AID KIT

Prompt treatment of cuts and bruises is essential to guard against possible infections. For this reason your family should have a fully equipped first aid kit in the house and also in the car. During the summer when family driving trips are more common the one in your car is especially important.

There are many types of first aid kits to choose from and our pharmacy carries a varied selection. We can help you pick out the ones most suitable for your needs. We also stock all the individual items to replenish all types of first aid kits.

YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a medicine. Pick up your prescription if shopping nearby, or we will deliver promptly without extra charge. A great many people entrust us with their prescriptions. May we compound yours?

Summer Social Whirl Keeps Suburbanite Minds Off Heat

If hot weather really gets the corn knee-high by the Fourth of July, June did her blistering best to help it along before she left. Despite the heat June also did her final best, socially. The new month seems destined to be just as busy and everything but corn-patch socials are on tomorrow's holiday schedule.

The Herbert Merricks, Edwin Cockerhams and Robert Bachs were co-hosts Saturday night at a party in the Merrick home, 511 S. Fernandez, where 21 local friends had a final get-together with Mr. and Mrs. Paul Triplett. The Tripletts will soon be leaving 400 S. Lincoln for a new home in Cincinnati. A reminder for the "farewellees" of Saturday night's happy-sad occasion and all the friends there will be the group gift presented to the honor couple for use in their new home.

During a brief and final stop at 906 N. Mitchell, former home of the John Grays, Mrs. Gray called to report that their move to a new home is now complete. Their new address is 327 S. Buell in Aurora where Mr. Gray is managing the Aurora Country Club.

THE FRED Goman family of Terra Bella, Cal. returned to the West Coast yesterday after a 10-day visit here with Mrs. Goman's sister and family, the Arthur Ewerts, 833 N. Chestnut. On their busy schedule were reunions with former Chicago high school friends who now live in the suburban area.

Kathy Nakutny, 729 N. Mitchell, was 14 last Tuesday and celebrated with four local friends who were her guests at a swim-and-dinner party.

Half a dozen local men, all neighbors on the 1000 block of S. Dunton, returned home over the weekend from a week's fishing trip to Cable, Wis. Michael Huck, Conrad Hoffman, Tom Dralle, Joe Vonckx, Charles Mallon and John Kitch are unanimous in reporting, "Fishing was not so hot, but the weather was."

The Al Raupp family of Santa Anna, Cal., arrived early last week to begin a 10-day stay with Mr. Raupp's sister and family, the Richard Weidners, 1131 N. Dunton, and other relatives in the area. In on the happy reunion hubbub at 1131 N. Dunton was the senior Mr. Raupp who makes his home with the Weidners.

Mrs. John Guardiola of Cleveland arrived yesterday to spend the rest of the week with the C. S. Hansen family, 1517 W. Fremont.

WEEKEND visitors in the George Sandy home, 515 S. Chestnut, were Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Legler of Birmingham, Ala., and Mr. and Mrs. W. J. McIver of Quincy, Mich.

Also with the Sandys was their daughter, Mrs. Don Harris, who arrived from East Moline with her husband last Wednesday. Harris, in the naval reserve, was recently called up and left from here Thursday to report for orders in Washington, D.C. His wife returned to East Moline yesterday.

Marilyn Meyer, 1205 N. Dunton, turned into a teen last Wednesday, and celebrated at a family dinner party that included her neighborhood friend, Christine Loechl.

Dr. and Mrs. Raymond Montgomery and daughter, Brenda, of Speedway, Ind., are expected to arrive tonight at the James Buck home, 705 S. Vail, for a 3-day visit. Mrs. Montgomery and the Bucks' daughter, Betty, are DePauw University sorority sisters.

MR. AND MRS. Carl Ewert were guests of honor Sunday afternoon at a surprise anniversary party given by their daughters, Miss Jean Ewert and Mrs. Roger Hall. The party, marking the 35th anniversary of the Ewerts' June 30 wedding day, was an open house. The house that was open was their own at 28 S. Salem, and the surprise element worked fine.

Mr. and Mrs. Ewert had been away for part of the weekend and returned home about noon Sunday. Guests began arriving an hour later, and before the day was over, 60 local friends and relatives had brought congratulations to the anniversary couple.

Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Kroencke, 831 S. Highland, entertained a group of 75 relatives and friends on Sunday in honor of their recently married daughter, Carole, and their new son-in-law, Kenneth Gehrls. Carole's aunt, Mrs. Wendell Rice, and son, Scott, were here from Riverside, Cal., for the occasion. After the buffet supper Sunday, the group saw slides of Mr. Kroencke's from the wedding, which took place April 9. The newlyweds are living in Waukegan, where the groom will be teaching high school in fall.

THE OLD-FASHIONED ice cream social in Stonegate tonight (Wednesday) has kept lots of residents busy with the planning of it, and it will occupy the evening for almost everyone in the area. Newcomers will find it an especially enjoyable way to get acquainted.

Among new Arlington Heights residents are the Ray Brandenburgs, now of 615 S. Lincoln, and the William Weirs, 304 N. Drury. Mrs. Brandenburg and Mrs. Weir were introduced to their new neighbors last Thursday at a coffee for 12 given by Mrs. Robert Zalud, 627 S. Lincoln. The Brandenburg family moved here last week from Kansas City, Mo., and the Weirs, old friends of the Zaluds, are formerly of Cincinnati.

Here for a week's visit with Michael Barton and the rest of the family at 321 S. Windsor is Michael's cousin, Gary Barton of Muncie, Ind.

Mrs. R. L. Reardon of Beckley, W. Va. arrived a week ago Sunday to visit for a month with her daughter and family, the William Stemples, 530 S. Dryden.

THE EUGENE Lukasiks, 526 E. Central, are celebrating the birth of a granddaughter, Kathy Lynn, born Saturday to the Lukasiks' daughter and her husband, the William Diekers of Bloomingdale.

The George Baumets, 102 S. Derbyshire, had fine fishing luck 'way back over Memorial Day weekend, and they stored their catch in the freezer for a "some day" fish fry. Monday night was it and the former inhabitants of Mineral Lake, Wis., became the main course for 12 local friends who were the Baumets' guests.

Most recent report on the condition of Claude LaRose Jr., hospitalized in Plymouth, Wis., is that the young man is still in traction, but maintains his high spirits. Claude, son of the senior LaRoses at 611 E. Grove, was an "innocent bystander" kind of victim last month when he was struck by one of two cars involved in a collision. Claude and his mother were standing at a street corner when the cars collided. He suffered fractures of both legs and will remain in Plymouth Hospital until the bones can be set and casts put on his legs. Mrs. LaRose was uninjured but suffered shock and was hospitalized briefly. Claude has enjoyed visits from several local friends and looks forward to each day's mail. Cards addressed to Plymouth Hospital, Plymouth, Wis., will reach him without delay.

Notes from Arlington Acres

Marie Marshall CLearbrook 5-2936

The changing face of Arlington Acres is evidenced by the replacing of the "For Sale" signs by others saying "Sold." The good-byes for the Harold Holts had scarcely died away when words of welcome were in order for the John Whetstine family. John, Margaret and 10-year-old Timothy, formerly of Justice, Ill., are now at home at 509 S. Phelps. He is with Eastern Air Lines.

Best wishes for a short hospital stay go to Ken Scharf, 528 S. Prindle, who was admitted to Northwest early last week for a series of tests.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Carroll were barely settled in their home at 2024 E. Park, when they were happily surprised with a visit from their daughter and son-in-law, the Ignatius Maricis of Long Island, N. Y. The Carrolls especially enjoyed entertaining their grandchildren, twins, Donna and Noreen, Mary Ann and Jimmy, who celebrated his third birthday while at Grandma's.

MISS KAREN Williams, 424 S. Waterman, who is to be married to Terry L. Moore of Park Ridge later this month, was guest of honor at two miscellaneous showers to help launch her in her new home. The first was given June 19 by two aunts, Mrs. Delilah Gibbs of Chicago and Mrs. Mary Johnson of Park Ridge for 24 invited guests. The following Sunday three of Karen's bridesmaids surprised her with another party attended by 15 guests. The co-hostesses were Miss Diane Peters of Chicago, Miss Shirley Kalavoda of Edison Park and Mrs. Diane Chambers of Park Ridge.

Congratulations are extended to Michael Williams. He was 18 June 26.

Mr. and Mrs. Arvid Alvin, 513 S. Phelps, drove to Sturgeon Bay, Wis., to spend the weekend at the family summer home, where they enjoyed swimming and water-skiing. Accompanying them were their sons, Bruce and Kenneth.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lunan, with Sandra and Gregor, are back home at 532 S. Prindle after spending two relaxing weeks at Reddington Beach, St. Petersburg, Fla., where, they report, they spent their time "doing nothing and enjoying every minute of it." The Lunans' June 26 wedding anniversary was celebrated en route home.

ANOTHER vacationing family now home are the Robert Kremers of 417 S. Prindle, who drove first to Springfield, N. J., to spend a few days with Bob's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Kremer, then on to Gardner and Boston. Because he had to return home on business, Ruby saw Bob off on the plane, then she, Barbara and Gary drove across the state to visit a sister, Mrs. Minnie Dunn at Greenfield.

Giving in to nostalgia, Ruby paid a visit to her alma mater, the University of Massachusetts at Amherst. New Hampshire was next on the route and the return home was planned to include a stop at Niagara Falls.

The first birthday of Kirk Lemons, son of Lynn and Joan, 504 S. Prindle, was the reason for an especially festive dinner Sunday, with his brothers, Kevin, Murray and Spencer, contributing to the gaiety. The two older boys had just returned from a visit to their grandparents home in Olmsted, after saving their money until they had enough to make the trip by plane. The visit was even more rewarding than they had hoped, because on their arrival Grandpa Huddlestun presented them with their own golden palomino to replace the Mexican burro he had previously given them. Kevin and Murray are back in Arlington Acres now, but impatiently waiting for their next visit to Olmsted.

IN THE meantime the homebound members of the Lemons family enjoyed entertaining Lynn's sister, Mrs. Wanda Deckard of Bishop, Calif., as a houseguest for a few days.

Their dinner guest Thursday was Mrs. Joe Phillips, co-author of the Heath Arithmetic series.

Karyl Oravetz, 533 S. Prindle, 18 June 26, spent the afternoon swimming with a friend and in the evening cake and ice cream were served in honor of the occasion. Guests were neighbor-friends, the Francis Conways.

In honor of David Brady's 11th birthday June 26, cake and ice cream were served that afternoon to his friends and family friends, including Mr. and Mrs. Al Zmrzly and Rob, Betty Dwyer, Tom Leistikow and brothers, Jimmy and Paul. David is the oldest son of the James Bradys, 508 S. Forrest.

The Edward McMullens and Bobby, 413 S. Prindle, spent a week in Clinton, Mass., visiting the senior Edward McMullens, as well as Barbara's mother, Mrs. George Moffitt. Since Clinton is the home town of the couple, their time was well filled seeing old friends.

NANCY JOHNSON'S fifth birthday, June 26, was celebrated the Saturday preceding her day at a party given by her parents, the Sidney Johnsons, 512 S. Prindle. Birthday party-fare was served to Missy Slusser, Terry Kulisch, K. J. Scharf, Kevin Donovan, Beth Harmon and Pam Sievert, after which the group was taken to Kiddie Park to enjoy every ride there.

The Johnsons recently enjoyed having as houseguest their niece, Kay Ann Johnson of St. Paul. Having lived here before, Kay Ann has many friends in the area with whom she enjoyed visiting between outings at several of the nearby lakes. Her return to St. Paul Friday rated au revoirs rather than goodbyes, because Kay Ann's parents are coming back to Arlington Heights to live in the near future.

Roberta Novy's June 24 entrance into the teen years was marked twice by her parents, the Robert Novys, 408 S. Phelps. June 23 was family celebration day with a dinner party which lasted all day. Special guests were the grandparents, Mrs. Bess Novy and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Pavlik, and an aunt, Mrs. Marie Rybacki and son, Steve, all of Cicero. On the big day, Arlene took Roberta and her brother, Robert, to Adventureland for their first experience in "Go-Karting." The grand finale of the two day celebration was dinner at Dick's Corral for the four Novys. (A

Modern Etiquette

Q. When eating in a restaurant where butter pats are served in paper containers, may one let his knife rest on the pat when not in use?

A. No. The knife should rest along the upper right part of the dinner plate — and never, of course, with the handle resting on the table.

Sharing a common interest in local bethels is practically a full-time hobby for both Bea and Hank Wallace of N. Dryden Avenue. On June 15 Hank was installed as captain general in the Bethel Commandery in Elgin, and last week Bea assumed the office of guardian treasurer in the Arlington Heights Bethel 103.

This coming weekend will find both the Wallaces at Medinah Temple where they will attend church services marking the opening of the Shrine Convention. On the evening of the 11th Hank will march in the parade with his Arab Patrol, while Bea will be in Soldier Field watching the paraders.

CONGRATULATIONS are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Jack Mutti of Beverly Lane who celebrated their 21st wedding anniversary on June 18. Dinner at Old Orchard Country Club marked the occasion.

Neighbors will be happy to learn that Turk Larson of 306 N. Beverly Lane is once again home and getting along just fine after a stay in Northwest Community Hospital.

Also back on his feet again is Mr. Carl Carlman of 311 Lincoln Lane who recently was hospitalized in Wesley Memorial.

Weekend visitors of the George Brinkes will be their recently married daughter, Joanne, and her husband Richard Randle. The June 15 newlyweds are residing in Carbondale where Mr. Randle is attending summer school at Southern Illinois University.

TO AVOID some of the 4th of July crowds the Arthur Templin family is waiting till Friday to visit the Brookfield Zoo. Gary and Sharon Templin are anticipating showing the porpoise show to their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hauf of Evanston, who will accompany the Templins on their outing.

Jerry and Greg Hanner, along with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Hanner, had a fine time fishing at their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Andrees' resort in Spooner, Wis. The weather was quite warm, which was just "medium" for fishing, but great for swimming.

This past weekend, members of a former canasta club of the Herman Mells spent the weekend with them. One couple came from Michigan and the other from Indiana. The ideal weather allowed much backyard barbecuing for the group, with even Sunday's breakfast and brunch enjoyed on the patio.

The Mells' daughter Laurel, who has been living in Chicago, is now making her home on Lincoln Lane with her parents.

RECENTLY THE Mells were guests at the debut of Mr. and Mrs. William Fay's daughter, Molly, in their Winnetka home. Mrs. Mell reports that the lawn party for 500 was a beautiful affair and will always remain in her memory as a highlight.

The Barn on the far Southside, was the dinner site Saturday night for the Charles Bartons, Matt Cockrells, Jack Andersons and the Dick Evans. Chatting in the Cockrells' backyard finished off the evening for the group.

A real treat — a visit to the Barnum and Bailey circus at the Amphitheatre — was the celebration for Keith Anderson's 10th birthday on June 28. His guests, Matt Cockrell, Bill Meyer, John Heitz, Frank Percher and Paul Delory, were chaperoned by Keith's dad, Jack Anderson, who enjoyed the circus as much as the boys did.

Enroll for Park 'Second Sessions'

The Arlington Heights Park District announced this week that second sessions in the following activities will begin the week of July 15:

Synchronized swimming tumbling and trampoline, tennis, junior golf, handicrafts, jewelry making, dramatics, modern dance, and baton and marching.

Interested persons may sign up at Pioneer Park or Recreation Park offices. All classes are limited in size, and entries will close when they have reached their quota.

Residents of the park district are asked to consult their summer program brochure for times and places of the activities.

Additional information is available at Pioneer Park, CL 3-0620 of Recreation Park, SL 5-8850. (A

NOW—42 NEW HOMES OF LIVING LIGHT

HOME OF LIVING LIGHT

AN EXCITING NEW CONCEPT OF LIVING—A HIT LAST FALL —NOW EVEN GREATER VARIETY

The Home of Living Light, a star attraction at the 1962 Seattle World's Fair, came to Chicagoland last fall. There were 24 beautiful new all-electric homes offering a fresh new concept: Living Light.

This spring there are 42 new Homes of Living Light to choose from. Dramatically, they demonstrate that planned lighting—blueprinted and built in—makes an enormous difference in a home.

"Living Light" is the right light in the right place for working, reading, relaxing, entertaining. Light is decorative, effective, practical, flexible.

In kitchen, laundry, and hobby areas there's shadow-free illumination on all work surfaces. Well-lit closets are the rule.

A full staff of electrical servants awaits you. Throughout these homes there are automatic electric appliances to ease your work load. You'll cook, bake, launder, and live in an atmosphere of charm with completely modern efficiency.

The cleanest, most comfortable heat there is— Flameless Electric Heat is standard in Homes of Living Light. This fresher feeling heat takes no moisture from the air. It lets you dial the heat you want in each room. And it is so clean! There's no fuel or flame to make dirt.

Homes that stay younger longer. No two Homes of Living Light are alike in design or price. Each offers conveniences that will make life easier and your home more saleable. And you can be certain that modern electric living won't go out of style.

TOTAL ELECTRIC HOME BUILDERS ASSOCIATION FOR BETTER ELECTRIC LIVING AWARD

This Gold Medallion is your assurance that every Home of Living Light has Flameless Electric Heat, an all-electric kitchen and laundry . . . plus full Housepower for all your present and future needs.

The glowing nighttime beauty of a Home of Living Light makes it the pride of any neighborhood. Colorful and flexible, it makes possible effects you can't achieve with any other form of decoration.

What a dramatic welcome for guests! And the year-round comfort of clean, flameless electric heat makes this home as livable as it is lovely. (Builder's name on request.)

Living Light does far more than beautify a home; it is useful and practical everywhere. Here, it provides perfect, glare-free illumination in one of the locations where a lady needs it most.

Ceiling recessed lights are controlled by a dimmer switch with which you can adapt Living Light to any occasion, any mood. Modern glare-free table lamps also adjust to your wishes and to your needs for eye comfort in any activity.

Concealed wall bracket lighting in bedrooms is a feature in many Homes of Living Light. This, too, is controlled by a dimmer switch.

An all-electric kitchen is a cool, comfortable joy—and plenty of planned lighting everywhere makes it an even happier place to work.

At Rockford

A Palatine resident, Carl W. Noller, has been named to the Dean's List at Rockford College for the second semester 1962-63.

Eligibility for the Dean's List means a student have a B-plus average from the preceding semester with no grades below C. Only full-time students whose work is complete at the end of the semester can receive recognition on the Dean's List.

Noller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Noller of 323 Longacres, who will be a sophomore, has been active in the Young Republicans Club, Festival of the Arts program, Spanish Club, student government and social affairs. He is a graduate of Palatine High School. (CC

GREGORY PECK assays an entirely new kind of role as Atticus, the gentle father and fighting attorney in the screen version of Harper Lee's best-seller "To Kill a Mockingbird." Left and right are Mary Badham as "Scout" and Phillip Alford as "Jem." The film was produced by Alan J. Pakula and directed by Robert Mulligan for Universal release. Opens Friday at the Des Plaines Theatre.

At Concordia

Kirby Koriath, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin G. Koriath, 303 S. Oak St., Itasca, has been placed on the Dean's Honor List for the spring term at Concordia Senior College, Fort Wayne, Ind.

Students whose grade average is 3.5 or better on a 4-point scale are recognized in this way. Koriath is a graduate of Concordia Junior College, Milwaukee, and is enrolled in the pretheological program at Concordia Senior College. He plans to matriculate at Concordia Seminary, St. Louis. (CC

At Wentworth

Cadet John William Halley, son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Halley, 2042 Evergreen Terr., Arlington Heights, earned academic honors for the second semester here at Wentworth Military Academy according to Major Robert Hepler, acting dean. John earned superior grades to qualify for the Dean's Special Distinction List.

Cadets who earn academic honors during the specified grading periods at Wentworth are accorded extra privileges and are permitted to wear the Scholastic Bar on their uniform.

At Illinois Wesleyan

Gayle Francisco, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Francisco, 1435 Benton and Karen Louise Knowles, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Knowles, 1068 Coolidge, both of Palatine, and William Shiffer, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Shiffer, 369 Bianco, Elk Grove Village, have been placed on the Dean's List at Illinois Wesleyan University.

This recognition is given to those students whose grades include nothing below B and at least one grade of A. (CC

At Florida State

A Roselle student named to the Dean's List for the second trimester at Florida State University was Andrew W. Oltyan.

To make the Dean's List students must have carried 12 or more trimester hours of work and have made a grade average of 3 (B) or higher. (CC

I DON'T MISS ANYTHING

Confidentially, the reason I'm always "in the know" on who is doing what when, where, how and why is that I read my newspaper regularly and very thoroughly!

Your quickest, easiest way to get the most complete and accurate knowledge of what is going on in the world (and out of it) is to follow the example of this little lady and read your newspaper thoroughly, thoughtfully. The latest happening across the block . . . the proceedings of the village board . . . the interesting features of the area . . . you can "read all about it" at your own convenience, at any hour of the day or night, at your home, office or on the bus . . . in your newspaper!

Deerfield Company Overcharges Army

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A Deerfield teletypewriter manufacturer overcharged the Army by $194,000 in a 1959 contract and should refund the money, according to Comptroller General Joseph Campbell.

Campbell's report detailing charges against Kleinschmidt division of Smith - Corona Marchant, Inc., was filed with the House and Senate Friday.

Two firms were invited to bid on the contract, but only Kleinschmidt responded and was awarded the contract at its proposed price of $1,354,050.

THE SIGNAL Corps contracting officer did not examine all the information supporting that proposal, concluding it was reasonable because it was lower than previous prices for the same item, Campbell said in his report.

But Campbell's General Accounting Office (GAO) did examine the information, he said, and discovered the firm's estimates for material and labor costs were too high.

One part was included in the contractor's proposal at a unit cost of $91, whereas GAO investigators discovered the material actually could be bought for only five cents, the report said.

Kleinschmidt estimated 58 hours of work would be needed to produce one teletypewriter, but the firm's own records showed only 42 hours had been required under an earlier contract, according to the report.

Chicago is symbolized in this view created by the wrecking ball. An old tenement on the city's West Side crumbles, revealing new apartment project through the battered portal.

The Hidden City

Does the suburban child ever see poor people, really poor, dressed in baggy hand-me-downs and with never enough to eat? Does the slum child know an engineer, a lawyer—not a bail bond artist—but someone he can talk to and emulate? Where in the slums are the social aspirations of society? Where in the suburbs is there concern for human want? The rift widening between Suburbia and "The Hidden City" must be repaired. To permit the condition to drift is to invite explosive consequences.

It has been said that Chicago is organized along the principles of "splendid chaos." But the rich variety of her once many cultural components is rapidly being dismantled. The great Negro tide from the South beats against the real estate barriers of the city's north and northwest sides, spilling over into once predominantly white neighborhoods.

As this process continues, more and more whites desert the city for the suburb, leaving the inner core to the Negro population and other minorities.

These population shifts may well shake the timbers of society to its foundations. The trend is nationwide. Between 1950 and 1960 the 12 largest cities lost over two million white residents; they gained nearly two million Negro residents.

Photographer Larry Cameron and I were assigned to study the effects these mass migrations are having on the Hidden City and the suburbs.

The Rev. Robert Reicher of the Catholic Council on Working Life sees three consequences resulting from the growing social and physical alienation between city and suburbs.

"There are social consequences," Fr. Reicher says, "Where there is a total lack of interest in the suburbs for the Negro and the in-migrant. There is a sense of abandonment as slums spread without interest on the part of suburbanites. The poor remain in low income brackets all their lives."

Economic consequences, he adds, are apparent in the cheap jewelry stores, auction centers and furniture marts which are becoming the unwanted neighbors of large downtown department stores and exclusive shops along State Street. "As job markets move to the suburbs, this encourages unemployment in the inner city and economic possibilities become more limited.

"BUT THE political consequences, I think, are the most dangerous," Fr. Reicher warned. He sees the possibility of Chicago's 812,000 Negroes voting as a bloc along predominantly racial lines. Such a process, in which the city would become primarily black and the suburbs white, would make alienation of the races — and city and suburbs — complete.

The Rev. James Jones, executive director of St. Leonard's Foundation and director of prison work for the Episcopal Diocese of Chicago, views development of city and suburbs in Darwinian terms. "We are going through a painful process of social mutation in learning how to live in a society with an exploding population. Concepts of privacy, property, and freedom will change. It's a matter of learning how to live shoulder to shoulder."

Fr. Jones noted: "We used to equate humanity with 40 acres and a mule. This changed to a 40-foot frontage. Suburban culture is built on the premise that the 40-foot frontage and some of these other attributes are essential to humanity. But when these 'essentials' are taken away, the suburbanite will perish and become extinct.

"The little kid on the west side can take it; he's tough. He's tomorrow's leader. The suburban kid is like the country bumpkin used to be when he came to the city. He hasn't adapted to the Machine Age. Call it the 'People Age.' "

Carl Sandburg high rise apartments rear over tenements on the Near North Side. Originally planned as a venture in reasonably priced housing, monthly rent for a two-bedroom unit in the apartments now varies between $240 and $275.

The Rev. Robert Taylor is director of St. Leonard's House, a rehabilitation center for ex-convicts, located on Chicago's near West Side.

SOME SMALL enclaves of the city where inhabitants have not adapted to this age are found along West Madison Street and North Clark Street. These are avenues where hope has abdicated. Yet the skid row derelict — the jetsam of society — can seek help along these streets, and does more often than not from the "Sallies," as the Salvation Army is referred to on the row.

"There are 14,000 men in the skid row district," says Brigadier Roland Quinn, director of the Salvation Army's Harbor Lights Mission. "During the Depression," he recalled, "we had between 40,000 and 50,000 men down here."

Next to the Harbor Lights Center on West Madison Street ialf a block from the Northwest Expressway, the Salvation Army has a small psychiatric clinic for out-patient alcoholic treatment. Across the street is a medical center with a full-time nurse and three part-time doctors. The Army also maintains a Harbor Lights residence building at Ashland Ave. and Monroe Street where men are transferred after spending two or three weeks at the center.

THERE IS very little crime committed on the row, the brigadier said, although the area is a favorite haunt of jackrollers from other sections of the city. "The greatest crime these men commit is against themselves," Quinn observed.

He noted that a vacuum comes into the lives of the men when they stop drinking. "We have to help fill that vacuum. When they dry out and start feeling healthy they have a sex problem. This was always solved in the past with a prostitute or in a saloon. They associate sex with drink and are faced with taking a drink first."

Few of those rehabilitated ever return to their families. "These are few and far between by the time they reach skid row," Quinn said. "It takes about 15 years for a man to become an alcoholic. By that time he's already broken everything that was good."

This process of social erosion can affect a city as much as drink does a man. The suburbs are often viewed as being as much of an escape from the problems of the city as drink is for those who have given up on skid row. But the problems persist.

HOSTILITY between the city and its satellite communities is increasing. Earl Busch, Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley's public relations representative, cautions: "A payroll tax on suburbanites may be coming."

Raymond Hilliard, director of the Cook County Department of Public Aid, says in bitter appraisal: "In Chicago there has been applause, mostly from the suburban sector, for a proposal that would jail ADC mothers for having out-of-wedlock children. The proposal made no mention of jailing suburban girls who bore out-of-wedlock children who then passed quietly into adoption, not even appearing in the illegitimacy statistics."

Hilliard adds that there is a "cherished belief, mostly evident in the suburban mind, that poverty can be punished out of existence."

Punitive action will not alter the course of the gathering storm bunching on the horizon in which racial strife, crime, delinquency, dependency and the despair of those abandoned in the Hidden City will become more pronounced.

EXPERTS SAY that by 1970, fully half of all children in the big cities of the nation will be disadvantaged — out of school, out of work, most probably in trouble. This is the city's "social dynamite"; its fuse is starting to sputter toward expression.

As U.S. Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy has said: "If a child is denied the opportunity to lead a wholesome, productive life, it is a loss to the nation, not just to his neighborhood."

Author Nelson Algren summarized it all in a sentence in "Chicago: City on the Make," when he observed: "You'll know it's the place built out of Man's ceaseless failure to overcome himself."

Yet he must, or face the frightful consequences.

The Bylines

The writer-photographer team of Dick Hoffmann and Larry Cameron spent five months in reporting and investigating "The Hidden City" and its impact on suburbia. Traveling hundreds of miles throughout the heart of Chicago, they talked with and listened to scores of experts, fficials, city dwellers.

Dick Hoffmann joined the staff of Paddock Publications' 14 suburban newspapers in 1959. His four-part report on the migrant and ex-migrant farm workers in northwest suburbs, "Harvest's End," has been nationally-acclaimed since its publication last December.

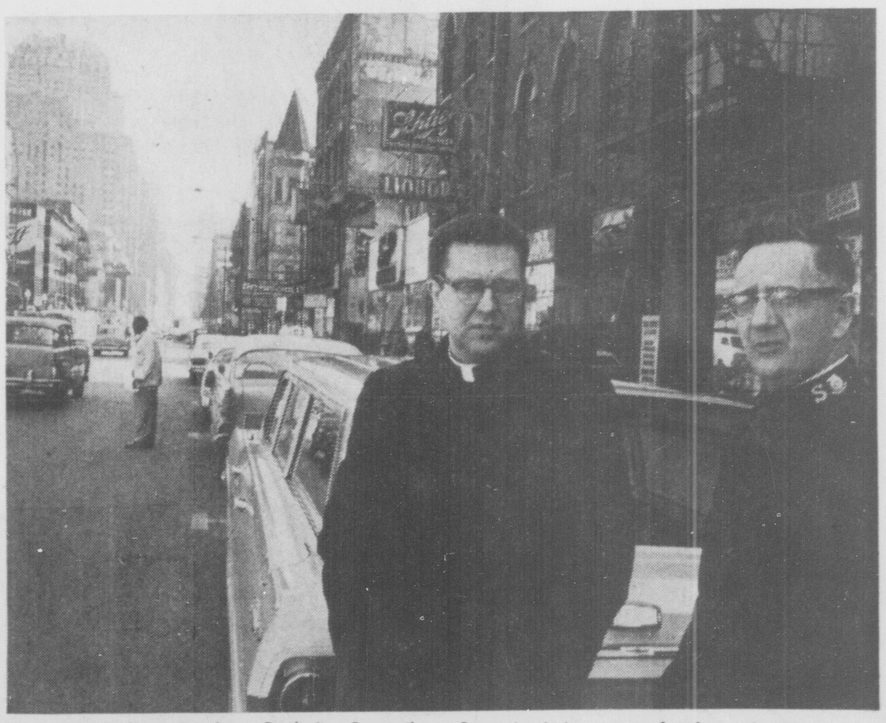
Larry Cameron has been associated with Paddock Publications since 1956 and was made Chief Photographer in 1960. Winner of several state and national press awards for excellence in photojournalism, he also photographed the newspapers' prize-winning series "The Poor of Illinois," "Transurbia," and "These Lonely Rooms."

Reprints of "The Hidden City" three-part series are available from Paddock Publications, Inc., Arlington Heights, Illinois.

"If a child is denied the opportunity to lead a wholesome, productive life, it is a loss to the nation, not just to (the) neighborhood."

Nuns stroll down Deming Place, two blocks north of Fullerton and Clark Streets, past giant mansions converted into apartments.

Mrs. Mary Harms is director of the Salvation Army's out-patient psychiatric clinic for treatment of alcoholism.



The Rev. Robert Reicher, Catholic Council on Working Life, and the Salvation Army's Brigadier Roland Quinn, director of the Harbor Lights Mission, confer on West Madison Street's skid row not far from the skyscrapers of Chicago's Loop visible in the background.

Youth Leaves for Brooklyn To Join Church Slum Corps

MICHAEL RUHNOW

Michael Ruhnow, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Ruhnow, 207 Withorn Lane, Mount Prospect, has left for New York to begin a year of service as a youth worker at the Lutheran Church of St. John the Evangelist parish in Brooklyn.

Mike volunteered a year of his time, before completing his college training as a youth worker, to service in the Lutheran Inner City Peace Corps, along with 23 other young men and women from Valparaiso University in Indiana.

This program is similar to President Kennedy's proposed National Service Corps or the Overseas Peace Corps. It calls for specially trained people to live in economically depressed areas of big cities, living in tenament apartments receiving rent, food allowance and a small monthly subsistence salary.

THEY WILL assist the people in their parish neighborhoods materially, mentally and socially. Their goal will be to bring spiritual renewal and help to the people they serve.

In the words of O. P. Kretzman, president of Valparaiso University, "The selected young people will be a 'cell of Christians' working in an area where God seems far away from the crowded neighborhood with its forgotten poor who represent almost every race and nation under the sun."

Mike is a former member of St. Peter's Lutheran Church in Arlington Heights. (ACM

Foreign Students To Arrive Tuesday

Plans have been completed for the entertainment of the 35 American Field Service exchange students arriving in Arlington Heights Tuesday, July 9.

That evening, weather permitting, there will be a potluck picnic for students and their hosts at Busse Forest, followed by a party at Pioneer Park with Arlington High School Student Council members.

There will be dancing and and entertainment by Indians from the Indian Center in Chicago, planned to give the foreign students an opportunity to meet American Indians during their year in the United States.

Wednesday the exchange students, with their chaperones, will take a tour of Chicago by bus, going into the city via the lake shore and back home on the expressway. They will see the Prudential Building, McCormick Place, and visit the Museum of Science and Industry.

Wednesday evening is left free with the host families. The students leave Arlington Heights Thursday morning.

AMONG THE merchants and local clubs which have contributed to defray the expenses of the students' visit are: Behrens Realty, Krause & Kehe Realtors, Arlington Realty Inc., Bill Cook Buick Co., Lattof Motor Sales Co., Harris Pharmacy, Charles Klehm & Son Nursery, Lions Club, Rotary Club, and Pepsi-Cola Co. The visit is sponsored by the local American Field Service chapter.

Over the years the Greyhound Bus Co. has been generous in covering a large part of the expenses for the buses used during the three week United States tour which each A.F.S. Student is given at the end of his year's stay in the United States.

Everyone is invited to be on hand to welcome the foreign students when they arrive at the east parking lot of Arlington High School about 6 p.m. Tuesday evening or to see them depart at 8:45 a.m. Thursday.

DePalma Studies in California

Rosario DePalma, a teacher at the Forest View High School in Arlington Heights, is one of 50 selected teachers now taking part in a summer institute in biology for secondary school teachers at Fresno State College.

The six-week institute which began June 17 is financed by a $46,400 National Science Foundation grant. The purpose of the institute is to focus on a new approach in teaching which stresses instructing the student in the nature of scientific investigation or inquiry rather than in directing him to memorize facts about biology.

The institute staff also is presenting new advances in the fields of biology appropriate for high school teachers and the philosophical orientation to the methods of the new approach.

DePalma resides at 4001 Raven Lane, Rolling Meadows.

Miller to Head Luther League

The Luther League of the Grace Evangelical Lutheran Church, corner of Euclid and Wolf Roads, last week elected Kenneth Miller of Des Plaines as president.

Other officers elected include: Susan Dorosh of Mount Prospect, vice president: Lynne Struebing of Des Plaines, secretary: and David Summers of Prospect Heights as treasurer.

The meeting was a supper affair, with the retiring president, Jerry West, presiding. Mr. and Mrs. Lavern Woods were honored by the teenage youth and presented with a gift certificate in appreciation for their services during the past two years.

Two coming events during the summer were announced, a trip to a ball game and the annual ice cream social.

Teachers Welcome Is Planned

The Teachers' Association of High School District 214 is planning a welcoming luncheon as part of the teacher orientation program preceding fall classes.

Ed Fischer, president of the group, announced the luncheon will be held Aug. 26, at the Old Orchard Country Club.

The association expects the luncheon to become an annual affair, with representatives of the communities which the high schools serve in attendance as well as school officials and faculty. (AME

Teachers To Judge Writing

Three area high school teachers will serve as judges in the 1963 National Council of Teachers of English Achievement Awards program.

Robert Stanley and Donna Timm of Forest View and M. Donald Thomas, Prospect High School, are just three of the judges who will evaluate the writing abilities and literary awareness of over 6,800 candidates.

Through the program, now beginning its sixth year, the NCTE grants recognition to the nation's outstanding high school seniors for excellence in English. NCTE will announce the finalists in December of this year and will send their names to every United States college and university with the recommendation that these students be considered for scholarship assistance.

NCTE is a professional nonprofit organization of over 80,000 teachers of English at all levels. Currently, the council works through 70 committees and two commissions — one on the English language and the other on the English curriculum. (ACM

Rates Called 'Almost Pitiful'

Ask More Pay for School Custodians

A spokesman for High School District 214 custodians last week appeared before the school board in an appeal for salary increases and adjustments, terming current rates "almost pitiful."

Charles Foxworth, representative of the Suburban School and Municipal Employes' union, submitted statistics to the board showing District 214 custodians receive about $700 less annually and 35 cents less per hour than those of 15 surrounding communities.

Local custodians are requesting a "reasonable increase" in salary rates. They also want the board to add a merit adjustment to the school salary schedule, to be automatic with length of service.

Arlington High custodians now receive an average $2.30 per hour, or $4,784 per year.

AVERAGE YEARLY wages of custodians at schools quoted by Foxworth are $5,508. Hourly rates average $2.65. Schools named include Waukegan High, Highland Park High, Evanston High, Aurora East and West Highs, Riverside - Brookfield High, and Oak Park-River Forest High.

Foxworth suggested to the board that custodian salaries be increased 10 cents per hour, making possible a maximum $2.60 per hour for those working four years. This would still be five cents below the median of other communities named.

According to the spokesman, a reasonable salary schedule for local custodians would include a beginning hourly rate of $2.10 increasing to $2.20 after six months. Additional 10-cent increases would follow at the ends of the first four years of employment.

He asked premiums of five cents per hour for afternoon work and 10 cents per hour for night work be considered by the board. The review of skilled maintenance rates was also requested.

FOXWORTH POINTED out some adjustments granted for the 1962-63 school year were never received by employes, due to business office failures to properly adjust salaries and to place employes in proper classification to receive merit increases.

Payment of these retroactive amounts due local custodians, totaling $370, was authorized later in the meeting.

The present merit system gives 10 cent per hour increases to custodians upon approval of the principal of their school, their foreman, superintendent of buildings and grounds, school business manager, superintendent of schools, and school board.

John A. Hass, board president, referred the requests to the Budget Committee. The board had no comments regarding the request. (ACME

Iowa Woman Takes School Food Job

The difficult-to-fill position of food service manager was filled by the High School District 214 school board last week.

Mrs. Regina F. Woolsoncroft will be employed at a salary of $7,000 for 1963-64.

During the past two years, Mrs. Woolsoncroft has instructed at Iowa State University, Ames, Iowa, where she received her master's and bachelor's degrees in institutional management.

Her studies and research have been in the area of school food services, school officials say.

Unusual abilities are required in the position, according to school board members, who noted Mrs. Woolsoncroft "Has the background we're looking for." (ACME

Forest View News

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Grismer Jr. and sons, Mike, Jeff and Kevin, returned Saturday from a 10-day fishing trip in Canada. They drove to a government dock near Emo, Canada, where they parked their car and then traveled another 40 miles by boat and canoe. They camped on Pipestone Lake where they enjoyed fishing at its best, especially Mike, who caught the most. Not only was the fishing completely out of this world, but the scenery and wild life were something to behold. It was necessary for the Grismers to pack an eight-day supply of food, so that their provisions would last, and the deer and beavers were nature at its finest. After returning, the senior William Grismers of El Cajon, Calif. were guests for a fish fry, so they too enjoyed the vacation.

Lynne Gorgius, S. Busse Road, had as an overnight guest Monday, Sue Garland from Palatine.

THURSDAY FOUR generations were present at the fourth birthday party at the Sand Lake home of Mr. and Mrs. D. Wilhelm for their great grandson, Gery Slattery. Guests were his brother and sister, Gwen and Blane, mother, Mrs. G. Slattery, grandmother, Mrs. A. Avildsen, uncle, Steve House, all of Chicago, and cousins, Loraine and Laurie Gorgius.

Nancy Walker, Council Trail, celebrated her sixth birthday June 26 with a party packed full of fun. Neighborhood guests attending were Debbie Hajok, Susan, Katy and Jack Prince, Jim Homer, Linda and Bobby Dreiling, Diane Turner and Jayne Mailfold.

After playing baseball at a local park in which there were so many runs they lost count, the employees of Citywide Insulation Company gathered at the home of Elmer Dreiling, Council Trail, for a picnic supper on Sunday. The wives and children made the guest count soar to a total of 60 people. The men, wanting to show their wives they weren't tired from the baseball game, competed with them in a grueling game of badminton.

Happy birthday wishes this week go to Adrienne Holfeld, Parl Wilson, Dale Deeke, Ernest Paus, Darrell Wilson and David Paus.

COLONIAL HEIGHTS

The Carl Baardsens entertained Mr. and Mrs. Roy White and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Nystrom of Chicago for a barbecue supper. After the meal and chatting, the Baardsens spent the evening with Luther League members in Busse Woods, while grandma and grandpa watched the three Baardsen girls.

Gregory Gale, who plays Little League Baseball for the Mount Prospect Indians, had quite a day at the plate on Sunday at Lincoln School. Gregg, being a switch hitter, had a home run in the first inning with two men on batting right handed, and batting left handed, he had a double and two singles. Gregg batted in six runs and scored four himself. Even though the temperature climbed to 95, the Indians came through with flying colors with a score of 18 to 0.

Later in the day, the Wade Gales and Gregg and Terry had dinner out and not only enjoyed the movie "The Longest Day" but also the air conditioning.

Ten neighborhood children enjoyed the hot weather on Wednesday, when Nadine Cameron had a picnic in her back yard for the youngsters, trying to make summer complete and also making them cooler.

The Frank Lowes celebrated their anniversary Saturday by dining at Wellers in Morton Grove. The rest of the evening was spent with the A. Neitzels. Sunday the Lowes had Mr. and Mrs. James Kozzi of La Grange Park as guests for dinner.

SATURDAY THE A. Neitzels spent the evening playing cards with their neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. John Long. Sunday the Neitzels had Mrs. I. Volk of Itasca as their dinner guest.

The John Longs entertained the Frank Wisnew family of Omaha on Wed. They arrived for lunch and stayed for supper and the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Kijak and Jeanine and Mike, W. Algonquin, have arrived home from a vacation of quite some traveling. The first stop was St. Joseph, Mich. where they spent five days visiting Les' mother, Mrs. Ella Behrens. Next came the trip to Elkhorn, Wis. where they attended the wedding of Betty's nephew, Robert Behrens. Leaving there, they drove to Baileys Harbor, where they spent two days, but since the weather did not cooperate, being so cold, it was not too enjoyable. (AME

Please Check This Hat, Man; $1 Worth

MOUNT VERNON, (UPI) — A bank teller was surprised today when Gene Bourland walked into the bank, tossed his hat on the counter and said he wanted to cash it.

Bourland told the teller to have a look at the hatband.

It seems that in a friendly debate Wednesday night, Clarence Pearson told Bourland a check can be written on anything and Bourland disagreed.

So Pearson proceeded to write Bourland a check for $1 on Bourland's hatband. Bourland put on his hat today and went to the bank to settle the debate.

THE TELLER carefully examined the writing and signature on the hatband and presented the surprised Bourland with a crisp $1 bill.

Bourland observed ruefully that he had lost a debate and that his hat was worth more than $1.

The bank had a problem, too—how to run a hat through a check-cancelling machine.

NORTH MOUNT PROSPECT

Troop 471 held its spring Court of Awards June 13 at the home of one of its leaders, Mrs. Albert Jackson. Leader Mrs. Edward Medal awarded first class rank to Kathleen McElligatt, Donna Reindl and Kristine White. Mrs. Jackson presented attendance stars and 5-year pins to Martha Beasley, Jane Cooper and Kathleen McElligatt.

The leaders awarded 13 Pioneer, 12 Outdoor Cook and 9 other proficiency badges. They also gave recognition to Janet Goodwin, Sandra Logan, Carole Medal, Denise Murray, Barbara Rohan and Linda Batjes who achieved first class rank earlier this year.

THE GIRLS had ice cream and a decorated cake in honor of the graduating eighth graders.

Troop 471 held a recent outing at Camp Pine where they followed a trail by compass, identifying types of fuel, objects of nature, knots and first aid displays, to complete badge requirements. They ended the evening singing and toasting marshmallows around a campfire.

ELK GROVE VILLAGE

The first session of day camp at Camp Pine is occupying the time of a number of girls from Elk Grove Village. Chief "nose-counter-on-the-bus," Mrs. Billie Harriet, who is also a camp counsellor, reports that 33 Brownies from Elk Grove are enjoying the many things planned for them.

Greatest source of fun is the activity known as "Camp USA" in which each group represents a different state and makes things representing that state. For example, the girls representing Hawaii have been making hula skirts; the girls representing Louisiana are planning to present a Mardi Gras.

As part of a nature study, the girls caught tadpoles to bring home, which are now (hopefully) surviving in fishbowls, cans, jars and what-have-you. The groups also enjoyed a Backwards Day, three cookouts, a visit to the Nature Center and a treasure hunt. (B9

Music Teachers Choose Officers

The Northwest Suburban Music Teachers Association recently announced newly-elected 1963-64 officers.

Mrs. Rexford Hawley, Des Plaines, was named president of the group for the coming year. Vice president and program chairman is Mrs. Fred Traeger, Des Plaines.

In charge of membership for 1963-64 is Mrs. Walter Krueger, Palatine. Recording secretary and publicity chairman is Mrs. Louis Pintacura, Wheeling.

RAY WEYDYCK, Arlington Heights, is corresponding secretary. Mrs. Lawrence Steinman, Mount Prospect, was named treasurer.

Other chairmen for the coming year have also been appointed by the association. Mrs. James Roberts, Elk Grove Village, will be in charge of the yearbook. Hostess chairman is Mrs. Eugene Kalina, Rolling Meadows. Recital co-chairmen are Mrs. John DeFord and Mrs. Robert Stein, both of Mount Prospect.

The next meeting of the association will be held Sept. 16.

Number Code to Zip Letters to Destination

New Mail System Put in Operation

by SONDI BAKER
Staff Writer

Sccre another victory for progress and efficiency — mail zoning numbers now used on addresses throughout the United States obsolete.

Zip Code, the Post Office Department's new coordinated zoning system of improved mail dispatch and delivery, is expected to cut up to 24 hours off the time between mail deposit and delivery.

The system went into effect nationally Tuesday. When it is in full operation, the United States will have "the most modern system of mail distribution and delivery in existence," local postmasters say.

Every community will have its own Zip Code number, determined by geographifal location. (Code numbers for the area are listed alphabetically by community on this page.)

Everyone — post office box holders, residents on rural routes, and those receiving home delivery — will use Zip Code on all correspondence to speed mail deliveries and reduce the chance of mis-sent mail.

ALL MAIL zoning numbers used in the past will be eliminated.

The Zip Code system, literally the "last word" in mail addressing, is comprised of five-digit numbers indicating specific mailing areas.

Postmaster Mrs. Wilbur Dodge, Arlington Heights, explained the numbers this week.

The two-digit prefix 60 represents the entire Chicago area. The third digit indicates a more definite sub-division of the Chicago area. The final digits are especially important since they indicate specific local mailing areas, she said.

ALL POSTMASTERS emphasize the Zip Code numbers should be placed on the last address line, FOLLOWING the names of city and state.

Numbers should be placed in return addresses as well. In answering mail, codes taken from addresses on incoming mail should be used.

An example of the proper use of Zip Code follows:

Paddock Publications, Inc.
217 W. Campbell St.,
Arlington Heights, Ill., 60006

Greater postal efficiency is expected to result from use of the system because it will permit post office employees to shortcut repeated address reading for the first line.

POST OFFICE departments must now read addresses on mail as often as eight or ten times in order to get it to the proper destination.

Each handling slows the process of mail dispatch and adds to the opportunity for human error.

With Zip Code, a clerk needs only glance at the number to know immediately to what national area, state and post office the letter is destined.

The new numbers will expedite mail handling most during heavy mailing seasons, since temporary help will be able to sort mail easily according to code area. More experienced employees will then have about one-fifth of the present time-consuming sorting to do, the Arlington Heights postmaster said, allowing them to perform other necessary duties.

MATERIAL explaining the Zip Code will be distributed next week to everyone serviced by local postal systems. New zone numbers will also be posted on mail collection boxes this summer.

"In order to assure this vastly improved mail service," Postmaster Dodge added, "It is vital that all of us learn and use the Zip Code for our particular areas." (B-8

THE ZIP CODE, the new post office zoning system replacing all present mailing zones, is expected to cut time between postal dispatch and delivery by as much as 24 hours. If everyone uses the new system, the time needed to sort letters will be reduced greatly, according to post office officials. Each community will have its own Zip Code number. (B8

THEY'RE AT IT AGAIN! John Wayne and Lee Marvin play two ex-war buddies who can never resist the opportunity to clobber each other in John Ford's Technicolor production of "Donovan's Reef" which opens Wednesday, July 3 at the Catlow Theatre. Watching the mayhem in the comedy-adventure are Elizabeth Allen, Jack Warden, Cesar Romero and Dorothy Lamour.

HEAVY POST OFFICE mailings will be less of a problem now that the nation-wide Zip Code system is in effect. The system, a simplified mail zoning code to be used in all addresses, will allow postal employes to sort mail quickly according to geographical area. (B8

Woman Rescues Son From Electric Wire

MOUNT VERNON, (UPI) — A Tucson, Ariz., woman climbed a tree and helped rescue her son who suffered burns when he became entangled in electrical wires last week.

The youth, Bobby Lockner, 15, was reported in fairly good condition at Good Samaritan Hospital here with second and third degree burns of the chest, arms and head. His mother, Mrs. Lois Lockner, was not injured, firemen said.

Bobby and his mother were visiting her sister, Mrs. Thelma Dees, two miles north of here on State 37.

FIREMEN said Bobby had climbed a tree to work on a tree house he was building when he became caught in the wires leading to the house. His mother climbed a ladder to reach him and pulled him free, but she couldn't get him to the ground.

The Jefferson County rural fire department was called and cut the power lines.

The Mount Vernon fire department's snorkel unit was used to lower the boy and his mother in its basket. (A-14

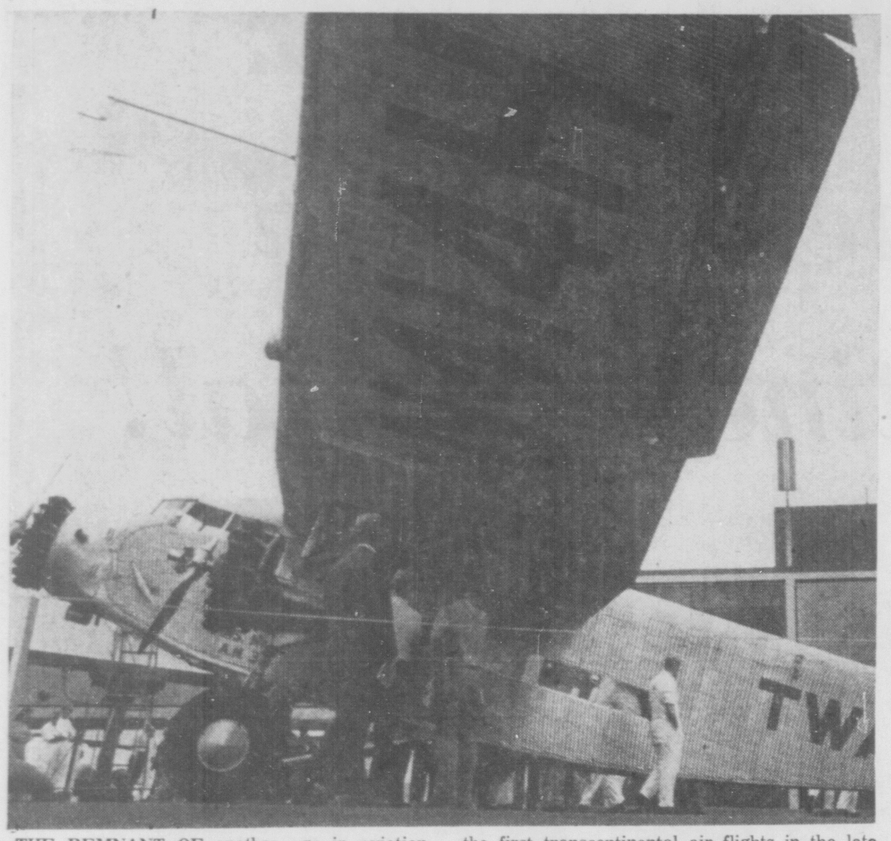
The Old Tin Goose Still Flies High



THE REMNANT OF another age in aviation history was at O'Hare International Airport last week. It was a Ford Tri-Motor that flew on the first transcontinental air flights in the late 1920's and early 30's.

(Staff Photos by Donald Vickery)

Ford Plane Won't Quit

The verdict of the aviation industry — obsolete — was reached many years ago.

So she looked intimidated, squatting there, surrounded by trim models of a later age.

The paunch in the middle wasn't helping matters, either.

Yes, the old Tin Goose was quite a gossip piece in the rookery located at the fringe of the northwest suburbs. She was a strange looking bird in a billion dollar artifice to the jet age.

The "Tin Goose," a Ford Tri-Motor N-414-H, came to roost at O'Hare International Airport last week following a coast-to-coast flight June 20-21 in observance of the country's first all-air transcontinental passenger service.

In the late 20s and early 30s, she and her sisters were the stars of the skies—the mainstays of the coast-to-coast routes.

The recent coast-to-coast flight was staged in tribute to the silver anniversary of the Civil Aeronautics Act, signed by President Franklin D. Roosevelt June 23, 1938.

STAGING the flight was Trans World Airline, which inaugurated the first transcontinental all-air passenger service in October, 1930.

Ford Motor Co. built 199 of the 12-passenger, 110-mile-an-hour transports. It was straight downhill for the Fords with the advent of the faster, larger, more comfortable Douglas DC-3 in the mid-30s.

The Tri-Motors cost between $42,000 and $55,000 each, compared to $6 million for today's jet airliners.

Some were sold to foreign operators; others were relegated to freight-carrying, barnstorming, crop - dusting, and stunt flying.

THE MODEL that was at O'Hare Friday is one of the eight known still to be flying in the world. A ninth, used by the late Admiral Richard E. Byrd in his 1929 South Pole flight is on exhibit at the Ford Museum in Dearborn, Mich.

When TWA isn't celebrating anniversaries, N-414-H, owned by John Louck of Monmouth, Ill., b rnstorms in the midwest and South. It carried 17,000 passengers in one eight-month season.

If the passengers were accustomed to today's jets, flying in the Tri-Motor must have been somewhat of a shock. The aisles are narrow, and the seats are reminiscent of those found on the old Chicago street cars.

Air-conditioning? You open the windows if it's getting stuffy.

"The Ford gives people more sensation of flight than does the jet," according to owner Louck. "The jet is quiet, smooth and vibrationless. But with the Ford, there's noise, vibration — the windows open up. You get a real feeling of flight."

THE LOS ANGELES to Newark flight that the Tin Goose was catching its breath from took 54 hours, 18 hours more than the scheduled flight time, because of strong head winds. Overnight stops were made at Wichita and Columbus.

The schedule followed was the same as maintained in the original coast-to-coast flights, which included stops at Winslow, Ariz., Albuquerque, Amarillo, Wichita, Kansas City, St. Louis, Indianapolis, Columbus, Pittsburgh, Harrisburg, and Philadelphia.

But showing what a temperamental b i r d she is, the Tin Goose couldn't get off the ground when it was visited Friday morning by a Paddock Publications reporter. The ceiling wasn't 1,000 feet, the minimum required before the tower would give her the go-head.

It must have been kind of hard for the old girl to swallow, what with the jets around her taking off effortlessly. (A14

THE FORD TRI-MOTOR, carried 14 passengers and reached a maximum speed of 110 miles per hour, a far cry from todays jet airliners. (A14

THERE'S ROOM FOR only 13 more if this man decides to step into the Ford Tri-Motor.

Library Corner

Family Stories On Rental Shelves

by BETTY AINSLIE

A group of new books on the rental shelves of Arlington Heights Memorial Library have one thing in common — they're all good family stories.

"Cry of Peacocks,', by Dayton Rommel, is an excellent, unusual story.

Involved are the lives, actions and even thoughts of men and their families who are sent to K e n t u c k y to open a new plant for their company. They meet with calm indifference of the townspeople, who feel they could manage very n i c e l y without the new factory, and that welath is not as important as family name and history.

Another book concerning a particular section of the country and the struggle to resist change is "The Port," by Henry Hough. Here the people in a coastal New England town cleverly and unhurriedly get the best of the city slickers figuring to make a mint on a quick deal.

"CRAIG'S SPUR," by E. S. Madden, takes place in Australia. Set in the bush country, this is a novel of suspense about two boys who walk away from an auto accident which kills their mother. A series of flashbacks tells several stories in an unusual plot.

"The Corridor," by Edmund Fuller, is an excellent short novel about a man's troubled thoughts on life and marriage as he waits word about his wife, caught between life and death. The background is the bustle and excitement of a hospital.

A town that changes from a quiet country v i l l a g e to a booming suburb is the background for "The Principal," by Benjamin Siegel. Bad teachers, discipline problems and a poor curriculum are just a few of the troubles encountered by the new principal.

Another book which takes atmosphere and story from the location is "Call Home the Heart," by Elisabeth Ogilvie. The heroine plans a leisurely summer to do as she chooses when her husband leaves for a long fishing trip. Little does she realize that her island home will be touched with the bitter tongues of island women with idle time to spend in gissip.

Moms Hike to School To Prove Kids Can't

Board Members Veto School Bus Service

WAUWATOSA, WIS., (UPI) — A group of 200 determined Wauwatosa mothers took a hike last week to prove their children couldn't and shouldn't walk to school next fall.

Recently the school board decided to cancel bus service to Wauwatosa West High School and Longfellow and Hawthorne Junior High Schools because it felt transportation was the responsibility of the parent, not the school board.

IN PROTEST, Wauwatosa mothers attempted to prove that it was too dangerous for the children to walk and that the public bus service was inadequate.

Mrs. Walter J. Marienthal, mother of five and one of the leaders of the march, said the purpose of the march was to show how inadequate present transportation is. She said she felt the march had been a success because the mothers had proved their point.

"It took some of them two hours to get to the high school from their homes," she said. "I walked 4.5 miles myself and some walked more."

"IT'S UNREASONABLE to expect children to walk that far to school, particularly in the winter when it gets dark earlier."

Mrs. Marienthal said some of the mothers tried various bus routes to get to the schools and discovered they had to transfer three and four times and still had quite a distance to walk.

She explained that to get to Wauwatosa West from her home, she would have to walk a mile, take three busses and walk again.

Besides the inconvenience and distance, the group of mothers also complained of the dangers. Part of the route the children would walk is along Wisconsin 100, a two-lane road with no sidewalks.

"EVEN IF they have more crossing guards," Mrs. Marienthal said, "the walk would still be dangerous."

She added that when she moved to Wauwatosa 13 years ago, she was told there would be no public bus transportation in her area because it would not pay. She said she was also told when the new high school was built that there would be bus service provided since there was no adequate public bus transportation.

"Now," she said, "the school board has done an about face."

She said she did not care what kind of transportation was provided in the seventh and eighth wards, public or private, as long as it was adequate.

SUPT. E. G. Burnkrant said he didn't think anyone would say public bus transportation to Wauwatosa West High School was adequate.

Burnkrant said he believed the board had made its decision on the grounds that getting the children to and from school was a parental responsibility.

The school supenintendent said that in 1957, the board adopted a policy that it would discontinue transportation in an area as soon as public transportation was available and safety hazards eliminated.

"They apparently did not follow this policy this year," he said.

At any rate the mothers haven't given up. They plan to write protest letters to the common council and the school board and appear at a school board committee meeting this week. (A-14

Calling All Swine, Cows, Goats, Etc.

First deadline date for entries in the 113th State Fair of Wisconsin will be July 25 for participants in the Junior and Open Class livestock shows of dairy cattle, beef cattle, sheep, swine, horses and dairy goats.

Total entries in 1962 compared favorably with those in 1961, according to Willis D. Freitag, superintendent of livestock, who is optimistic about the number of entrants this year.

COMPETING for shares in the $190,000 offered in premium money will be nearly 15,000 es, 118. (A14 exhibits at the 1963 State Fair, Aug. 9 - 18. Winners are also paid extra dividends in personal satisfaction, ribbons and trophies.

Entry totals a year ago were led by those in the poultry show, which had 3,737 entrants. Judges viewed over 2,000 exhibits in home economics during the 1962 Fair. Next in line was the arts and crafts Fair which drew nearly 1,450 entries; dairy cattle, 690; sheep, 648; rabbits, 422; beef cattle, 416; and draft hors-

Truck Tunnels 'Behind Scenes'

by BARBARA ANN DAVIS

Tunnels of any size and shape have always fascinated me. There's something very eerie and exciting about traveling thru a tunnel — lights are dimmed and darkness swallows you up. Whether it be drifting through the "tunnel of love," riding the loop subway or just driving in and out of a railroad tunnel, many of us experience a few heart palpitations until lights reappear.

"Inside" Randhurst, behind the scenes, we have a truck tunnel. It is well illuminated at all times because it is a constant stage of activity. You'll never play fender tag with trucks when visiting Randhurst for all deliveries and shipments are handled through the tunnel thus eliminating truck traffic, exhaust fumes and noises in the parking area.

The tunnel is one more unique concept in design to make shopping a pleasure with parking lanes and spaces reserved for customers only. Outside weather conditions never present a barrier to deliveries made to our "inside" loading docks.

DAVIS

The doors are controlled by an electronic eye and open to trucks moving one way to their dock destination. All loading docks are numbered and painted a specific color. A dock directory tells the driver what dock and color to look for when delivering his shipment.

I always chuckle at the sign "Bear Left" in the entrance to the tunnel. Our security dogs might spend time patrolling the tunnel, but believe me, there is no bear!

The tunnel is one-half mile long and wide enough to accommodate three huge trucks side by side. It not only services loading docks for each store, but also provides a routing for Randhurst's system of water and heating.

. . . Water-water everywhere and nary a drop to spare in the heat of summer. A boat show puts one in the mood to head for the closest body of water with the fishing tackle or water skis. You might find just the boat to fit your family needs on July 17 through 20 when our mall takes on a nautical look with a fine display of boats.

That delightful aroma reaching out to every passerby in the vacinity fo the Fair fountain is called "Gin Fizz." Not a cocktail, mind you, but a very delicate perfume from Paris. This is the world's largest perfume fountain featuring perfumes to please, tease and entice.

Hat's off to our friends in downtown Mount Prospect! The Lion's Club, Chamber of Commerce and many other civic boosters have combined forces to bring the local townspeople and their friends a wonderful Fourth of July program. Enjoy a safe and sane Fourth in Mount Prospect and be sure to be on the curb at 2 p.m. to see the parade. The Honorable Clarence Schlaver, president of the village of Mount Prospct, will be right out front closely followed by the Chicago Highlander's band. Many of you will recall the appearance of this famous band in Randhurst last December. When the sun goes down the evening skies will be filled with a scintillating spectacular originating from Lion's Memorial Park, under the direction of the Mount Prospect Park District. Listen for the bursting of the mortars to signify the beginning of this event.

Everyone at Randhurst (and I do mean everyone) is looking forward with great anticipation to our first anniversary celebration on August 16. You will be also, when we give you a "sneak" preview in future columns! My goodness . . . it's going to be more exciting than our opening day, if that is possible! (Rh

Day Camps Boom in Northwest Suburbs

Teach Skills, Build Health

by JOAN LORENSON
Staff Writer

The yellow buses picking up children along the route were not schoolward bound last week. Instead they were picking up the hundreds of suburban youngsters for the start of the day camping season.

The buses whisk the youngsters to open areas with trees, fields, and swimming pools. There they will get training in skills such as swimming, handicrafts, and creative dramatics as well as learning how to socialize with other children.

A relatively new institution, there are now over 1 million day campers per season, according to the American Camping Association. Day Camp Standards were adopted by the American Camping Association in 1956.

The great impetus to day camping—an outgrowth of resident camping—came with the depression and war years. Working parents needing care for their children found day camps the answer.

ACCORDING to day camp directors, suburban youngsters who attend day camps may have working parents; but many have parents who simply want their children to be occupied in the summer, learning skills they don't learn in school.

Each private day camp differs slightly in its emphasis. One such as the Circle M in Wheeling may stress individualized attention while another, the Travelaire in Bensenville emphasizes competitive sports.

A small camp, Echo Hill ranch Day Camp, Echo Hill road, Lake Zurich with 45 to 80 campers this season, is recnized by its wigwams which can be seen from the road.

Run by S. L. Caruso, a Mount Prospect school principal, Echo Hills keeps its children busy with swimming instruction, table or field games, archery, air riflery, baton twirling, crafts, nature study, or story telling.

TYPICAL camper in T-shirt or sleeveless blouse and shorts ranges in age from six to 12 years old. Half a dozen five year old pre-schoolers spend half a day at Echo Hill listening to stories, playing games, and learning how to swim. "When we drop them off at noon, half of them are asleep and must be carried into their houses," said Ben Kozlick, swimming instructor.

This is the first season preschoolers have been admitted to Echo Hill.

During a visit to the camp last Thursday one could find one group playing table games under the shade of a roofed shelter. Others kicked vigorously in the pool under the eye of two instructors. A story telling session was going on under the branches of trees nearby. A line of youngsters equipped with beans were about to begin planting a garden.

Built on nine acres, the camp site has a softball field, volleyball area, archery range, playground, and swimming pool.

ECHO HILL emphasizes its ranch type situation. Each child has a chance to see some nature. Strawberry patches, raspberry bushes and mulberry trees grow for easy picking. A "forest" is readymade for a hike to see birds and squirrels.

Big event of the camping season is a chuck wagon cook out at the camp's end. Normally the children carry their lunches.

Most of the staff at Echo Hill are teachers or teachers-to-be. It includes a physical education teacher at Prospect Heights Junior High School, a freshman at the University of Missouri who teaches baton twirling, and a primary teacher in the Wheeling school system.

A large L-shaped pool dominates the East Third Avenue park type setting of Travelaire Ranch Day Camp, Bensenville. Stafed by teachers, Travelaire takes boys and girls five to 14 years old.

"A good program is the basis for a good day camp," declared Travelaire Director N. S. Greenberg, who has been in the day camping business for more than 20 years. Greenberg smilingly refers to his program as "a Heinz 57 program." His camp offers all kinds of sports from baseball to riflery to trampoline activities as well as assorted crafts. A Chicago physical education teacher himself, Greenberg insists his staff be trained teachers.

The 200 campers get some learning such as botany and zoology without knowing it. Children learn to identify flowers or stones on a "what is it shelf" doing research to find out more information on the unknown.

Next to program, physical facilities and staff are the most important elements in the day camp, said Greenberg. Travelaire shows evidence of his philosophy with its shelters, playgrounds, swimming pool, craft house, and canteen.

Youngsters check in and out their equipment which can be anything from books to fishing string to hoops to arrows. Greenberg's personal collection of birds labeled by the Field Museum is open for youngsters' inspection.

SOME BLIND children are integrated into the camp situation. According to Greenberg they get along with no problems and are accepted by the others.

Most of the campers come for sport and recreation, not because their families work, said Greenberg.

A camp with a completely different concept is Circle M Camp on Hintz Road in Wheeling. On its brochure it states its purpose as "promoting the healthy emotional and physical growth of the child." Circle M's program is a non-competitive one.

"Children have built-in competition and imposing it from an adult point of view is not necessary," according to Marcy and Bob Brower, camp directors.

If a parent wants competition for his youngster such activities as Little League will supply it and he can find most camps with organized competition. There are few camps that don't since it is easier to organize a camp and motivate the children this way, said Mrs. Brower.

BECAUSE of its stress on individualized attention and instruction, Circle M gets some children with emotional problems.

The children are divided into 15 groups with 15 supervisors. all teachers or people in the education field with training at the elementary school level. In addition there are five other staff members—the two Browers, a staff supervisor, swimming instructor, and arts and crafts person.

The other counselors remain with their children as they go from activity to activity. This is a difference from other camps.

"We try to give the youngster skills which will give him security in himself," said Mrs. Brower.

CIRCLE M also stresses overall development of a child. In the activites program for example, each child may choose for a week to work with the ukele, chorus, or creative dramatics. He cannot stick to one sport.

The camp works very closely with the families of the children. The Browers have discussed each child with his parents before he arrives at camp. Counselors after two weeks have a conference with parents and any counselor is available to a parent. Sundays, the families can come to the camp to swim. "We believe it is important to have this liaison since every child has different needs," said Brower.

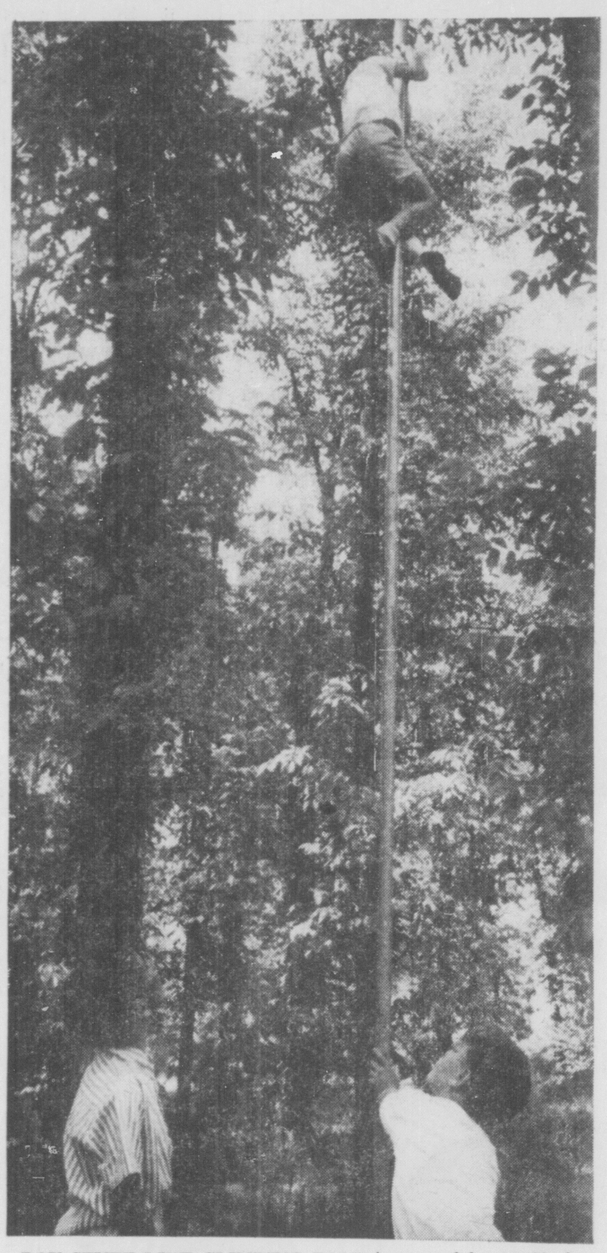
Included in the program each year is a handicapped child—a blind, cerebral palsy, or polio handicapped youngster. To increase the children's experience in getting along with people, the Browers also have an interracial staff.

Last year the group who had a Negro counselor never mentioned this to their parents but only talked in terms of whether they liked or disliked their counselor. A visit to camp was when the parents learned the counselor was a Negro. The families have accepted this.

"We're not trying to develop painters or sculptors but we're trying to give children much opportunity for expression," sums up the Circle M philosophy.

Robbers' Choice

In the last two months of 1962, one out of every three bank robberies in the United States was committed in California.



BOY STUFF LIKE CLIMBING POLE is part of fun at Circle M Camp in Wheeling which stresses individual attention and development of a number of skills by each day camper. The 150 campers are broken into 15 groups with a counselor who is with them all day, planning activities. Swimming is one of the few activities programmed at a definite time. (Staff Photo).

TRAVELAIRE RANCH day camp has park like facilities at its site in Bensenville. It draws youngsters from Chicago and suburbs and next year plans to have some from Elk Grove Village. Run for 15 years by the present director, Travelaire has expanded its operation. Increased population with less space and the fact more parents have money to give their children advantages of day camping have pushed the day camp growth. (Staff Photo).

JUMPING ROPE on trampoline, day camper enjoys some of the facilities of Circle M Day Camp, Hintz Road, Wheeling. About 60 per cent of the campers are repeaters. Starting out as a traveling camp, Circle M now stays at its permanent camp site. (Staff Photo).

THE ATTRACTION OF SLAVERY

Freedom, like health is taken for granted until it is lost. Our forefathers recognized that freedom can be shackled by guile as readily as by force. Slavery looks attractive when it promises security and the solution of all problems. Our ancestors met the test of guns. Ours is more likely to be the test of the invitation to "let us do it for you."

X-Ray Unit Coming To 2 Area Villages

In an effort to early-stage find tuberculosis cases in suburban Cook County, mobile X-ray units will be in Wheeling and Rolling Meadows during the first two weeks of July.

The Suburban Cook County Tuberculosis Sanitarium District, in conjunction with the Tuberculosis Institute of Chicago and Cook County, are conducting the free survey of suburban Cook County.

A mobile unit will locate July 5 outside Mark Drugs, Dundee and Milwaukee, Wheeling, from noon to 7 p.m., sponsored locally by the Ladies of the Lions. Mrs. Joseph Behm, 241 S. Milwaukee, will be chairman of the volunteer registrars serving at the unit.

Rolling Meadows will have a one-week survey, beginning July 8.

A UNIT will locate in the Rolling Meadows Shopping Center, near Suburban Drugs, July 8 through July 10. X-ray hours will be 2 p.m. to 9 p.m., Monday, and 10:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Tuesday and Wednesday.

The unit will move on to Topps in Rolling Meadows July 11 and 12. X-ray hours will be 2 p.m. to 9 p.m. both days.

The Rolling Meadows Junior Women's Club and the Registered Nurses Association of Rolling Meadows will be local sponsors of the survey.

Mrs. Paul Phl, 3921 Gull Court, is survey chairman.

Serving at the unit will be Mrs. Donald Carbon, 2903 Grouse; Mrs. Quentin Ebel, 2409 School Drive; Mrs. Raymond Sielig, 2403 Dove, Mrs. Richard Dolan, 434 Dunton, Arlington Heights; Mrs. Robert Ernst, 3404 Pheasant.

Tells Plans for Literacy Workshop

The Laubach Literacy Workshop sponsored by the Northwest Migrant Ministry Committee will open its two-day session on Friday, July 12, at 7:30 p.m. at St. John United Church of Christ in Arlington Heights.

In addition to instruction by the leaders, Dr. William Briggs of Kokomo, Ind., and Al Martinez of French Lick, Ind., the film "Each One Teach One" will be shown.

On Saturday from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., there will be further instruction in reading and writing the Laubach method and a taped interview with Dr. Frank Laubach.

Dr. Laubach has won world fame for teaching illiterate peoples to read. Governments of many countries have sponsored his program. He is co-author of more than 200 primers in 165 languages. Laubach first used his system while serving as a missionary in the Philippines.

THE INSTRUCTORS, Dr. Briggs, a Methodist minister, and Martinez, an English and Spanish teacher, have conducted workshops on the Laubach system in other areas.

Dr. Briggs was the founder of the Migrant Ministry in Howard County, Ind., and Martinez has been a social worker in the summer migrant ministry program for several years.

Registrations are open to everyone. Those interested should call Mrs. James Munn, area director, CL 9-1418, before Friday, July 5. (B-8 2 shapes known the world over.

Nobody really notices Coke bottles or Volkswagens any more.

They're so well known, they blend in with the scenery.

It doesn't matter what the scenery is, either. You can walk in and buy a VW in any one of 136 countries.

Deserts. Mountains. Hot places. Cold places.

Volkswagens thrive.

Hot and cold don't matter; the VW engine is air-cooled. It doesn't use water, so it can't freeze up or boil over.

And having the engine in the back makes all the difference when it comes to mud and sand and snow.

The weight is over the power wheels and so the traction is terrific.

VWs also get along so well wherever they are because the service is as good in Tasmania as it is in Toledo.

(The only reason you can't buy a VW at the North Pole is that the Volkswagen people won't sell you one. There's no VW service around the corner.)

We hear that it's possible to buy yourself a Coke at the North Pole, though.

A Coke truck.

Universal Plans 'Soft' Detergent

DES PLAINES, (UPI)—Universal Oil Products Co., has announced that Continental Oil Co. will build facilities at Lake Charles, La., to produce a detergent that can be decomposed by sewage disposal plants.

Universal is licensor of the process for producing such a "biologically soft" detergent. The process involves a series of chemical steps by which paraffins are converted into a detergent which can be decomposed by bacteria customarily found in sewage disposal plants, Universal said. (B8

Area Boy Scouts to Attend Jamboree at Valley Forge

More than 100 Scouts from the Northwest Suburban Council area will participate in the Sixth National Jamboree of the Boy Scouts of America in Valley Forge, Pa., July 17-23.

The local council has received an allocation of three troops of 37 Scouts and three leaders for the Jamboree. They will also host a patrol of eight foreign Scouts.

UP TO 50,000 Boy Scouts, Explorers, and leaders are expected to participate in the week-long encampment. Approximately 1,100 members of Boy Scout associations from other nations have also been invited to attend the Jamboree.

The Scouts will take part in Scoutcraft activities, field sports, conservation projects, outdoor religious services, evening shows, and skill booths at the Jamboree.

They will hear and meet speakers, entertainers and other visitors of national prominence.

Any registered Boy Scout 12-years-old or older by Oct. 1 and First Class on or before July 1, 1964, is eligible to attend. Registered Explorers with a minimum of six months tenure by Jan. 1 or who have been transferred directly from a Boy Scout troop are also eligible.

EACH PARTICIPANT must have adequate camping experience to assure his ability to care for himself, a cooperative attitude toward other participants, and pre-jamboree training of at least three days.

The Jamboree Committee for the Northwest Suburban Council is headed by General Chairman Thomas Cocks, Chicago.

Val Fishburn, Des Plaines is vice chairman and promotion chairman; Cameron Rasmusson, Glenview, transportation chairman; Walter Ranzin, Des Plaines, equipment chairman, and Arthur Olson, Park Ridge, gateways and campsites chairman.

The committee also includes Arthur Leu, Palatine, pre-jamboree training and leadership selections chairman; Council President Harold English, Barrington; Scout Executive Frank Newton, Des Plaines; and Kenneth Jarchow, Des Plaines, staff adviser. (B8

Modern Etiquette

Q. I've been invited to attend a christening. Am I supposed to bring a gift for the baby?

A. This is neither obligatory nor expected. If you wish to do so, however, it's quite all right.

Today's Agriculture

AGRICULTURAL ECONOMICS

Managing a farm is much like pitching a baseball — some fellows do it better than others. But any pitcher can sharpen his ability by studying and practicing the style used by the "old pros." And a good farm manager can improve his skill by watching how others achieve success.

Farm management tours conducted by the Illinois Farm Bureau Management associations in cooperation with the University of Illinois Cooperative Extension Service in Agriculture in July, August and September show how other farmers succeed. Plan now to attend a tour.

Algae can be controlled with copper sulfate or commercial bluestone. Use it at the rate of one part per million parts (one pound of bluestone to a million pounds of water). If a second treatment is necessary, allow a couple of weeks between applications so that the batch will be used up. Rake out matted growth, since it will absorb too much of the chemical.

PET PROJECT WITH 4-H'ers IS FOR DOGS

In four short years the number of boys and girls enrolled in the fast-growing 4-H Club dog care and training program has increased tenfold, reports the National 4-H Service Committee. Last year enrollment nearly reached the 20,000 mark and at the end of 1963 another big jump is expected.

The "pet" program is popular with city and suburban youngsters. Like their country counterparts, the off-the-farm 4-H'ers working with dogs learn about animal care and breeding.

Sometimes 4-H Club leaders are local dog handlers or veterinarians. Obedience training, animal nutrition and grooming are some of the areas covered. The young dog fanciers soon realize that a healthy "well-mannered" dog is a joy to have around the house. Neighbors like him, too.

Members who show personal progress throughout the year have an opportunity to compete for a medal, a handsome wrist watch, and a free trip to the National 4-H Club Congress to take place at Chicago, Ill., the first week in December.

Winners are named by the Cooperative Extension Service which directs this 4-H activity.

The 4-H dog care and training program is not a one-year effort, the Extension Service points out. It provides for continuing education in owning and handling a pet. Any kind of dog may be used in the project.

BY BOB FRISK

KICKIN' IT AROUND

IT'S BACK TO THE TYPEWRITER after an enjoyable vacation in Miami Beach, the magic community of year-round summer where the grandiose predominates.

After spending several days in temperatures that hovered around the 90 mark and returning to an equally warm Chicago, we find it difficult to talk about football, but it should be emphasized that now is the time for high school players to start getting in shape for next season.

Actually, this preparation should have been initiated as soon as the school year concluded in June, but the young athletes still have time to institute a sound program of conditioning.

Bob Nicolette, head trainer at the University of Illinois, advises that gridders should start getting in shape for the fall campaign right now — not in August when practice begins.

Bob emphasizes that parents should keep their boy active all summer — mowing lawns, cutting weeds, cleaning the car — some kind of manual labor. Physical activity is vital.

"On top of this," he adds, "the athlete must run every evening. He should set aside an hour for running. He can rest at intervals during the hour, but anything longer than three to five minutes is loafing, not resting." Nicolette says that the running should be done in football shoes, and the workout should include a varied program of short dashes, cutting, walking, etc.

"Chief thing to remember is that the body must maintain salt-water balance," Nicolette says in consideration of the problem of heat exhaustion. "As salt is added to the system, the body compensates by retaining a larger volume of fluid. Perspiration causes loss of both fluid and salt which must be replaced.

"Thirst is a regulator for the fluids, but does not completely replace the amount lost unless the salt also has been replaced. So mothers should be sure to provide ample salt on food, and should also have 'salt cocktails' available to prevent dehydration."

Nicolette says that the 'salt cocktail' consists of two teaspoons of salt in a gallon of water. It should be kept in the refrigerator to make it more palatable. Bob advises "two glasses a day."

"Another thing mothers can do is to be sure the boy has clean socks, T-shirts, shorts and supporters," he continues. "A torn blister in a dirty sock can cause a bad infection. She also can provide him an emory board to keep callouses soft and pliable via daily sanding."

Knee injuries plague many athletes, and boys can help combat this problem by a concentrated program of exercises during the summer.

The Illinois trainer advises a program which requires a metal pail, towels, sand and a sturdy table. The boy sits on the edge of the table and lifts the pail with as much sand as he can use for a starter. The towels are used under the knees and around the pail handle to prevent chafing. The exercises must be slow and rhythmic.

"The boy should raise his leg slowly and lock the knee in full extension," Bob points out. "Then he should slowly lower his leg until it is in hanging position again. Add sand and water as the legs grow stronger."

Nicolette advises a routine of 50 per leg with the bucket, 10 at a time between rest periods. It should be handled on a daily basis.

Bob concludes his summer conditioning program by recommending a physical exam by the family doctor. "And don't forget regular hours, plenty of sleep and a balanced diet."

CARTERET, THE STRETCH-RUNNING French bred import, listens to some soothing music with the help of groom Frank Celli. Carteret, winner of the Laurance Armour two weeks ago, will most likely be the post time favorite in the $30,000 added Stars and Stripes headliner tomorrow afternoon at Arlington Park.

Hammers Greens, High School

Pioneer Park Moves Off to Fast Start in Softball Play

Pioneer Park, last year's champion of the Arlington Heights softball league, continued right where it left off by recording two impressive victories in the first week of loop play.

In the first game Pioneer defeated Greens 14-2 on 17 hits. Tom McCarthy and Dan Miksta each had four safeties for Pioneer. Frank Bianca drove in both of Green's runs with a homer and double. Dean Muench and Herb Irlbacher also homered for Pioneer.

In the other game, Pioneer had no mercy for the High School as it posted an 18-2 victory. Pioneer clinched the victory with a 13-run fourth inning. Kevin O'Connell, Tom Scharf, and Scott Richey each had three hits for Pioneer. High School managed only five hits off Pioneer pitcher Larry Malcomson.

THE HIGH SCHOOL evened its record at 1-1 with a 3-2 victory over Evergreen. Trailing 2-0, John Keher hit a bases-loaded triple in the last inning to win the game. Evergreen scored two runs in the first inning on Doug Sondeberg's two-run homer, but could not score after that.

Tied for second place with two wins and one loss are Greens and Hasbrook. Besides their loss to Pioneer, Greens defeated Hasbrook 10-8, and Recreation 18-10.

Greens came from behind with five runs in the last of the sixth inning to wipe out a 6-5 Hasbrook lead. Eric Stein drove in two runs in the last inning with TRAINER ARNOLD N. WINICK (right on lead pony) hopes to have Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Bensinger's Sensitive (with exercise boy Al Vicaria up) ready for tomorrow's Park headliner, the $30,000 added Stars and Stripes. The Argentine bred horse will be among a top-flight field expected at post time for the 35th running of the traditional Fourth of July event.

35th Running Of Headliner

$30,000 Added Beverly Saturday at Arlington

The summer meeting at Arlington Park hits an early-season climax Thursday when race-goers congregate to celebrate the July Fourth Holiday in traditional fashion with presentation of the storied $30,000 added Stars & Stripes Handicap at 1-1/8 miles on the grass course.

The Stars & Stripes is one of two added money headliners sharing the holiday weekend's top billing. Saturday's headliner will be the $30,000 added Beverly Handicap, annual conventional hall for the fillies and mares and one flat mile.

Last year's Stars & Stripes producer a real thriller with Hasty House Farms' Porvenir edging Jacnot Stable's Oink right on the wire. Neither is expected to be around for the '63 edition, though both stables should field stout threats—Hasty House with its stretch-running French import, Careteret, fresh from a one length victory in last week's Armour at a sixteenth of a mile shorter, and Jacnot with its flashy three-year-old pair of Spanish Fort and Country Squire, both of which are expected to nominate for the holiday fare.

ROBERT LEHMAN'S Prego, third in the Laurance Armour after wresting command at mid-stretch, will stick around Chicago for the 35th running of the Stars & Stripes. Other sure starters include L. C. Howard's Bounding Main, a late-running Noor progency, who finally got his running shoes on in finishing second in the Armour; Mort Johnson's Hard Rock Man, hero of Balmoral's Swaps and fourth in the Armour scramble, and Peter Fuller's Lucky Uncle.

Fred W. Hooper's classy Admiral's Voyage is on the grounds and considered a Stars & Stripes possibility, as is Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Bensinger's Argentinian, Sensitivo. Of course, the possibility always remains that Crimson King Farm's stakes leader, Crimson Satan, will ship in for the Stars & Stripes. He won last year's Amour on the grass here, it will be remembered.

Saturday's Beverly could lure Stanley Conrad's Old Hat, heroine of Balmoral's Four Winds, Forest H. Lindsay's consistent Alecee, and Fred W. Sooner's My Portrait. Other possibilities include Miss Mary V. Fisher's Hushaby, Mrs. Clarke Hardwicke's Lucky Viola and Mrs. Roger Wilson's Jolie Rosalie.

IN SATURDAY'S $27,575 Olympla Handicap Piper's Son, a five-year-old gelding carrying 112 pounds, surged past favored Editorialist in mid-stretch and roared to the win by three-parts of a length.

Half Breed, carrying 113 pounds, finished second, and Times 132 pounds in the seven-furlong event.

Piper's Son posted prices of $24.40, $12.80, and $3.80. Half Breed paid $8.80 and $3.40, and Times Roman was $2.20 to show.

The winner's time was 1:24 1-5, and he earned $16,325 to $48,575.

Three Wins in Six Outings For Arlington Legion Nine; Divide Milwaukee Contests

Arlington's ambitious American Legion baseball team found time to tackle two league opponents, journey to Milwaukee for a doubleheader, and meet Evanston in a twin-bill in another busy week of diamond activity.

The net result of the week's scuffling showed three victories and three defeats but still a share of the lead in the hectic district scramble.

Arlington and Park Ridge are tied for the top position with Des Plaines just a lap behind.

Lloyd Meyer's aggregation will journey to Palatine today (Wednesday) for a Ninth District fray and will tackle Proviso East Thursday at Recreation Park in the Fourth of July headliner.

DES PLAINES comes to town and the high school diamond Friday for an important league encounter, and Arlington hosts Wheaton Sunday in a non-league doubleheader. Ninth District games follow again next Monday and Wednesday.

Arlington launched its week's play with an easy win over Mount Prospect. The story appears wlsewhere in the sports section.

Park Ridge gained revenge for a previous setback when it clipped the locals 6-0 behind the two-hit pitching of Larry Eichler. Eichler, who was the mound victim in the first meeting between the two units, didn't allow a hit in the final five innings and he struck out eight.

STEVE MARTIN, leading off the first inning, and Mike Frase, hitting third in the second stanza, collected Arlington's only base knocks.

Park Ridge came up with three runs in the fourth inning with only one base hit. Arlington starter Dick Anderson experienced some control trouble and walked three straight men after yielding a two-out single to Eichler.

Paul Splittorff took over for Anderson with a 3-0 count on catcher White and after issuing two free passes the lanky southpaw fanned Johnson for the final out.

Park Ridge pushed over a single run in the fifth and two more in the sixth.

Score by innings:

Arlington	000	000	0—0-2
Park Ridge	000	312	*—6-4

ON SATURDAY Meyer took his crew to Milwaukee for a unique road twin-bill and came home with a split in action with Milwaukee Lutheran.

Milwaukee took the opener 6-0, but Arlington bounced back with a 6-4 decision in the windup.

Milwaukee's Christensen yielded only three hits in the first game in spinning a nifty shutout. Catcher Mark Frase and pitcher Steve Martin collected successive singles in the second and Frase rapped out another safety in the fourth.

Christensen fanned nine in the seven innings.

Martin went the route for Arlington and yielded seven hits, striking out four.

Score by innings:

Arlington	000	000	0—0-3

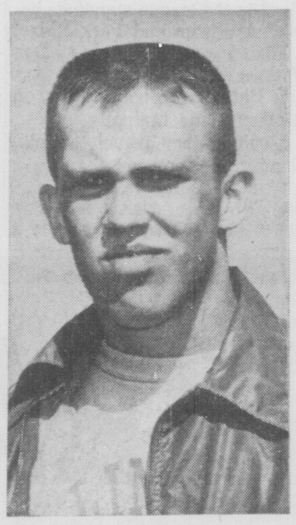
DICK ANDERSON



ROG LINDSTROM

ARLINGTON managed a split for the afternoon with an impressive 6-4 win in the finale. Dave Christiansen started on the hill for Arlington and worked six and two-thirds innings, yielding the chores to Anderson in the seventh.

Arlington scored early with two markers in the first. Jerry Fink and Ken Layden rode across with the runs with Layden contributing a double.

Singles by Rog Lindstrom, Jim Ewart, and Larry Wagner figured in a two-run fourth, and Lindstrom smashed a two-run homer in the sixth.

Milwaukee collected seven hits but couldn't bunch them into a big inning. The hosts tallied single runs in the first, fifth, sixth, and seventh.

Score by innings:

Milwaukee	100	011	1—4-6
Arlington	200	202	*—6-5

IN DOUBLEHEADER action Sunday Arlington again posted a split with Anderson and Gary Spencer combining to set down Evanston in the opener, 5-2.

Anderson worked four innings with Spencer toiling over the final three.

Arlington put the game away in the first inning with three hits leading to four runs. Martin started things off with a single. Splittorff singled, Lavden walked and Lindstrom delivered another home run.

Before the dust had cleared in the first Mike Frase also slammed a triple and four runs scored. The final marker came across in the fifth on a one-out home run by Splittorff.

Anderson and Spencer held Evanston scoreless until the seventh when two runners scampered home.

SCORE BY INNINGS:

Evanston	000	000	2—2-6
Arlington	400	010	*—5-7

Evanston pushed over the two decisive runs in the second inning of the second game. The victors collected just one hit in the five other frames.

Arlington rapped out six safeties but managed only one run. Howie Winkelhake rode across in the fourth.

The locals had their chances with men on in five of the six innings. Hoppe and Winkelhake posted successive singles in the final frame but were stranded as Evanston's Brown fanned the final two hitters with the sacks jammed.

Hoppe, hitting in the cleanup slot, had two hits for Arlington.

Moehling Has Tour's First Double Eagle

Ed Moehling Jr., PGA professional from Mount Prospect, didn't make the final cut in the Cleveland Open last week, but scored a victory of sorts by turning in the first double eagle of the professional golfing tour this year.

Moehling canned a three-iron on the 511-yard sixth hole at Beechmont Country Club in the second round. The deuce gave the 22-year-old former Illinois state amateur champ his second straight 74 for a non-qualifying 148.

Mount Prospect Little League Grad Signs With Yanks

Fred Peterson, a southpaw pitcher who started his baseball career in the Mount Prospect Little League which his father helped organize, signed with the New York Yankees last week for a "sizeable bonus."

Peterson, 21, now a junior at Northern Illinois University, DeKalb, is the second area product to sign a professional baseball contract in recent months.

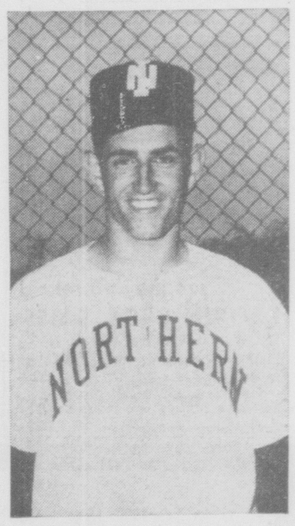
THE OTHER is Mike Francek, a Prospect High graduate, who is signed a bonus contract with the St. Louis Cardinals in April.

Peterson, who graduated from Arlington High in June, 1959, had an 8 - 2 won-lost record at NIU this spring. He is expected to be assigned to the Yankees' Harlan, Ky., farm club in the new All-Rookie League.

"Fred was very happy with the contract," said Fred J. Peterson, who helped launch his son's baseball career in Mount Prospect where the family lived for 11 years before moving to Crystal Lake.

"He said he was very appreciative of the time devoted to him by coaches in this area, and the organizations which helped support Little League baseball in Mount Prospect."

THE MOUNT Prospect Lions Club, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and Park District helped support and organize the Little League Program.



FRED PETERSON

Some of Fred's former coaches include Al McMillan, Chuck Zadel, Bud Dahlquist and Bob Baker, Arlington baseball mentor.

Under Baker, young Peterson was named to the West Suburban League's All-Conference baseball team in his senior year.

Peterson won five and lost two for Arlington High in 1959, and maintained a 2.00 earned run average while fanning 52 batters in 48 innings.

Seven-Run Inning Gives Wilkes Win In Relief Stint

A seven-run outburst and some fine relief pitching by Tom Wilkes gave Mount Prospect Post 525 an 8-3 win over Northlake Monday in Ninth District American Legion baseball.

The Prospectors staked starting pitcher Hank LaRocco to a seven-run lead in the second inning, highlighted by Bob Geller's bases-loaded triple.

Geller, who batted twice in the inning, opened by popping out. Rick Lytle followed with a double, and advanced to third when Ron Aukamp reached base on an error.

MIKE PHILLIPS singled in Lytle, and Jim Humphrey walked to load the bases. LaRocco also drew a pass, bringing an-

Palatine Catches Up With Haiduke, Tops St. Viator

Palatine evened the books with Jeff Haiduke last Wednesday night.

The stubby little St. Viator righthander hung a 4-2 licking on Claude Bailey's nine when the two clubs met earlier in the Legion season.

This time it was Hal Parmenter, stringbean Palatine southpaw who did the hanging; a four hit, 6-4 noose on the Lions. Haiduke, touched for only six hits himself, paid the price of a streak of wildness when Palatine scored the decisive go ahead run in the fourth inning.

Parmenter suffered through early troubles, St. Viator did all its scoring in the second and third innings, but finished strongly by blanking the Lions over the last four frames.

PALATINE broke on top in the first when Dick Radzak, moved up to the leadoff slot in this game, opened with a single. Butch Mummert flied to right, and Radzak took second after the catch. Tom Dettinger slapped a single to produce the run.

St. Viator evened it in the second on a single by Haiduke, a stolen base and a hit by Joey Sanchez.

Palatine took a temporary 3-1 lead in the third. With one out, Radzak again singled. Mummert drew a pass and, as Dettinger was fanning, the pair pulled a double steal. Danny Leimann singled to score both runners.

ST. VIATOR came back quickly. Tim Walinski opened their third with a single. Don Knudsen forced him, but Ron Bakalar singled and both runners scored on Chuck Heinrich's triple. Sanchez came up with his second hit, and the Lions led, 4-3.

Haiduke's wildness in the four cost him dearly. He walked Howie Baker leading off. After George Gilreath flied to left, Tom Shaw also walked. Parmenter forced Shaw, but Radzak also walked to fill the bases. Mummert delivered a clutch two run single to give Palatine a 5-4 advantage.

Palatine's final run came in the sixth when Jerry Scalpone singled as a pinch hitter, stole second and scored on Parmenter's double.

Score by Innings

JIM VIDT, St. Viator first baseman, connects with a Hal Parmenter serving in Legion play between the Lions and Palatine last Wednesday at St. Viator. Palatine overcame a 4-3 deficit with a pair of runs in the fourth and another in the sixth to take a 6-4 decision.

New Boys' Rec Program Opens

A new summer recreation program, including wrestling, tumbling and free play, is under way in the Mount Prospect Park District.

The program, which began June 24, will run through August 9, and will be open to boys in High School District 214, Palatine and Des Plaines.

fee of $5 will be charged to all boys who do not live in the Mount Prospect Park District.

Daily sessions, from 3 to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday, are held at the Prospect High fieldhouse, on Foundry Road in Mount Prospect.

Hal Henson, head wrestling coach at Forest View High, is in charge of the program. He said between 15 and 45 boys have attended the daily sessions so far.

Boys interested in the program are asked to report to the fieldhouse and ask for Henson, or may call him at CL 5-9360. Daily attendance is not required.

"This program is designed strictly for recreation," said Henson. "We provide the opportunity for boys to learn tumbling and wrestling skills, but the emphasis is no fun."

Boys who live outside the Mount Prospect Park District may make fee checks payable to the park district.

Northwest Colt Baseball

Cubs Help Sox Take Loop Lead

The Mount Prospect Sox, undefeated in six outings, got a boost from the Mount Prospect Cubs Sunday, to move into first place in the Northwest Suburban Colt League.

While the Sox blasted Niles Number Two, 11-4, the Cubs knocked off previously unbeaten Niles Number One, 8-4.

Don Greco and Greg Kowal led the Sox eight-hit attack with two safeties apiece.

CRAIG THOMAS fanned 14 in hurling a five-hitter for his second win of the year.

The Sox picked up two runs in the first inning on a pair of walks and Clif McCauley's single. Tim Rogers drove in another with a double in the second, and scored himself later in the inning on Dave White's sacrifice fly.

Kowal's single highlighted a two-run third inning rally, and four more runs came over in the sixth on three passes and hits by Thomas, Greg Melzer and Kowal. Melzer's bases loaded single was the key blow.

Greco's single brought in the final two tallies in the seventh.

RICK HENDERSON'S three-hitter stopped the Niles Number One club for the Cubs. Rick also blasted a homer to pace the Cub attack.

Catcher Rick Froemling had a field day behind the plate, cutting down four runners with bullet throws on attempted steals.

Tom Clow (two hits), Marty Ryan and Steve Carponelli paced the Cub attack.

Tom Grafton's Two-Hitter Is Third in Row

Big Tom Grafton's two-hit pitching sparked the Braves to a 12-4 win over the Orioles in the tight Mount Prospect Pony League race.

The win was Grafton's third straight, including a no-hitter and a pair of two-hitters.

The Braves collected 12 hits in the rout, including triples by Joe Koza, Jim Simoni, Frank Covello and Rex Peterson.

After Ralph Kaspari walked to re-load the bases, Geller unloaded his three-bagger for the final three runs of the frame.

Mount Prospect picked up another run in the third when LaRocco scored Phillips from third on a sacrifice fly.

A walk and four singles brought in all three Northlake runs in the third inning with LaRocco on the mound.

"NONE OF the balls were hit hard," said Coach Al Glover. "But I figured it was a hot day and I would give Henry a rest."

Wilkes finished up by scattering three hits over the last four innings. He struck out six in picking up his third win of the season. He has lost one.

Every man on Glover's team saw action in the game as Mount Prospect banged out 12 safeties in all but failed to score in the final innings.

Mount Prospect now owns a 5-3-1 record and is in second place in the league standings behind Arlington and Park Ridge.

The Prospectors play Des Plaines at home this Wednesday and Park Ridge on Saturday in another home match.

Monday, they travel to Palatine for a single game there.

Minors Swan Song?

Minor league baseball, Class A and under, has been on its deathbed for years. It might well be taken out of its misery in the next couple of months.

If the lower structure of the minors does crumble suddenly, and the majors have expected and are preparing for it, it will be rather ironic. Rather than major league TV, long considered to be arsonic for the minors, it now appears that the death blow may result from a union between the majors and colleges.

Theories in scouting have changed in the last ten years. No longer are the top prospects found on high school diamonds and sandlots. The oldtimers go from force of habit, and the newcomers sharpen up their scouting eyes on the sandlots, but the top scouts spend their afternoons on campuses.

The old method was to sign up a kid at 17 and ship him off to Class D. If it took him six or seven years to climb the ladder, he was still young enough.

The modern approach is to sign him at 20 or 21 off the campus, push him into the higher minors and harvest him two or three years later. Obviously, this is choking the lower linors.

The only problem the scouts have encountered to date, is that they haven't made themselves very popular with college coaches. So many good boys have signed after their sophomore year, that coaches shudder when they see a scout in the stands.

There has been talk, just talk, about setting up a draft system comparable to the ones that have proved so successful in football and basketball. This would eliminate both the raiding and the bidding wars. Apparently, this is too sane a plan for baseball to rush into without five or ten years of consideration.

ANOTHER POSSIBLE solution is the union mentioned earlier. If it catches on, its bye, bye minors. The romance is called the College Baseball Federation. It's a kind of on the job training.

The pilot league began play in mid-Illinois just last weekend, and already Commissioner Ford Frick has given the Federation the green light to start planning leagues on a coast-to-coast basis.

Top man in the Federation is Bob Stewart, the Athletic Director at St. Louis University. There are just six teams, Champaign-Urbana, Bloomington, Peoria, Springfield, Lincoln and Galesburg, in the league this year. It can be assumed that if the league gets a foothold, they will go to eight next year.

This was not set up to be either a local or a one year proposition. Stewart and his associates have rounded up top talent and big name college coaches.

Equally important, they did not restrict their selections to Illinois or the midwest. There are goodly numbers from the East, the South and the Southwest, and you can bet that if the pilot league is successful, that they will make good salesmen when they go home.

Another factor that attests to the planning that went into this league, is the forty game schedule they are playing. Peoria, Bloomington and Springfield have all had and lost minor league baseball. A schedule of this length, or perhaps a little longer, is enough to keep an edge on the fans appetite, without being so long as to demand an extra attraction put fans in the parks.

Since they have rounded up the best of the college market, it is not unreasonable to believe that this league is of about Class A calibre.

So when the Federation branches out in a couple of years, it must inevitably bump heads with the lower minors. When that happens, it will win because it has a better product to sell.

Brothers Byrning Up Loop

Mike and Jack Byrnes combined their brotherly talents to give the Sox a 9-0 win over the Senators in Rolling Meadows Boys Baseball last week.

Mike pitched shutout ball and fanned 10 in gaining the win. Brother Jack hammered a two-run homer. Guzek took the loss for the Senators.

THE CUBS edged the Braves, 4-3, with Mike O'Donnell picking up the win. Ken Kennedy and Ed Corey banged out three hits apiece for the Cubs.

Paul Lloyd took the loss for the Braves. Mike Gorman and Bill Maffy led the loser's attack with a pair of safeties each.

Bob Batchlor fired a two-hitter as the Giants clobbered the Cardinals, 10-2. Batchlor fanned 11 in the fine effort.

John O'Malley and Bob Reynolds drove in five runs between them to lead the Giant attack. O'Malley, who went three for three, drove in two runs, and Reynolds drove in three more with a pair of triples.

ORESKOVICH absorbed the loss for the Cards.

In other action — brief as it was — the Athletics won on forfeit from the Tigers. The Tiger manager forfeited the tilt after one of his players was banished for throwing a bat.

The American League took Sunday's All-Star game, 13-7, avenging last year's loss to the National Leaguers, and evening the series at one game apiece.

Seven NL errors combined with 11 AL hits to make the difference.

JOHNNY Caltagirone, Joey Parsetich and Mike Byrnes each hurled three innings for the winners, with Caltagirone getting credit for the win.

Pat Corrado, one of four National League hurlers to see action, was charged with the loss. Bob Batchlor, Bob Gaddini and John Macior also saw action.

The big blow of the game was a three-run second inning homer by Senator All-Star Mike Otto. Jack Byrnes of the Sox had two hits.

Arlington Drops Opening Meet in Swimming League

The Arlington Heights Park District swimming team played host to Northbrook last week in its first Northern Illinois Swimming Conference meet of the 1963 season and suffered a 271-224 setback.

Arlington swimmers collected 18 first place ribbons, 26 seconds, and 21 thirds. The leaders for Arlington were Barb Raasch and Tom O'Gara with three victories each and Nancy Crawford with two. The other swimmers collecting 1st place ribbons were Narrys, Scudder, Behrens, Schuler, Dalton, Brown, Hughes, Rogers, Johannesen and Spomer.

The meets scheduled for the remainder of the seabon have Arlington traveling to Park Ridge on July 10 and Des Plaines on July 17. The next two meets are at home with a non-conference meet against Wheaton on July 22 and a conference meet with Broadview on July 24.

The team then travels to Broadview for the Eastern Division Championship meet on July 30 and 31.

On August 5 Arlington travels to Wheaton for a triangular meet with Wheaton and Bensenville. The swimming season concludes with the Northern Illinois Swimming Conference Meet at Barrington on August 6 and 7.

Seventh Annual Drag Races Set For Union Grove

The seventh annual Interstate Championship Drag Races will be held Thursday, the 4th of July, at the Great Lakes Dragaway, Union Grove, Wisc. This annual race pits the top drivers and machines from both states in one of the hottest contested drag race events in the nation.

Illinois leads 4 to 2 in the series with Wisconsin only two wins being in 1960 and 1962.

The first three years it was all Illinois, but the experience learned during these three years paid of and only a narrow victory in 1961 prevented Wisconsin from evening the series at 3-all.

Wisconsin appears the strongest in the nitro-fuel dragster division while the edge in the gas dragster division has to go to Illinois. Wisconsin has a twin engine gas dragster driven by John Tunion of Milwaukee and if he could come through it would give Wisconsin a good chance to notch its third victory in the series.

Over 250 cars are expected to compete as well as a large array of motorcycles, from stock to twin engine racers.

This will be the first major event motorcycles will compete in since their return to drag racing competition last Sunday after a two-year absence.

Time trials start at 9:00 a.m. with racing beginning at 2:00 p.m.

The dragstrip is located 20 miles south of Milwaukee, 12 miles north of the Wisconsin-Ilinois State line on Highway 45 at Union Grove, Wis.

a two-run homer but it was not enough.

AGAINST Recreation, Greens unloaded a barrage of extra base hits as Frank Bianca hit three home runs and Clark Sims one. Two of Bianca's homers were three-run blasts. Scott Warman and Jim Spellin each collected four hits apiece in Greens 21-hit attack.

Hasbrook pulled out a close game over Recreation 11-8. Being held scoreless for three innings, Hasbrook finally caught fire and pushed across nine runs in the last two innings. Terry Tagge's three hits and Mike Blasey's double and triple placed the Hasbrook scoring in the final inning. John Comford and Nonee Santos each homered for Recreation.

In their final game, Evergreen was no problem for Hasbrook as it scored an easy 11-3 victory. Once again Terry Togge topped the hitting with a three-run homer to climax a six-run fourth inning. Evergreen managed to collect only four hits off Hasbrook pitcher Eric Stein. One of those hits was a two-run triple by Ken Belenski.

RECREATION managed to record their first victory of the year by beating Virginia 4-3. Recreation scored all their runs in the first inning on three hits and three errors. John Comford supplied two of Recreation's seven hits, including a two-run double in the first inning.

In the final game, Evergreen forfeited to Virginia because an ineligible player was on the team.

Bill Strom, Schuster Finish 1-2

Bill Strom of Milwaukee got out in front Sunday night at Waukegan Speedway and the Modified drivers just couldn't catch him for 30 laps.

Bob Karry and Johnny Reimer got into a tangle early in the event and were never able to catch the leaders.

Ted Schuster of Zion finished second in the thriller with Junior Dodd of Waukegan third, Paul Coen, Milwaukee, fourth; Jimmy Lawrence of Bristol, fifth and Jim Bozeman, Cudihy, sixth. The time: 8.72:17.

Scores as Hot as Temperature

Bill Behrens was as hot as the 97 degree tee off temperatures Monday evening in the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 981 Golf League.

His 37-9 gave him a net 26 to take low medalist honors. Red Koelling had a 40-7 for a net 33, and president Fred Mensch fired a 42-10 net 32.

The title race tightened up considerably with the loop leading Demarets taking four out of seven points from second place Hagens.

Vardans moved from third into a tie for second by taking six straight points.

Nelson Tops Entries in Stock Event

All-Time Point Leader To Drive '63 Plymouth

Norm Nelson, Racine, Wis., leader in the all-time national point standings for late model stock cars in the United States Auto Club, heads the list of six entries received for the 200 mile national championship late model stock car race at the Wisconsin State Fair park, Sunday, July 14. Nelson will drive a 1963 Plymouth, one of two he has had prepared for the race here.

Other entries have been received from Elmer Musgrave, Niles, Ill. (1963 Mercruy); Sal Tovella (1963 Ford) and Skeetz Wyman (1962 Ford), both of Chicago; Dave Lundman, Libertyville, Ill. (1963 Ford), and Mike Pangborn, Milwaukee (1962 Chevrolet).

A year ago Nelson ranked third in the United States Auto Club late model standings; he was second in 1961, and was the champion in 1960. Musgrave ranked fourth in the national ratings a year ago and recently set new track records for one lap and 100 laps at the Illiana Speedway, Schereville, Ind.

NELSON HAS won eight late model stock car races at state fair park since August, 1948 and has competed in 47 of 49 races at the one mile paved oval here. His total prize money winnings here have amounted to more than $52,000. Nelson's most recent victory at state fair park was in the Sept., 1962 250 mile stock car race, the third time he has won that event.

Race director Tom Marchese expects more than 50 entries will vie for the 40 starting positions in time trials. A year ago, Don White, Keokuk, Ia. won the race and with it a record-smashing payoff of $5,059. White's entry in a 1963 Zecol-Lubaid Ford is expected.

Time trials on Sunday raceday expected to start at 12:30 p. m., race lines up at 2:30 p. m., Central Daylight Saving Time. Tickets at Wisconsin Auto Racing, Inc., 1200 S. First Street, Milwaukee 4, Wis.

Schmitt Edges Vidt In Tight Mound Duel

Danny Schmitt tossed a clutch five-hitter and Rich Beck and Bill Guttschow supplied the punch as Mount Prospect Post 525 edged St. Viator, 4-3 in Ninth District American Legion baseball last week.

Schmitt outdueled the Lion's Jim Vidt in a game that was close all the way. Danny fannde 10 and walked four. Vidt, a rangy lefthander, struck out only four, and walked three others, but gave up only one earned run.

MOUNT PROSPECT took an early 3-0 lead in the second inning on a double by Guttschow, an error, Jim Humphrey's runscoring base knock, a couple of infield grounders, and a two-run single by Beck, who banged out three hits in the game.

The winning run came in the fifth frame when Bob Geller reached first on an error, and scored on Guttschow's three-bagger.

St. Viator got to Schmitt for single runs in the third, fifth and sixth innings. Only two runs were earned, however.

MIKE GRACZYK'S lead off triple opened the door to the first Lion run in the third. Schmitt fanned both Tom Ostermann and Gary Drabant, but gave up a single to Ron Bakalar to let in the run.

Graczyk also sparked the fifth inning rally with a leadoff single. Ron Aukamp, playing third base, booted Osterman's grounder to put runners on first and second.

Drabant walked to load the bases, but Bakalar fanned for the first out. Chuck Heinrich's infield grounder brought in Graczyk with the second St. Viator run.

The final tally came in the sixth on singles by Jay Chaiser and Joe Sanchez, a walk to Graczyk, and a fielder's choice.

Tom Kelly Has Big Week In Meadows Pony League

Tom Kelly had quite a week for the Roling Meadows Pony League B team.

Tom fired a no-hitter in turning back Lake Zurich, 9-0, and ame back later to pick up a relief win as the Jets edged Maryville, 9-8, in extra innings.

In the later tilt, Kelly contributed three of his team's six hits and drove in a pair of runs.

Rick Prucha drove in a pair of runs with two safeties to lead the attack in the Lake Zurich tilt.

Rick Sawyer scored the winning run in the Maryville tilt when Mike Lebben jockeyed long enough in a run down between second and third to draw a wild throw from the Maryville catcher.

Sawyer also drilled a pair of hits in the Maryville tilt. Prucha and Mike Lebben shared the mound duties with Kelly.

Four Race Nights Set for Holidays At O'Hare Field

The busiest weekend of auto racing thrills thus far this year is coming up at O'Hare Stadium, Mannheim and Irving Park Roads, with four big shows slated for the Fourth of July holidays.

Starting with the July 4 date itself, there will be racing Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday with the first race nightly at 8:30 p.m. To further commemorate the holiday, O'Hare will offer its annual fireworks display for two nights, Thursday and Friday, for the first time.

Both nights the racing will feature the fast and furious late model convertibles as well as the crowd pleasing amateur Cadets. A highlight Friday night will be O'Hare's first "Firecracker 100" lapper for the converts — all 1959-63 models.

Saturday will, as usual, also present convertible and Cadet action with Sunday racing devoted to the Cadets plus men versus women in the exciting Chariot division. O'Hare each night offers twin main events with over 40 cars in action in these races alone.

Arlington's Legion Nine Coasts, 12-1

Merle Guild Post 208 Rolls Past Mt. Prospect

Merle Guild Post 208 of Arlington Heights exploded for 15 hits and 12 runs last week in a crushing 12-1 conquest of neighboring Mount Prospect.

Coach Llyod Meyer's Arlington crew didn't start the fireworks until the third inning but pushed over four in that frame and coasted in with another Ninth District decision.

Arlington laced out eight hits good for six runs in an explosive sixth.

Southpaw Paul Splittorff toiled for the victors and scattered five hits over the seven innings. Right hander Tom Wilkes, who had won two straight games, was kayoed by the productive Arlington attack and absorbed the reversal.

Shortstop Mike Frase and left fielder Steve Martin paced Merle Guild's offense with three hits each. Mike rapped a homer, scored three, and drove in three runs.

An error opened the door for a four-run third inning with Steve Martin and Howie Winkelhake contributing the base hits. Arlington posted two more in the fourth with Frase's four-base clout the big blow. lington added six more in the Local Track Club Among The Leaders

Tom Bremner and Larry Bogart turned in creditable performances for the newly-formed Prospect Track and Field Club last week at Chicago's Stagg Field.

Bremner took a second in the 120-yard high hurdles and came back to finish third in the 180-yard low hurdles in the Central AAU championships.

Bogart finished third in the high hurdles in the AAU meet, and a few days later captured a second in the high hurdles at the University of Chicago Track Club's open meet.

John Zasadny finished second in the pole vault at the U of C meet, and teammate Dave Gobeille ended up tied for second in the high jump in the later meet.

The club is open to men and boys of area suburbs, and meets at 6:30 p.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays at the Prospect High track. There is no fee, but participants are asked to provide their own shoes, shorts and towels.

Pan Fishing Reports Good In Wisconsin

MADISON, WIS., (UPI)—Pan fish were beating their bigger brothers to the bait last week, according to the conservation department's report on Wisconsin fishing.

Perch took the angling honors, with Lake Winebago giving up many 1 to 1½ pound jumbos to the fishermen, and 35 counties reported pan fishing good to excellent.

Lake Nelson in Sawyer County produced one 11 pounder and a 10 pounder to take the prize for the largest walleye catches.

Muskey fishermen took a 32 pound whopper out of the Chippewa flowage and Taylor County reported several catches running 40 inches or better.

Small mouth bass were opening wide for the hook in Door County and the artful trout found dryflies to their taste on the Brule in Douglas County.

Hofbrau Remains On Top

Hofbrau managed to stay in first place in the Arlington Classic 16-inch softball League by defeating Chesney's Democrats in a close game 14-11.

Arlington Lanes are in second place only one game behind. Lanes defeated Arlington Gardens 10-4 and Scuba won over Sigwalts 14-4.

The Pioneers registered their second win of the season by edging out the Pure Oil Firebirds 15-11.

Thompson Is Named Head Of Boosters

Earl Thompson, 412 N. Pine, Mount Prospect, is the new president of the Prospect Knights Boosters Club. He succeeds Walter Strobel, who headed the club this year.

Thompson, former treasurer of the club which supports athletics at Prospect High, was elected at the annual meeting last week.

Other new officers are Mrs. Alice Kowal, Paul Kivland and John Haight, vice presidents; Charles Hughson, treasurer; and Mrs. Ruth Lytle, secretary.

Following the election, Thompson announced the appointment of Strobel to the board of directors.

Thompson also said the Boosters would continue its service program to Prospect athletics, including several new projects now under consideration.

The club also amended its bylaws, changing the date of the annual meeting to the night of the annual Spring Sports Awards Night in May. The change was made to allow more club members to participate in election of club officers.

Ties Force Playoff In Wheeling Slow Pitch

Multiple ties for first place forced playoffs this week in the first round of both divisions of the Wheeling Park District Men's Slow Pitch softball league.

Babiarz Builders, Welflin's Sporting Goods and Palatine Demos wound up tied for the loop lead in the Red Division.

IN THE BLUE Division, Jeffery Lanes and Frank and Stubs ended up in a two-way tie for first place. Playoff games are set for this week.

Second half action will start Monday. and continue every night of the week for five weeks.

Last week, the Demos demolished McDonald, 20-5; and Babiarz outslugged the same club, 12-10, in Red Division action.

Frank and Stubs took Schuler's Hardware, 18-5, and St. John's edged Schuler's, 1-0, in the Blue Division.

Hitters Sparkle in Busy Little League Week

Second Round Play Continues

It was a week for the hitters in Arlington Heights' extensive Little League program.

Although there were some fine pitching stints by the young moundsmen, the offensive attacks grabbed most of the headlines in seven busy days.

The circuits are engaged in second round activity with only a few first half title chases still to be settled.

The weatherman tossed in some rain last week but most of the leagues enjoyed clear skies with several games reported.

Senior

Any bouquets for offensive performances in the week would have to include the Bears and Hawks who staged a real donnybrook in the Senior League.

The Bears stopped the Hawks 20-16 although out-hit 15-9. The Hawks tossed in ten errors. Jim Jorgensen sparkled for the losers with five hits, including two triples and two doubles. Kleinhuizen got the win with Jim Bashleben absorbing the setback.

Swanezy pitched a two-hitter as the Redlegs clubbed the Lions 9-3. Hogan and Kirchoff delivered triples in this one.

Dave Lockwood slammed a three-run homer to give the Browns a 3-0 victory over the Bears. Pat Martin was the winning pitcher in the duel with Kleinhuizen.

The Indians took advantage of several walks to dump the Hawks 6-3. The losers outhit the Hawks 7-3. Kroll bested Welton with the winner also collecting two safeties.

Tossi Tops Redlegs

Barry Tossi was the winning pitcher as the Bears whipped the Redlegs 10-4. Kleinhuizen blasted a home run for the Bears, and Nastal, Tossi, and Webber had triples. The Redlegs stranded 10 base runners.

A seven-run fourth inning carried the Hawks to an 11-6 victory over the Lions with Rettberg besting Young. The Browns came up with five runs in the third and went on to whip the Redlegs 8-5. Rosholt got the win.

Cole was the winner, yielding only three hits, as the Indians got by the Lions 6-2.

Varsity I

Jim Donchess and Jim Millay shared mound duties as the Rams dumped the Knights 12-8, and Tom Epperly was the winner in the Rams' 10-2 victory over the Phillies.

The Knights edged the Orioles 4-2 with Williams the winner. Taylor hit a homer and Gleason a triple in this one.

Varsity II

In another explosive outing the Generals bombed the Pelicans 18-2 as Steve Hedberg picked up the pitching triumph. Koeneman hit a home run.

Dassonville fanned eight and didn't walk a man in pitching the Raiders to an impressive 4-2 victory over the Vikings. Ploetz of the losers had two hits and an unassisted double play. Ducey and Gunnison each rapped out two safeties for the Vikings.

Booming bats gave the Falcons a 13-3 conquest of the Pelicans with Rasek supported with a 13-hit attack. The Generals exploded for eight runs in the fourth inning and stopped the Eagles 8-1. Steve Hedburg got the win.

The Eagles jumped off to a quick 8-0 lead after two and one-half innings and coasted in with a 10-5 victory. Pregent was the winner with Collins, Brune, Predik, and Tully accounting for all nine hits and eight of the Eagles' 10 runs.

A thrilling six-run rally in the seventh inning gave the Falcons a 9-9 tie with the Generals. Ron Hulls contributed a bases-loaded triple for the key blow. Hedberg's triple and homer were the big blows for the Generals.

American

McDonald bested Splittorff in the Yankees' 11-7 victory over the Senators. Whitnell had three hits for the Senators, and McDonald collected a trio for the Yankees.

Hits by Malcolmson, Pampel, and Schmelzer and a throwing error sent in four runs in the first inning, and the Athletics held on for a 4-3 victory over the Tigers. Schmelzer gave up three hits and struck out nine in besting Somers.

Rain washed out a duel between Foreman and Jim Kenny as the White Sox and Tigers battled to a 1-1 deadlock.

The Yankees won their third straight in second half play with a 5-2 triumph over the Red Sox. Graham topped Chaps. The Senators came up with two runs in the seventh and stopped the White Sox 4-2. Schott's homer was the decisive blow with McDougal getting the win.

National

Blasey yielded three hits in four innings as the Cardinals blanked the Cubs 1-0. The winners scored their lone run in the opening frame.

Kanak topped Trahan in the Braves' 6-2 victory over the Angels. Ebner hit a home run for the losers.

Summers cracked a home run and Steve Leet delivered two triples in the Twins' convincing 10-1 victory over the Dodgers. Leet also picked up the mound decision in the contest that was cut short by rain.

Dolejs twirled a four-hit shutout and the Pirates stopped the Giants, 1-0, and the Cardinals used only six hits to good advantage in a 9-2 victory over the Twins. Balinski was the winner and he also slammed a home run. Sowka had a four-bagger for the Twins.

The Cubs delivered 10 hits and rocked the Pirates 10-1 with "Butch" Adkins flipping a four-hitter.

Rucker Sparkles

Brad Rucker pitched a no-hitter, faning 10, as the Giants clipped the Angels 9-0. Mike Cooper was the loser although he did fan 12 in his stint.

Scoring three runs in the third inning, the Braves stopped the Dodgers 3-1 with Spink the winner.

North Blue Intermediate

A seven-run third inning was all the Bruins needed in a 9-1 victory over the Doves. Marszelek was the winning pitcher with a yield of only three hits. The Hornets edged the Mohawks 3-2 with no oth- details.

The Mounties scored 10 runs in the first four innings of a 10-3 victory over the Colonels. Lommer bested Bumback.

Guftuson was the winning pitcher as the Mohawks bombed the Mounties 14-6, tallying nine runs in the fifth inning. Murdock blasted two home runs in sparking the Doves to a 7-6 victory over the Hornets. His sixth inning blast decided the contest. Obuchowski and Esty also slammed four-baggers in this one.

North White Intermediate

The Pioneers fought back from a 5-1 deficit but still dropped a 7-6 decision to the Comets. Mohr was the winner. Pettenuzzo cracked out four straight hits, including a home run, in leading the Redbirds to a one-sided 17-5 victory over the Saints. The winners tallied 14 runs in the first two frames for pitcher Hogan.

Although they outhit the Saints 15-2, the Celtics still had some trouble posting a 7-3 victory. Ross was the winning pitcher with Michon delivering a home run.

The Pioneers edged the Broncs 9-8. No other details were available.

The Lancers bounced back from a 4-0 deficit and handled the Triplets 6-4. Jones bested Wilson with Hall blasting a triple for the losers.

Mueller bested Radcliffe as the Tripletts slipped by the Broncs 7-6.

South Blue Intermediate

Pierre was the winning pitcher as the Dons hammered the Chargers 11-3. Scheck blasted a home run in the sixth inning to give the Rangers a 3-2 victory over the Ravens. Anton was the winner with Wierman suffering the reversal although yielding only two safeties.

A single run in the fourth inning gave the Dons a 4-3 victory over the Stars. Butler picked up the pitching decision.

The Rangers belted the Chargers 9-5 in a game played under protest. Ron Lewan picked up the win. The Seals edged the Ravens 7-5 with Moore fanning seven in the victory. Schroeder came on in relief and fanned the final hitter. Duro struck out 10. Gleickman had a home run.

South White Intermediate

Collecting only four hits, the Ramblers still bombed the Solons 17-3 with Farr picking up the win. The winners scored eight runs in the fifth inning.

Len Tylitszki pitched a fine one-hitter as the Ramblers stopped the Barons 3-0. The game was called by rain in the fourth inning.

Tom Barrett worked on the hill for the Solons in a 6-4 victory over the Huskies. Richard Ring hit a home run in the second inning.

In a four-inning affair the Terriers slipped past the Huskies 9-8 with Jim Heinz the winner. Reno had a home run. The Bearcats bumped the Terriers 11-8 with Steputis the winning pitcher. Bratko blasted one out of the park in this game.

In games with no details reported the Barons handled the Royals 9-6, the Royals stopped the Marlins 8-3, and the Royals and Solons played to a 3-3 tie.

In final action the Marlins came up with 11 runs in the last two innings and stopped the Bearcats 13-6. Lynch was the winner with Hymes, Stahl, and Priss (names were hard to read; managers should print game reports) collecting home runs.

North Blue Juniors

The Gulls and Blues battled to a 4-4 deadlock in a game cut short by rain, and the Blues rocked the Mets 21-2 with 12 runs in the first two innings, ten in the initial frame. Minchu was the winning pitcher.

An 11-hit attack carried the Badgers to an 8-4 victory over the Millers and Bob Obst picked up the pitching decision. Roger Obst had a grand slam homer, and Carpenter and Klein also delivered four-baggers.

In keeping with the explosive week the Mets outlasted the Sox 15-10. Lett got the win and he cracked a bases loaded double in the first inning.

Ed Carpenter drove in Gorey with the winning run as the Millers stopped the Sox 4-3, and the Badgers routed the Chicks 13-5 with a 13-hit attack. Locascio had a home run and Church a triple.

Ecoring eight runs in the first two innings, the Larks went on to dump the Chicks 9-5. Spinks bested Welnhofer on the mound with Preib blasting a double and triple for the losers.

North White Juniors

In an unusual game the Astros edged the Gophers 20-19 although the losers came up with 12 runs in the final inning. Eighteen of the game's 39 counters were tallied in that final stanza. T. Zasek of the Astros had two home runs, including a grand slam, and Zare of the Gophers also delivered a pair.

Robby Husted's third inning triple with the bases loaded triggered a 10-run uprising as the Bisons dumped the Bees, 11-6. Oster, who pitched all the way for the winners, registered his fifth victory of the season. Dean Taggart, with three hits, was outstanding for the Bees.

Kroll bested Chase as the Owls stopped the Robins 8-1 in a rain-abbreviated outing, and the Bees rocked the Robins 15-4 with seven runs in the first inning. Steingrader had a grand slam homer for the winners with Taggart claiming the pitching decision.

The Gophers broke up a tight game with seven runs in the fourth and fifth innings and socked the Owls 9-2. Zare was the winning pitcher.

A 13-run second inning sent the Astros to a convincing 14-4 conquest of the Bisons. Larry Hogan was the winning pitcher and he twirled a neat one-hitter, a scratch safety with the bases loaded that brought in the initial run.

South Blue Juniors

Chhck Donchess smashed a homer and Scott Swanezy had a triple for the long blow in the Wrens' 14-5 victory over the Colts. Taylor was the winning pitcher.

An explosive first inning saw the Oaks tally 18 runs and roll over the Spartans 23-5. B. Koerner bested Kramer on the mound. Rettberg got the decision as the Oaks edged the Beavers 12-10. Michalson rapped a double and grand slam homer for offensive honors.

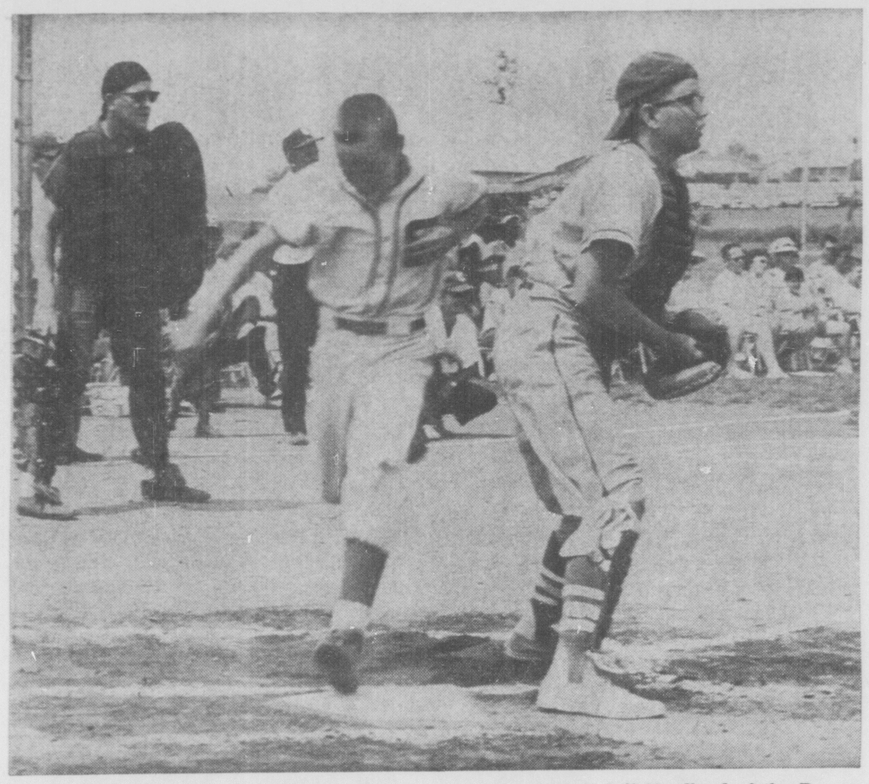
In another wild affair the Wrens smashed the Spartans 20-2 with McGrath the winning pitcher. The Colts scored nine runs in the final inning to beat the Gems 10-9. Wilson was the winner.

South White Juniors

Pat O'Hara yielded five hits in pitching the Atoms to a 7-5 victory over the Buckeyes, and the Jets edged the Jays 5-4. No other details were available from the latter contest.

A single run in the sixth inning gave the Atoms a 9-8 victory over the Stags with Mike O'Hara claiming the win, and the Buckeyes slapped down the Jays 9-6 behind the one-hit slants of Richard Cronauer. Bill VanderBoom, Mark Mannion, and Roy Brooks collected triples.

In final action the Padres edged the Jets 6-5.



MIKE OTTO OF THE SENATORS crosses the plate after smashing a three-run homer for the American League in Rolling Meadows' Boys' Baseball Annual All-Star game. Patiently waiting for the throw is National League catcher Jeff Nordlund of the Braves. Harold Kees is the umpire. The American League evened the series at one game each with a 13-7 victory.

Tennis Sessions Staged at Four Arlington Sites

The first of two four week tennis sessions sponsored by the Arlington Heights Park District began recently with 300 young players receiving instruction regularly.

Instructing at four teaching sites are Bob Vormittag of Maine East High School, Pioneer Park; Glen Elms of Miner Junior High, Arlington High School; Bob Inman of Harvard College, Dryden school; and Russ Walters of Miami College, Recreation Park.

Approximately 40 advanced students receive daily instruction at the high school under the direction of Coach Ken Schaler. They compete freely for the top positions on the challenge ladder and for the chance to represent Arlington Heights in actual competition.

Last week the class journeyed to Waukegan and lost a close match, 9-8. Arlington waloped New Trier at home, 17-4.

The top 25-players on the ladder are:

(1) Bob Von Boeckmann; (2) Bill Sayre; (3) John Jarecki; (4) Brian Burke; (5) John Brost; (6) Ernie Lockwood; (7) Dave Milligan; (8) Mary Lou Jakubiec; (9) Clem Clemans; (10) Dennis Conrad; (11) Jim Whitnell; (12) Matt Weeg; (13) John Thoreson; (14) Tom Bohac; (15) Jim Buchholz; (16) Craig Butler; (17) Dave Harris; (18) Tom Hemnes; (19) Scott Schneberger; (20) Curt Haines; (21) Paul Colianni; (22) John Blomquist; (23) Bob Millhauser; (24) John Lewis; (25) Jeff Atkins.

While a student at Michigan State, Spartan tennis coach Stan Drobac won the No. 1 Big Ten singles title and was ranked fourth in the Midwest behind three nationally-ranked players.

3 All-Star Games Set For July 4

The Senior, Varsity and Major Leagues in the Arlington Heights Baseball Program will feature three All-Star games this Thursday, July 4, at Pioneer Park.

The first game will be played at 12 noon at the Number 4 diamond and it will involve the All-Stars from the American League versus the All-Stars of the National League. Following this nine inning affair, the Varsity I and Varsity II All-Stars will take over the No. 4 diamond at 3 p.m.

At the same time, the Senior League All-Stars will battle the champions of the first half of the schedule, the Indians. This also will be a nine inning affair.

THE MANAGERS of each league selected the boys who are to play. Each team will be represented on the All-Star team with plenty of talent at all positions. As happens when any All-Star team is chosen, many fine ball players were left off but the boys who were selected form a fine representation of each league. All of the boys must play at least three consecutive innings.

The teams involved will be managed by the following men: Indians, Bob LeStarge; Senior All-Stars, Al Radcliffe; Varsity I, Lynn Gleason; Varsity II, Howard Jarvis and Bob Loner; American, Boots McDougall; National, Bill Gunnison and Claud Leet.

All boys, parents and baseball fans are invited and urged to attend these ball games as the players show their skills.

Majors — 12 Noon — Pioneer 4
Varsity — 3 p.m. — Pioneer 4
Senior — 3 p.m. — Pioneer 4

Rain, Dust, Fire Halts Pony Tilt

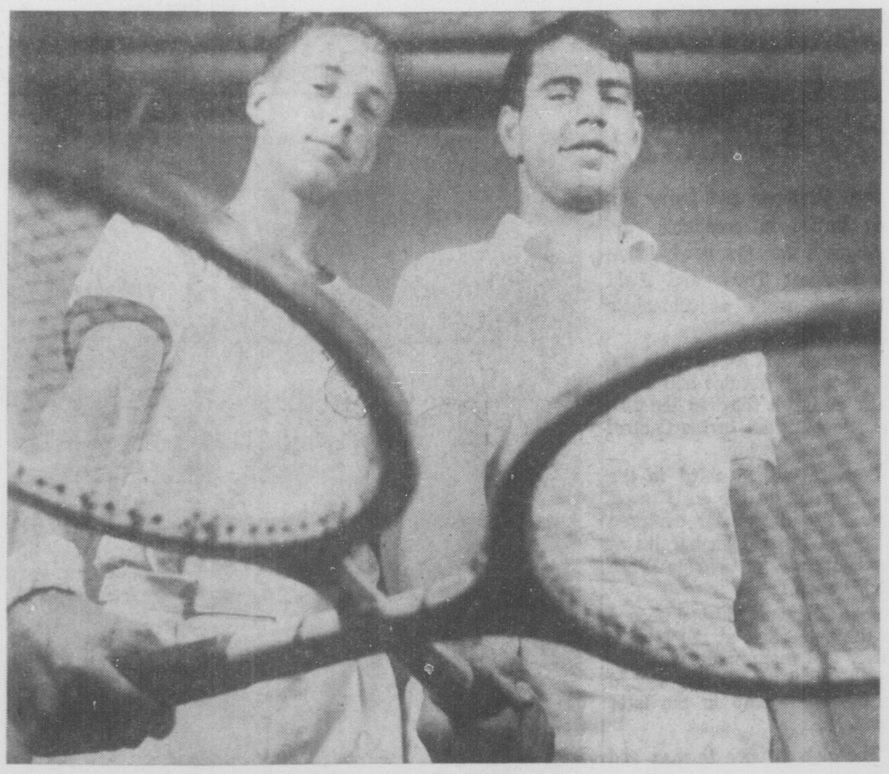
The Rolling Meadows — Elk Grove Pirates game ran into more trouble than it could handle in the Rolling Meadows Pony League last Thursday. A rain storm came on the heels of a dust storm to force postponement. As the teams raced from the field, they had to wait for the Rolling Meadows Fire Department to extinguish a blaze under the Salt Creek bridge that leads to the playing fields.

Softball for Girls Planned

Any girl who wishes to join a girl's softball team should sign up with the park supervisor at either Recreation or Pioneer Park in Arlington Heights.

This year girl's teams are not being formed at each individual park.

A girl's 14-inch softball league has been formed with Mount Prospect, Des Plaines, Niles, and Park Ridge for junior high school girls.



REPRESENTING Arlington Heights in the Illinois Junior Chamber of Commerce tennis tournament this weekend at Rand Park in Des Plaines will be Rick Wollerman (left) and Chuck Close. They will play in both singles and doubels in the 18-and-under division of the tourney that runs July 5, 6, 7. Four winners in each flight will advance to Provost, Utah in August for the national tournament. Close and Wollerman were selected by the Arlington jaycees for the tourney. Chuck teamed with Russ Walters to win the Illinois prep doubles title last spring, and Wollerman also lettered on Arlington's powerful varsity tennis squad, runnerup to New Trier in the state finals. Seleski Tops St. Emily's With Net 30

Also Claims Low Gross; Keefer's Starting Move?

It is getting to be a habit, in the St. Emily's golf league, but once again Paul Seleski turned in his usual fine round to take low gross for the night with a 36 as well as low net with a 30.

The 6th hole was one for the birds Friday night as Vince Shields, Burt Leipzig, and Bill O'Connell all got theirs on the old trouble hole while Tom Burlage found No. 5 to be his pet to score his bird.

Al Paneral, who has always given the league a run of exceptionally fine golf, played his last night with the league since he is being transferred to Carlsbad, New Mexico. We all wish the best to Al and are sure the folks out West will have as much trouble beating Al as we did.

THE STANDINGS for the week again found some juggling in the lower ranks as Keefer's Pharmacy moved out smartly and pushed the Redwood Inn down from 4th to 6th place. Thunderbird Inn held their own in 5th while J & B Village Meat Market and Jim's Standard Service continue to try and catch the Prospect Plaza Bank who refuses to give an inch.

Though J & B Village Meat Market plays very fine golf, they cannot seem to close the gap on first place which now stands at 13 points. It is beginning to look doubtful whether there is anyone that will be able to catch the bank.

This week seems to be a very decisive one since it will be position night, which give the meat market boys a very clean shot at first. If these teams split points or the bank takes the edge, it could be all over already. The following list of the standings will explain why:

Prospect Plaza Bank	75
J & B Village Meat Mkt.	62
Jim's Standard Service	54
Keefer's Pharmacy	50½
Thunderbird Bowl	45½
Redwood Inn	44½
Jake's Pizza	40½
Don's Barber Shop	34

Keefer's Rolls Past Kruse's in Tuesday Loop Position Night

The Mount Prospect Twilight League Tuesday division met last week in the first "position night" of the season and when the results were tallied there was a considerable interchange of names among the league leaders.

The most surprising turn of events was the south trouncing administered league leading Kruse's Tavern and Restaurant by second place Keefer's Pharmacy. The two had not met previously in the regular schedule so there was no real basis of comparison but it appeared as if Kruse's suddenly fell apart as Keefer's walloped them 8-2 and moved into first place by half a point.

Third and fourth place teams also exchanged places as the Wille Lumber team rose to the opportunity and clobbered Annen and Busse Realtors 8-2. This enabled the resurgent Lumbermen to move one notch up in the standings to third place.

KIRCHHOFF Insurance remained in fifth after tying Phil's Pure Oil 5-5, but Phil's dropped to seventh when Mount Prospect Electric Construction Co. set down the stumbling Licht's Paint Store aggregation 8-2 and moved into sixth.

In the remaining contests Golden Isle Restaurant edged Illinois Range 6-4 and Winkelman's Shell Service moved out of the cellar position after defeating Mount Prospect Bowling Lanes 7-3.

Individual contests in the crucial Kruse versus Keefer conflict went as follows: Ed Stofft of the Pharmacists took three points from Fred Jilek who never got off the pad. Dave Shean settled gladly for 1½ points while Art Hammerstrom of the Schlitzers had to be content with half a point.

Warren Vander Voort of Keefer's won two from alternate Paul Gunter and Harry Patton took half a point from alernate Ches Spak who was the best point winner for Kruse's wih 1½ points. Keefer's was awarded the final point for low team net.

LOW shooters for the night were Commissioner Walt Peterson, senior citizen of the league, with a 38, and Clark Robinson and Gene Raasch with 39s. Raasch's 39 included an eagle on the tough par five first hole and a birdie on the eighth.

Other birdies were reported by J. Driscoll No. 3, A. Hammerstrom and H. Patton No. 9, R. Hawkinson No. 12 and 13, C. Robinson No. 13, H. Dodd No. 14, W. Double, W. Christensen and R. Becker No. 15.

Team standings, June 25:

Keefer's Pharmacy	52½
Kruse's Tavern	52
Willie Lumber and Fuel	50½

Carl's Wins Key Match in Monday Golf Competition

Carl's Food Shop and Mount Prospect State Bank tangled on Prospect Monday league and Carl's remained in first place by 1½ points. Mount Prospect avings and loan moved up to second position as the Bankers dropped to third.

Morton Pontiac remained in fourth position just 5 points out of the lead.

Birdies were registered by Gus caKknon hole 3, Dick Fox on hole 4, Paul Saleski on hole 8, Bob Milligan on 10, George O'Day on 16 and Carl Hammerl on 18.

At the half-way point the leading players are as follows:

Zurawski Enjoys Big Day

Thad Zurawski stole a little of the thunder from the high flying Klehm's Nursery last week when he drove in 15 runs to his team, the Blanks to an upset 33-23, victory over Joe's Barons in the Elk Grove Men's Softball league.

Klehm's made it nine in a row, and increased their league lead to two games by pounding Tom Edward's Sting Rays, 12-6, and the Salt Creek Golf Club, 13-7.

In other games, the Chargers, now tied for second with a 7-2 mark, whipped the Sting Rays, 15-8, and Champa Construction, 10-4. Salt Creek bounced back to take a 17-3 verdict of the Centex Cougars.

Long Ford, tied with the Chargers in the standings, put in a hitting display in both of their games. They trounced the Willow Lane Black Cats, 28-8, and gave Champa the same, 22-11.

In the final game on the schedule, Joe's Barons bombed Willow Lane, 1-3.

Fran's Our Man

Michigan State's head track coach Fran Dittrich won three track letters, was elected team captain and was twice named to the All-American team while a student at MSU.

USING THE LONG IRON, Chuck Pedersen's hands come into the ball through the follow-through, finishing high and in line with the target. The grip must remain firm from the beginning of the backswing until the completion of the follow-through. (Staff photo).

Long Irons Valuable on Windy Days

(This is the third in a series of golf lessons from Chuck Pedersen, Class A PGA professional at Rolling Green Country Club. The subject of this week's column is "Hitting Long Irons for Distance and Accuracy.")

by CHUCK PEDERSEN

Long irons have proven valuable in winning tournaments. Arnold Palmer credited his win in the British Open last year to his number one iron, and his victory in the American Golf Classic at the Firestone Country Club in Ohio to his number two iron.

Both championships came on windy weekends, days when fairway woods tend to climb high, reducing distance and accuracy. Properly hit long irons will keep the ball low and long into the wind.

The most important point in hitting long irons is a firm grip, a grip that remains firm from the start of the swing until the completion of the follow through.

A little loosness in the grip is permissible when using a driver or a short iron. The shot can still be hit fairly well. But the long irons demand a firm grip.

The long iron stance would be open with the body weight evenly distributed. The backswing should be slow and in a straight line, similar to a seven iron swung in tempo.

The downswing should be firm and right through the ball. Keep the right elbow as close as possible to the body, and at the same time, turn the hips rhythmically into the shot to avoid forcing the swing.

Note how my hands come into the ball through my follow-through (as illustrated above). The hands finish high and in line with the target. This is a must for distance and accuracy with the long irons.

I don't recommend that the average golfer use the one and two irons until they become proficient through practice. The reason for this is that the average player will have a problem getting distance and height. It is better for the novice to use the four wood.

The veteran golfer can hit the shot low or high with the long irons, depending on the situation. Mastering the long irons will help immeasurably with the rest of your game.

Flo Coleman Tops Class A

St. Raymond's Women's Golf League's Event of the Day was Low Putts. At Mount Prospect Country Club in the 18-hole division, Flo Coleman took Class A honors with 30 putts. Virginia Ide needed just 33 putts to win in the Class B field, and Mary Frans had 31 to win in Class C.

Golfers 'Off' in Loop Play

Although it was a perfect night for golf the scores left something to be desired for most of the golfers in the Arlington Heights Twilight Golf League.

Only four players were able to break forty but Stan Luczak captured low gross honors with his 37. Low net was shared by Joe Bodor and Roger Roggatz each having a 33 and collecting three points for their respective teams.

Bass Moves Fisherman Up in Derby

Walter Schulte of 212 N. William, Mount Prospect, recently hooked a 4 pound 3 ounce 19½ inch small mouth bass at Crawling Stone Lake in Lac du Flambeau, Wis.

Schulte, who is vacationing at his summer home in Lac du Flambeau entered his catch in the Vilas county Chamber of Commerce fishing derby and moved into second place in the bass division.

WALTER SCHULTE

Schutle caught his bass while night fishing with a spinning tackle and using a night crawler for bait.

The county-sponsored derby encourages vacationers and fishermen who catch fish within the county to enter them in the contest. Trophies will be awarded to the top three fishermen in the Walleye, Musky, Northern, Bass and Panfish divisions.

Set Track Mark

Michigan State's 1963 freshman four-mile relay team broke by four-tenths of a second the existing national collegiate frosh mark of 17:19.1, set by Houston a year earlier.

Ross Fires 41 In Hoffman Golf; Monroe in Third

Bill Ross shot a hot 41 with one out of bounds to bag low net for the week in the Hoffman Men's League encounters. Monroe Auto Equipment lowered the boom on Jim Brewner's Jupiter Cleaners to capture low team net with 184 and move into third place, just four points out of first.

Roselle State Bank held onto the lead despite bowing 10-6 to Tony's Sinclair. Ray Larson fired a 37 to cop low gross in leading his five to their win.

Plaza Shell and Rainbow Inn met head-on in a clash for second place, but the Rainbow five fell to fourth place behind Monroe despite edging their rivals 8½-7½. Captain Earl Conrad and number one man Bob Boedecker led their colorful crew with 38's to lead the way, and Bill Arrington picked up two points, but they were hurt by an absentee and Hank Styczykowski's 2½-½ win over Nick Chochron.

Repositioning looms again shortly as the season heads into the final third.

Challenge Ready for Launching struction of what is believed to be the largest aluminum sailboat ever built in the United States has been completed by the Burger Boat Co., in Manitowoc.

The 64-foot sloop was christined Challenge by its owner, George F. Johnson, Ardmore, Pa., who will sail it out of Chestertown, Md., on the Chesapeake Bay.

The Challenge has an auxiliary power plant consisting of a 62 horsepower motor which will drive the ship at eight to 10 knots.

The mast stands 80 feet above the deck and the sloop rig carries 15 sails. The main sail is 940 square feet in size. Some 13 tons of lead were poured into the molded box keel to maintain stability.

Arnolds Record Net 29, Claim Tourney Crown

A record-setting sixty couples braved the 90 degree heat on Sunday to compete in the Husband and Wife tournament of the Mount Prospect Twilight League at the Mount Prospect Country Club.

The tournament, an annual affair of the league, is a two-ball foursome event in which husband and wife hit alternate shots. Winners are determined by the Peoria handicapping system.

First place winners this year with a gross of 45 and a net of 29 were Arlene and Len Arnold. Audrey and Gene Raasch took second place and Mary and Bud Springer wound up in third.

Audrey and Gene Raasch were low gross winners with a record-breaking 41.

Chairman of the event was Walt Lyman, junior vice president of the league.

Lumbermen Move Into Friday Lead

Wheeling Lumber has stepped out to a four and one-half point lead in the Friday night golf league at Arlington Country Club with Goetz Upholstery in the runnerup position.

The lumbermen's lead is the greatest enjoyed by a division member this year.

Tom Durand captured low gross with a 38 while low net went to Russ Knight with a 32.

Birdies were very few with No. 8 suffering the main assault as Forslund, Goetz, and Wood pocketed their birds on this hole. Tom Watt collected birdies on No. 2 and No. 8.

Wisconsin Announces Deer Laws

MADISON, WIS., (UPI)—Regulations for Wisconsin deer hunting have been officially set, the Wisconsin Conservation Dept. has announced.

This year's deer season will basically be a nine-day buck hunt from Nov. 23 through Dec. 1. It will also feature an experimental approach to the new variable quota ideal, with 5,600 either-sex permits to be issued for five diferent locations.

Another important exception to the buck rule will be a two-day either-sex season in 28 agricultural counties along the Mississippi River and in Southern and East Central Wisconsin.

A two-day either sex season Nov. 23 and 24 will be followed by seven days of buck hunting in these counties: Manitowoc, Calumet, Sheboygan, Washington, Ozaukee, Fond Du Lac, Dodge, Pierce, Dunn, Pepin, Buffalo, Trempealeau and La Crosse.

Also included are Eau Claire county west of highway 12, Jackson county west of highways 12 and 27, Monroe west of 27 and 33 and Vernon west of 131.

The season will close after two days of either-sex hunting in Crawford, Grant, Lafayette, Dane, Green, Jefferson, Waukesha, Rock, Walworth, Racine and Kenosha counties.

Nearly all agricultural counties will require shotguns, with exceptions to be detailed in the regulation pamphlet, the Conservation Dept. said.

Ordinance No. 915

AN ORDINANCE AMENDING THE VILLAGE OF MOUNT PROSPECT ZONING ORDINANCE RELATING TO PROPERTY 731 FT. SOUTHEASTERLY FROM BUSSE ROAD ON THE NORTH SIDE OF ALGONQUIN ROAD

WHEREAS, the Board of Appeals of the Village of Mount Prospect, sitting as a Zoning Commission at a public meeting duly called and held according to law (Appeal No. 63-14), considered the question of reclassifying the real estate hereinafter described from R-1 (Single Family Residential) to B-2 (Business), and

WHEREAS, the President and Board of Trustees of the Village of Mount Prospect, having considered the recommendation of said Zoning Board of Appeals, find and believe that the highest and best use of said real estate is that of B-2 (Business).

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT ORDAINED by the President and Board of Trustees of the Village of Mount Prospect, Cook County, Illinois:

Section 1. That an ordinance entitled "Zoning Ordinance of Mount Prospect" passed and approved April 2, 1963, and known as Ordinance No. 898, and subsequently amended to date hereof, be amended by reclassifying the following described real estate from R-1 (Single Family Residential) to B-2 (Business)

West Parcel—That part of Lot 1 in Friedrich Busse Jr., Division of Land in Section 23, Township 41 North, Range 11, East of the Third Principal Meridian, as per plat recorded February 20, 1911 as Document No. 4709799, described as follows: Commencing at a point in the West line of said Lot 1, 448.65 feet South of the Northwest corner thereof; thence East on the South line of the North 448.65 feet of Lot 1, 100 feet; thence South parallel to the West Line of Lot 1, 373.79 feet to the Southerly line of Lot 1, being the center line of Algonquin Road, as laid out in Friedrich Busse Jr. Division of Land; thence Northwesterly along the Southerly line of Lot 1,112.35 feet to the Southwest corner of said Lot 1; thence North on the West Line of Lot 1, 321.24 feet to the place of beginning, in Cook County, Illinois.

East Parcel—That part of Lot 1 in Friedrich Busse Jr. Division of Land in Section 23; Township 41 North, Range 11, East of the Third Principal Meridian, as per plat recorded on February 20, 1911, as Document No. 4709799, described as follows: Commencing at a point in the South Line of the North 448.65 Feet of said Lot 1, 100 feet East of the West Line thereof; running thence East along the South Line of the North 448.65 feet of Lot 1, 100 feet; thence South on a line parallel with the West Line of Lot 1, 426.34 Feet to the Southerly line of Lot 1, being the center line of Algonquin Road, thence Northwesterly along the Southerly line of Lot 1, 112.35 Feet to an intersection with a line 100 feet East of and parallel with the West Line of said Lot 1; thence North along said parallel line 373.79 feet to the point of beginning, in Cook County, Illinois.

Section 2. That said real estate as reclassified shall be subject to all the limitations and conditions placed upon properties in the B-2 (Business district) as defined in the ordinances aforementioned.

Section 3. That any person, firm or corporation who violates, disobeys, omits, neglects or refuses to comply with or who resists the enforcement of any of the provisions of this ordinance shall be fined not more than One Hundred ($100.00) Dollars for each offense, and each day that a violation is permitted to exist shall constitute a separate offense.

Section 4. That this ordinance shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage, approval and publication, according to law.

PASSED this 25th day of June, 1963.

Leo M. Faetz Retires From Quaker Oats Co.

Leo M. Faetz, 610 E. Sha-Bonee Trail, Mount Prospect, retired June 30 after 44 years with The Quaker Oats Co. He has been manager of the insurance department for the past 16 years.

Faetz asked to be relieved of his responsibilities in order to devote more time to personal interests. His services will continue to be available to the company for consultation and special assignments.

LEO M. FAETZ

HIS FIRST job at Quaker Oats was in the sales department, when he was 16 years old. He was promoted to the insurance department three years later, and became assistant to the department manager in 1937. He was promoted to manager in 1947.

Mr. and Mrs. Faetz will continue to make their home in Mount Prospect, as they have since 1949. A member of the American Bowling Congress "first family," he, his brother and their late father were all world champions. He is an honorary lifetime member of the Classic bowling league, and was nominated to bowling's Hall of Fame in 1961.

He is a past vice president of the Midwest Insurance Buyers Association and a past director of the American Society of Insurance Management. He is also a member of the workman's compensation committee of the Illinois Manufacturers Association.

In Mount Prospect, he is active in Little League and in the affairs of St. Raymond's Catholic Church. (BB

500 Attend Annual N. Ill. Gas Meeting

Approximately 500 stockholders and guests attended Northern Illinois Gas Co.'s annual stockholder meeting in Glenbard East high School in Lombard, June 25.

All nine NI-Gas directors were re-elected. Stockholders also ratified the board of directors' appointment of Arthur Andersen & Co. as independent auditors for the company for 1963.

For the third year in a row, a stockholder proposal relating to preemptive rights was rejected by the shareowners.

A rate reduction of about $1 million annually was announced by NI-Gas early last month to be effective July 1, the second year in a row the company has made a reduction of that amount. The utility's 3,500 employes also received wage increases and promotions amounting to about $1 million a year. The most recent dividend increase, on May 1, 1963, will pass on an additional $1¼ million annually to stockholders.

Communities benefited through the company's area industrial development program. This activity, in cooperation with other firms and many interested state and local agencies, was an important factor in 252 industrial companies making arrangements to locate in the gas company's service territory in 1962. These new companies are bringing in an estimated total of 11,800 new jobs. (BB

New Homesites Located On Bluff Above Fox River

One hundred new homesites, all located on high bluff property overlooking picturesque Sleepy Hollow, just west of Dundee on Route 72, are now open to public purchase and building — according to recent announcement by Sleepy Hollow Inc.

The newly-opened area is prime-rated reserve property, never before offered in Sleepy Hollow. Located on a bluff approximately three hundred feet above the nearby Fox River, all sites are on high dry ground immediately south of the growing valley community, which now numbers over two hundred fifty families.

The property is slightly rolling and lightly wooded, and it is planned to plant more trees as the community grows.

IN SIZE, the new bluff sites range from one-half to three acres. Prices start at $3500 for a half-acre site.

All sites in the new area are completely staked out, numbered and recorded, ready for immediate sale. It is anticipated that most buyers will build at once, although many are expected to hold their property for future.

Raymond W. Hazecamp, nationally-known land planner and landscape architect, directed the contouring and layout work of the new 100-home addition to the community. As in preceding development of Sleepy Hollow, streets and roads will follow the natural terrain of the area, to provide safety-curved thoroughfares and retain as much of the area's natural appeal as possible.

This is in accord with the widely-publicized Sleepy Hollow "way of life," with its emphasis upon healthy outdoor activity, with plenty of room for comfortable living and a neighborly sharing of common interests.

WHILE PRIMARILY interested in the sale of land, for residential building by a firm of the purchaser's choice, the developers also offer a popular range of custom homes — ranches, split-levels and colonial models — priced from $23,000, plus site.

The newly-opened bluff area of Sleepy Hollow — and fully-furnished model homes — are open to inspection daily from 10 a.m. till dark. Entrance is on Higgins Road (Route 72) just west of Dundee, about one mile west of Route 31. (BB VIEW FROM BLUFF, overlooking part of Sleepy Hollow, picturesque residential community located on U.S. Route 72 about a mile west of Dundee. One hundred new bluff homesites are now open to public purchase in the gently rolling, lightly wooded area. All sites are on high, dry ground — range in size from one-half to three acres. (BB

Arlington Federal Pays Earnings

Arlington Heights Federal Savings and Loan Association will distribute $485,000 in earnings to its 17,000 savings customers on June 29, 1963.

Paul E. Collins, president of the $30 million institution, said that this total is an increase of 26 per cent above the $386,000 disbursed to savers at this same time last year and a 10 per cent rise above the December 1962 total of $440,000.

The $485,000 figure is based on the current annual rate paid on savings by Arlington Heights Federal Savings every six months.

This payment to savers represents the 21st consecutive semi-annual distribution of earnings by Arlington Heights Federal Savings to customers since 1953 for a total of $3,541,852. (BB

DEAR JOE:
Please call me at WAbash 2-7255

I CAN HELP YOU! During the past few years it has become increasingly difficult for home owners to get repair and remodeling work at reasonable prices. Expensive over-heads, high-priced, high-pressure salesmen, 'free-gift' gimmicks, etc. have taken a high toll in costs. My Alpine Construction Co. combats high prices by making it a policy to keep our over-head down, eliminate expensive high-pressure selling tactics and so-called 'free gifts'! I never have, and never will, make a big project out of a small job. I will always advise my friends and customers of the simplest, most inexpensive way to do their job.

My policy, here at Alpine, is to treat each individual estimate in a fair and reasonable manner. I firmly repeat that I will never employ the use of high-pressure selling tactics. When you call me for an estimate and discussion of your job I will send both a Sales Representative and a Construction Engineer to your home so as to make sure that you get beautiful remodeling, inexpensively priced!

It is important for you to know that my diversified financing service cannot be duplicated! Many of my customers deal only through my office with no bank mortgage company involved. My service to individuals purchasing on contract is unbelievable. Right now I am offering my lowest prices in two years on all remodeling work. This might seem foolish, right at the height of the remodeling season, but I want to make sure that all of my workmen have constant, steady work with no income peaks and valleys for them. In this way I am able to keep my full crews happy and contented. Thus, they in turn, extend their very best efforts for me.

I urge you to get the necessary repairs and remodeling for your home started now. All of my work is guaranteed in writing. So, why don't you call me today. Call WAbash 2-7255 for a free estimate. There is absolutely no obligation on your part.

Sincerely yours

Tell Films At Theatre

The Clark Theatre, 11 N. Clark, Chicago, has announced the schedule of films for the second five-week period of its 11th annual Film Festival.

Beginning Sunday, July 7, with the Greek film "Antigone" paired with the French "Candide," the Clark will present 70 more foreign and American films to complete the 10-week showing of 140 classics.

ON MONDAY, July 8, another Greek movie, "Stella," starring Melina Mercouri, is coupled with "Manon" from France. "Manon" was a Venice Film Festival Grand Prize winner.

Two American satires will be shown on Wednesday, the 10th, "Notorious Landlady" and "Will Success Spoil Rock Hunter?" based on the hit Broadway show.

The French "New Wave" will be represented on Friday, July 12, with Francois Truffaut's "Shoot the Piano Player" and "Five Day Lover."

Palmer to Star In 'Guys and Dolls'

A milestone in Santa's Village entertainment will be reached on Monday, Aug. 5, through Saturday, Aug. 10, when the Polar Dome presents Broadway musical comedy in the unique all-purpose arena.

The "Guys and Dolls" company coming to the Polar Dome has as its star the noted Broadway actor and singer, Peter Palmer, who has been seen in Chicago at the Drake Hotel, and last season starred in "Oklahoma!" at the St. Louis Municipal Opera.

Palmer is aided by an array of performers including Miss Cathy Emma, who appears as Sarah Brown. Miss Emma is best remembered as the star of the Artist Showcase Series over NBC, and as well, has appeared as soloist with the United States Steel Hour, and other important radio and television shows.

Seven performances of "Guys and Dolls" will be presented in the Santa's Village arena. It will be seen nightly Monday through Saturday at 8:30 p.m. and there will be a 2 p.m. matinee on Saturday, Aug. 10. (BILL

Good Bait For Ocelot: Walleye

MILWAUKEE, (UPI) — Scarab, the wildcat, was reunited with his master, Robert F. Wilson, 20, Tucson, Ariz., with the aid of a walleye pike.

Wilson, who brought the pet ocelot with him on a visit here, lost the young wildcat when the handle on its leash broke while he was walking it last Tuesday.

RICHARD C. Olney spotted the cat on top of a wood pile in his garage Saturday.

Olney contacted Wilson and the wildcat was coaxed into a cardboard box with the use of the walleye that Olney had brought home for the family supper. (A14

5 Plays Chosen For Next Season

Five recent Broadway successes will be presented by the Des Plaines Theatre Guild during the coming season, it was announced by Jane Clark, chairman of the 1963-64 play selection committee for the Guild.

First play of the season and first play to be presented in the new Guild Playhouse at 620 Lee St. in downtown Des Plaines, is "Critic's Choice," a sophisticated comedy, opening on Friday, Sept. 13 and playing on three week ends.

THE FOUR subsequent plays to be presented are: "Design for Murder," opening on Nov. 8; "Come Blow Your Horn," a light-hearted comedy starting Jan. 10; O'Neill's great drama, "A Touch of the Poet," in March; and finally, in May, a rollicking farce, "Everybody Loves Opal."

Members of Mrs. Clark's play selection committee included: Wilhelm Levander of Park Ridge; Julie Beall of Palatine; Frances Grose and Nancy Raus of Des Plaines; Jackie McDermott of Mount Prospect; Clare Wright, and Jim Bosley. (Bill

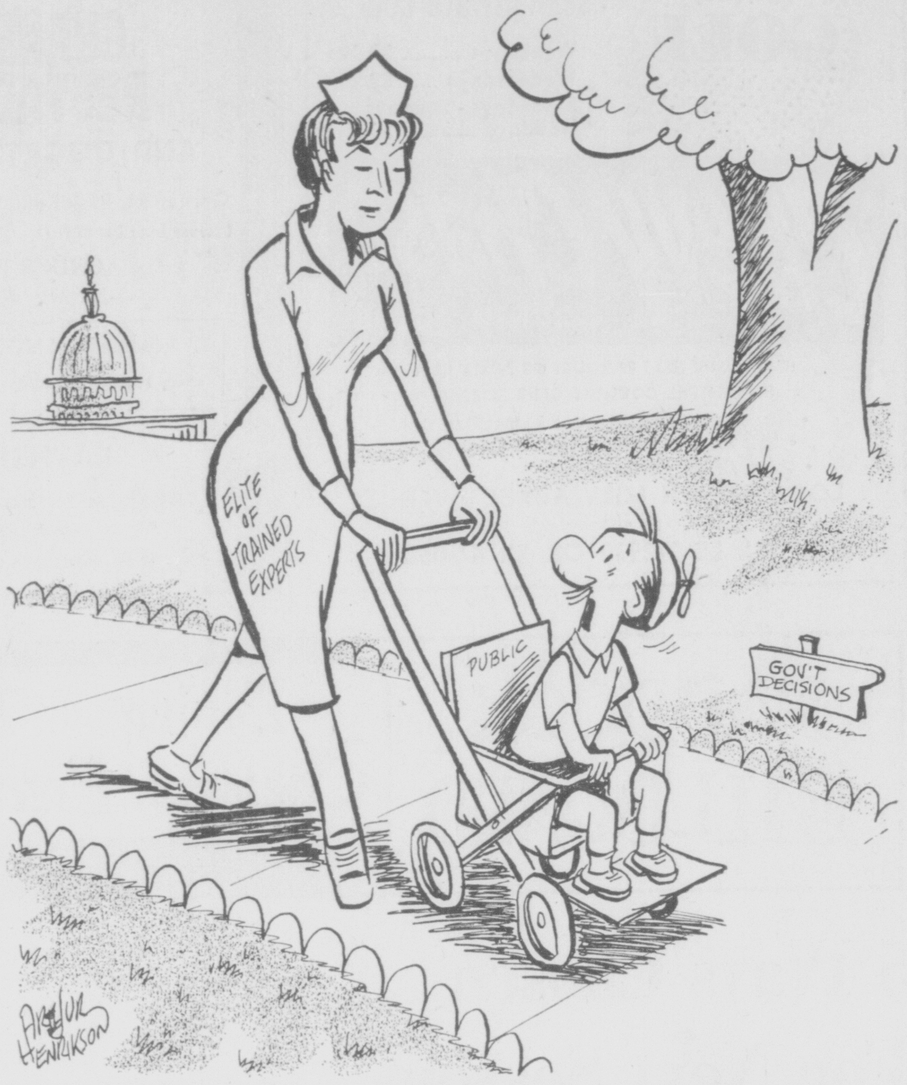
When Will I Get as Smart as You?



The Way We See It

Electorate & Elites

"The challenge to public education is nothing less than to prepare the individual for self-government, to cultivate his capacity for free inquiry and his more humane instincts, to teach him how rather than what to think . . ." — Sen. J. William Fulbright, "The Elite and the Electorate."

It seems appropriate with the arrival of the annual celebration of our national independence to consider some of the promises and pitfalls that lie ahead for our Republic.

The above quotation was taken from a paper published by the Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions in which Arkansas Sen. Fulbright joined Pennsylvania Sen. Joseph S. Clark, Pierre Mendes-France, former premier of France, and Viscount Hailsham, British Minister for Science, Leader of the House of Lords, in a discussion about the problems and possible future of democracy.

Senators Fulbright and Clark have both called for a strengthening of Presidential powers, and Clark seems to favor this at the expense of reducing the influence of legislatures over the affairs of state.

Sen. Clark's criticism of legislatures, in fact, caused a furor of controversy. He wrote: "It is the third branch of government, the legislative, where things have gone awry . . .This is the area where democratic government tends to break down. This is where the vested interest lobbies run riot, where conflict of interest rides unchecked, where demagoguery knows few bounds, where political lag keeps needed action a generation behind the times, where the nineteenth century still reigns supreme in committees, where ignorance is often at a premium and wisdom at a discount, where the evil influence of arrogant and corrupt political machines ignores most successfully the public interest, where the lust for patronage and favors for the faithful do the greatest damage to the public interest."

These words take on a special significance when one considers the recent spectacle of the Illinois legislature. But a more basic question to be considered is should power be taken from legislatures and given to the executive branch or should an attempt be made to reform the legislatures?

To weaken one branch of government while fortifying another poses a danger to our traditional system of checks and balances. Furthermore, it lends encouragement to the development of an elite. The transfer of power rather than the reform of legislatures might prove the easier move but not necessarily the wiser one.

Reapportionment, for instance, in which the tremendous problems of metropolitan growth would get a fair hearing is one area where reform is to be taken due to a Supreme Court ruling. As things now stand, rural-dominated legislatures have no concept or inclination to correct the vast regional complexities being created by continuing population shifts to urban centers.

An enlightened public can do much to demand better performances of their legislators. At the same time, it should be on guard against putting too much reliance on "expert" advice no matter how technical and complicated our society has become.

In fairness to Sen. Clark, it should be pointed out that he has called for a revision of legislative customs and traditions. For example, he suggests selection of committee chairmen on the basis of ability by secret ballot rather than the current practice of picking them according to seniority.

In a world whose events move with lightning swiftness, a government must respond with boldness and dispatch. For this reason, democratic governments are criticized for apparent inefficiency and drift. This implies an admiration — however grudging — of the totalitarian regime which sails a course cleared of dissent, dialogue and debate. But for the people to relinquish their prerogatives to a ruling elite in order to meet the challenge of a monolithic ideology is to adopt the very system we find so repugnant.

Sen. Fulbright also comments: "But in the choice of basic goals, the fundamental moral judgments that shape the life of a society, the judgment of trained elites is no more valid than the judgment of educated people. The knowledge of the navigator is essential to the conduct of a voyage, but his special skills have no relevance to the choice of whether to take the voyage and where we wish to go."

It is vital, however, to consider what kind of education is required for self-government. The emphasis in this technological age is being placed increasingly on a technical education; specialists of every breed are produced capable of solving all manner of problems in their particular discipline. But they are blind men when they stray from their sanctuaries.

What we need, as Adolph W. Schmidt, vice-president and governor of T. Mellon & Sons, Pittsburgh, and another participant in the discussion said, is not a technically trained citizenry but a liberally educated one.

We need, if free institutions are to survive, an electorate taught "how rather than what to think."

Piety in Public Schools

We were not displeased with the United States Supreme Court decision prohibiting Bible reading in the public schools.

Devotional exercises, even those labeled non-sectarian, are not a part of the educator's job. The public clearly insists that the educator transport the child, feed him at noon, adjust his personality, help him find a job, provide him with social experiences, and, in the process, teach him enough to enable his promotion. Undoubtedly many parents also would like to see the schools keep children overnight.

Persons who insist that the schools accept religious responsibilities are convinced that the nation's sagging moral standards are a result of waning parental discipline and negligible church influence. These alarmists grab at the one institution with required attendance and a seemingly unfaltering reputation for success. "Teach the children to be good," they say. And some say "Teach the children to be Christian." Others would say, "Teach the children to be our kind of Christian."

Having been instructed to do so, the teacher precedes arithmetic, spelling, and reading with ten Bible verses or a prayer dictated by the school board. And everyone sits back and relaxes, assured that all this chanting of pious prose will end immorality. If it doesn't, they can add the failure to the schools' shortcomings.

Another dangerous facet of this attempt to foist responsibility upon the schools is the demand for conformity. One does not want prayers, but standardized prayers. The teachers must be responsible, but they must not be trusted with the responsibility. This attitude need not stop with Bible reading but leads to the same demands in the academic subjects. What is to prevent standardized (and censored) book lists, standardized lectures, standardized political ideas in social science classes? The United States Supreme Court, we hope.

Critic's Corner

Legislature's Soiled Ways

by BOB SETLIK
Elk Grove Herald Editor

Like an aging chorus girl whose reputation has been soiled so many times that she no longer blushes, the Illinois General Assembly has muddled its way through another offensive exhibition.

The climax of the crass business came June 25 when the legislators voted to increase their salaries, less than a month after deciding that the state was being overly indulgent toward the poor, the unemployed, unwed mothers, and illegitimate children.

In a moving appeal, one senator called for rejection of the salary increase — "Look about you. How could you possibly get more competent people." You would not get better legislators if you paid $50,000 a year."

SETLIK

The bill was approved handily.

Those who argue that the real highlight was the Senate's voting to permit daily recitation in the schools of four lines from the "Star-Spangled Banner" have a good case.

REPORTEDLY, it was an attempt at rebuffing the Supreme Court for prohibiting religious ceremonies in public schools. I guess the Supreme Court now knows better than to cross the State of Illinois.

In another highlight, the deadlock on the birth control issue was broken by a compromise that allows state funds to be spent for contraceptives only for married women living with their husbands.

This category contains less than 20 per cent of public aid recipients, again showing the General Assembly's determination to get at the heart of a problem.

At times I marvel at the General Assembly's consistency.

It never waivers in putting sectional and partisan interests before the general welfare, or special interests before the public interest.

Gov. Kerner called for credit reform. The legislators obliged by adopting a bill that gives finance companies authority to charge a higher interest rate than formerly.

Never is there pretention that a piece of legislation will be considered on its merit. Reapportionment was a case in point. The Democrats worked to eliminate the Republicans; the Republicans worked as hard to eliminate the Democrats, and both found time to eliminate the public interest.

ANOTHER cardinal rule of the General Assembly — property rights before human rights — was observed when the legislators voted down an open occupancy bill.

Introduced were bills calling for the elimination of the United Nations flag on public buildings, boxing, and illegitimate children. The three bills failed — don't ask me why.

And, the chairman of the Public Aid Comission told the legislators what they all knew — the poor were being made into political pawns — and was fired for saying it.

Yes, like the aging chorus girl, the Illinois General Assembly has gone so far that it's becoming difficult to get indignant anymore.

Time to Say Goodbye

A Column of Farewell

by MARTIN E. MARTY

This week's column is at once the easiest and the hardest to write. It is easiest, because I did not have to read a book as a base for comment; it is hardest because it is time to say "good-bye" and I am a coward about such tasks. There it is, this task of saying farewell, so let's attempt it.

For exactly seven years we have lived in these northwest suburbs, and for the majority of them we have visited these pages weekly. The first half of this sentence implies considerable staying power in this age of mobility.

Our family had moved six times in five years before the move to the Northwest Territory; during these seven years we have begun to feel like fixtures.

For example, only three of the 31 ordained ministers of my denomination were here when we arrived. Given a couple more years I could perhaps have been "Dean of the Northwest Suburban Clergy of the Lutheran Church." I found out they don't give a gold watch or a diamond champion's belt for the honor; so it is time to move. Further, the engraving of my picture used to illustrate the column is wearing out, and I'll save the publisher the expense of getting a new one.

MARTY

SEVEN YEARS. "You must have liked it here," you might reasonably say and I might reasonably answer, "Yes." "Then how is it that you become known as a critic of the suburban way of life?" And I ask: "Aren't you one, too?" "But you don't share its assumptions!" I ask "What assumptions?" I share some of them, but I would be a very poor minister indeed (perhaps I am, anyhow) if I felt completely at ease with the assumptions of the environment. The minister — including the minister who writes columns — is supposed to get his signals "elsewhere." He is the partially deaf man who must listen in case God speaks; the stammerer who must stutter out "a word from the Lord"; the tone-deaf chorister who must sing God's new song. How can he "take his assumptions from the environment?"

I imagine the best editors are those who do not simply share the assumptions of the editorial environment and the best professors those who do not share the assumptions of the academic environment.

A milieu like the suburban has enough attractions; we do not have to be told to enjoy the air, the smell off the barbecue pit, the smiles of happy children, the remoteness from slums, the nearness to golf courses. We do have to be told, however, to make something of our environment.

In that spirit some of us busybodies try to bring some perspective of judgment on ourselves. So, too, many of you have borne with this comment weekly for some years and have encouraged us in the work.

Two personal words. I want to thank the Paddocks and the staff, especially Charles Hayes and Richard Hoffmann, for their encouragement. I must confess that as an urbanite I brought with me in May of 1956 all the acceptable stereotypes of what the suburban press must be.

Then I began reading articles here about migratory workers and poor and aged and did some revising of my thinking. Just as suburban clergy didn't have to sound like suburban clergy, so suburban press didn't have to sound like suburban press.

I ALSO WANT to thank my congregation. It has not seemed cricket to me to exploit my relation to the communities by using this "free space" to advertise my ministerial work and have studiously avoided reference to the congregation. Today it is not in bad taste to mention it. The people of Elk Grove's Lutheran Church of the Holy Spirit have been ungrudging and generous in permitting me to carry on extraordinary forms of ministry to church and world. To my recollection, they have supported the work constantly, consistently, unanimously. We shall never forget them.

I am sorry that the distractions of my plural careers kept me from keeping as close a relation as I may have liked to all the community leaders of the area, including the clergy. They have been generous, too, in most of their encouragement.

What have we tried to do? I would be embarrassed to speak in terms of the great causes or cosmic virtues like justice and truth and love. I'll bite off three smaller goals. Numbers of us have been working toward "civility" in the years of suburban change. I have hoped (and seen some fulfilment of that hope) that as our communities know religious, ethnic, and even racial change, we be not barbarians. That we draw on the resources of Christianity and Western civilization to make life as civil, dialogical, open, acceptant as possible.

THE SECOND virtue is "eucharistic." When I arrived here, people were still talking a good deal about "organization man" or, in church, "denominational man." We talked about the joyless, listless — but still compulsive —life of people on a treadmill, in a rat race. I think of such in terms of the Deadly Sin of Sloth which, in the Middle Ages did not mean laziness but "sadness in the face of spiritual good."

We have tried to point to the richness of the created order, to the style of life that grows out of "eucharist" — "thanksgiving." People with that style of life may be compassionate, understanding the needs of others when the needs are present.

Finally, "passion." Oh, I do not mean passion in the fanatic sense. I mean "passion" in the sense that we put words into action, that we move from analysis to doing. Kierkegaard said a century ago: "What our age lacks is not reflection but passion."

In this column we have tried to point to the need for both. Who are we, what are we here for, what are our hopes, what can we do about them? Auden's Jewess, Rosetta, criticizes the passionless who leave the field of emotion to the violent. The passionless? "Dowdy they'll die who have so dimly lived."

Civility, eucharist, passion—that will do; it still leaves the field of love, power, and justice to the editors and to scores of clergymen.

I HOPE THE years ahead will provide us numbers of opportunities to renew personal acquaintances (we are moving but a half hour away). I hope, from our side, that some of my non-Paddock writings will find their way into circles of debate in these suburbs.

We are packing off the Marty Mafia this week, moving to a fortress-sized house in Riverside. We will think back, and probably look back, fondly to the northwest. Thanks for listening.

Wonderful Future

Kollege of Kourtesy

by BOB CUMMINS

The Wall Street Journal reports that business firms are spending lots of time and money giving their employes training in courtesy.

One airline is spending $1 million a year on courtesy training for its ticket agents.

In businesses where pricing is non-competitive, such as the airlines, courtesy may be enough to give one company a decisive advantage over boorish rivals.

CUMMINS

Since socialism keeps creeping at one end and monopoly capitalism keeps monopolizing at the other end, the future of competition is dim. But that makes the future of courtesy all the brighter. Courtesy has a simply wonderful future.

If I become inclined to another career, I will establish a school of courtesy. The school might be called the Kollege of Kourtesy, in deference to the world of commerce which it would serve.

There will be a flock of problems in operating the Kollege of Kourtesy.

Take monetary grants from the government, for example. Any college worth its salt nowadays is involved in some sort of weapons research which is worth several million dollars a year at least.

But what use is a Kollege of Kourtesy to the Defense Department? I think we might be able to undertake a project for the armed services on saluting and other forms of military courtesy. However, I fear the project would not really be in the mainstream of the defense effort and thus would be worth at most only two or three million dollars annually.

The other chief area of federal support is for increasing crop yields. How can the Kollege of Kourtesy increase crop yields?

It has been established that playing soothing music to cows will induce them to give more milk, and even that wafting sweet music over a cornfield will make the corn grow taller.

But it seems a little ridiculous to ask a farmer to behave courteously to his cows in the hope of increasing their production. I am afraid the Kollege will be able to contribute little to increasing farm surpluses.

Another problem will be football recruiting. I anticipate a terrific problem of persuading high school football stars that they can realize their full athletic potential by playing for the Kollege of Kourtesy.

And what nickname could we give the Kollege's athletic teams? Names like Cougars and Blue Devils are downright inappropriate. Few things are more discourteous than a cougar or a blue devil.

How about "Diplomats"? They are courteous but often in an insincere way. "Preachers"? They are usually courteous, but at other times are demanding and, furthermore, they rebuke backsliders in a way that verges on discourtesy.

"Knights" comes fairly close to what is sought, but chivalry and courtesy are not quite the same thing. I suppose I will end up by calling the team "The Gents."

Some persons have told me they are repelled by the idea of a Kollege of Kourtesy.

"So much courtesy would be more than I could stand," they declare.

I assure them that their fear is groundless, for I am going to permit rude behavior by both students and professors. Thus the Kollege of Kourtesy will be known as a stronghold of academic freedom.

Unique Collection Grows

Bells Are Hobby of Suburb Mother

AN UNUSUAL COLLECTION of more than 200 bells of all sizes, shapes and materials from many parts of the world is one which has brought much pleasure to Mrs. Frank Kolerus, her family and friends. The bells are often used for special occasions and also add to the decor of the Kolerus home in Mount Prospect.

Family Helps With Project

by MELDA LYNN

Bells have played an important part in the history and tradition's of the Frank Kolerous family, Mount Prospect.

Ethel Kolerus, when a young bride in 1943 visited her husband serving Uncle Sam at a base in West Palm Beach, decided she wanted to make a purchase which would serve as a memento of the visit and could also be used in their home of the future.

She was browsing in a gift shop and found a decorative bell which she thought she could use as an accessory in their future home.

This purchase started a hobby which has brought pleasure to the family and has resulted in a collection of over 200 bells, all shapes and sizes, made of different types of materials, from many corners of the world.

Everywhere Ethel and her husband visited, they bought a bell to add to their collection. After 16-year-old Keith and 15-year-old Nancy came along, they too joined in the bell collecting fun with their parents. Trying to find a "bell for mama's collection" has become a highlight of family vacations over the years. Bells, family members soon learned, make exciting gift ideas.

Friends and relatives have also caught the spirit of the hobby and have remembered Ethel whenever they have been on vacations, in the United States or other parts of the world.

THE COLLECTION has many unusual bells, some with quite interesting histories. Take the string of graduated sized brass gongs from a mission in China. It was sent to Ethel by a missionary friend who served at the post for many years and was used to call services together and for other such occasions.

Ethel believes her bell collection or any other collection, is interesting to see, and it is educational to learn the background of each bell. However, she believes that whenever or wherever possible the collection should be put to use.

The bells from the Chinese mission were used recently by Nancy's Prospect High School class when they put on the production of "The Good Earth."

A bell which was obtained in Frank's native state of Wisconsin, and which has a history steeped in childhood memories for him and others, was used by a butcher who drove his ice wagon through the village daily. When he made fresh sausage, he would take it on his wagon and ring the bell to let the villagers know he was coming.

THIS BELL was used last spring in Mount Prospect to signal the beginning of an old fashioned Town Meeting.

Ethel Kolerus, who is executive secretary of the Northwest Suburban Chapter of the American Cancer Society, has loaned some of her smaller, push type bells, to bedfast cancer patients who use them to summon family members or others taking care of them.

Guests who help the Kolerus family see an old year out and a new one in, are all urged to choose the bell of their choice from the collection to ring at midnight.

Local Girl Scouts have used a number of the bells when they studied customs of other countries and made displays of those items.

Some of the other interesting bells in the collection include a small hand-carved teakwood bell from Indonesia; a brass bell sent by a friend stationed in Africa with the Strategic Air Command; a gong from India and a small brass bell from Holland.

SEVERAL BELLS are in the shape of china dolls which have Elizabethan gowns, the skirts forming the bell portions. One has a hand carved wooden head and body and a brass skirt. It was brought to her by a friend who visited in Sweden.

Two bells with handles fashioned into bears, the symbol of freedom in West Berlin, were sent to Ethel by friends who visited the area.

She has a Dresden bell which is a copy of the Freedom Bell of West Berlin, a bell featuring a handle of inlaid jade in the rough, a hand wrought silver bell made by some Indians in Wisconsin; clay bells, copper bells, a fine crystal bell from Czechoslovakia, and just about every kind of an animal bell.

THESE ANIMAL bells have been used by the lead animal in turkey flocks, goat, elephant and camel herds. A special elephant bell purchased during a vacation in Niagara Falls in 1958 was the mate to one bought for use by a delegate to the Republican National convention that year.

The collection even includes a compote for a centerpiece which has a bell for the base, several pairs of candleholders and charm bracelet bells.

One of the most prized additions to the collection, and also the newest, is a large bell which was used in the bell tower of Grimms Public School, Grimms, Wis., when Frank Kolerus attended school there.

The bell called children to school in the one-room building in the thriving community of 68 for 98 years. The school was recently torn down. Parts of the building and most of the contents were sold at auction.

FRANK'S SISTER purchased the litle old schoolhouse bell for Ethel and it now occupies a place of honor just outside the front door of the Kolerus home.

When the nation observes the special "Ring the Bells For Freedom" project on July 4th, Ethel plans to participate in the event by ringing this bell which is truly a part of the heritage of the family.

Ethel's bell colection fits in nicely with her husband's hobby, that of woodworking. He recently built a beautiful hutch type cabinet for one complete wall in the family dining room. At the top are two long shelves for the bells.

Others are used as accessories throughout the house. In the hallway hangs a string of sleighbells, which were really used on the horse and sleigh that furnished many hours of fun for Frank when he was a boy.

ETHEL BELIEVES her hobby has brought her and all members of her family a great deal of pleasure and interest. She finds looking at the bells is sometimes like a visit with friends and relatives as she notes the ones each sent to her and recalls many pleasant times the family had together during their vacation by noting a certain bell purchased at special places and events.

At the present time, Ethel, has not had much opportunity to study the history of bells, other than the more famous ones such as the Liberty Bell, Big Ben in London, the largest bell in the world, 'The Czar Kolokel in the Kremlin; the Bell of Mingoon in Burma and the "Great Paul" in the Cathedral of St. Paul in London.

Someday she hopes to devote more time to bell history and would like to participate in the activities and studies with members of the Chicago chapter of the American Bell Association.

ETHEL KOLERUS plans to make good use of newest addition to her bell collection on July 4th when she will help celebrate the day by ringing the little old school house bell which for 98 years called children of Grimms, Wis. to classes. Ethel's husband, Frank, attended the school when a small boy.

But until she finds this time, she will continue her interest in her collection, and in helping others she has interested in starting their own bell collection.

7th District Club Women Earn Plaudits in Service

Mrs. Myron R. Hartley, 214 S. Williams St., Mount Prospect, Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs Junior Director, states that the State Junior organization received nine awards from the General Federation for outstanding work this past year in various fields of work.

Mrs. Harold Thompson, 166 Ridgewood Road, Elk Grove Village, 7th District Junior Director, displayed the awards at the district board meeting. Two are top awards in the Public Affairs department under the Federation's "Clubwoman" magazine.

Seven are division awards, all under Public Affairs, in such fields as: citizenship, test, nationalities education, leadership mobilization and scholarships, international affairs and council of international clubs.

The latter includes hospitality programs for foreign students and visitors.

MRS. HARTLEY, has been chosen to serve on the nominating committee of the Mississippi Valley Conference, to which the 7th District is affiliated. The Mississippi Valley Conference meeting will take place in November in St. Louis.

Mrs. Lewis T. Smith, 10 Kenilworth, Prospect Heights, 7th District Public Welfare Chairman, in a report of the year's activities, has stated that 96,000 hours were spent on public welfare work by the Illinois clubs, and that 7,334 hours of that amount of time were spent by the 7th District, which includes 36 clubs in Northwest Cook County. Also, $31,000 was donated by the Illinois Federation for public welfare projects throughout the State, of which the 7th District donated $6,264.

Projects include Schools for Exceptional Children, Aid to Dependent Children, aid to welfare agencies, benefiting needy persons in the community (Christmas baskets, toys, clothing and help for migrant families), assistance for the aged, working with Senior Citizens, preparing and distributing gifts for state schools and hospitals, making cancer dressings, assisting handicapped children and adults and aiding handicapped university students.

Job's Daughters Honor Miss Lister

Bethel 103, Job's Daughters, Arlington Heights, welcomed Sherrie Lister, 115 Reuter, as Grand Representative to the State of Wisconsin, in Illinois, at its recent meeting. Miss Lister presented the scrapbook to Nancy Heilig, junior past honored queen, as the audience sang "Memories." At the organ was the sister of Sandra Larsen, senior princess, who is visiting here from South Carolina.

Dixie Alletto of Prospect Heights, honored queen, announced that at the next meeting on Wednesday, July 10, there will be an initiation and inspection. To get the honored queen's term off to a fine start, two petitions for membership were received.

LAST THURSDAY evening a committee met at the home of Bonnie Southard to form plans for a Bethel Newsletter.

On July 24, Bethel 103 will install Bonnie Birch as marshall and Genni Hengl as first messenger. These two girls were unable to be present at the public installation of officers on June 22.

Warn of Peril in Bootleg Fireworks

The 5th of July may well be a day of reckoning for parents and for children in the state as they face the prospect of a lifetime without an eye or a hand or some other equally tragic handicap caused by a fireworks explosion on the 4th of July.

Frank F. Fowle, president of the Illinois Society for the Prevention of Blindness, points ont that individual ownership and use of fireworks is illegal in Illinois. He further alerts all parents to the fact that there has been a tremendous increase in the amount of fireworks bootlegged into Illinois this year and in the accidents which have already occurred, involving fireworks.

"IT IS unfortunate that so many children unknowingly become involved in breaking a law which was passed for their physical protection. The tragedy of this is that many parents actually buy the fireworks for their children deluding themselves by thinking there is no danger since they themselves were not injured by fireworks when they were children," Fowle said.

Schools and police throughout Illinois are reporting serious incidents involving fireworks and the society urges all parents to exert great diligence in seeing that their children do not get fireworks of any kind.

Another serious danger to children are the safety flares, designed for use by motorists and railroad engineers in time of emergency. These are advertised by some stores for a "safe and sane 4th of July. Fowle asks, "What is either safe or sane in giving a child one of these flares which burn at 1,200 to 2,500 degrees fahrenheit?"

MANY OF THESE flares have a large steel spike in one end, strong enough to be driven into macadem or into a railroad tie. Any child running with a flare would certainly be subject to great injury if he fell for that steel spike could easily be driven into his body.

The society commends the individual local police departments throughout the state for their vigilance in enforcing the fireworks law but recognizes that they need the support of parents and all adults in each community in combating this problem.

Pubilc fireworks displays are held throughout the state so that young and old alike may celebrate their country's Independence Day without permanent, crippling injuries, the society pointed out.

Growing Up Casual

Seems to me I remember a cartoonist who did a thing called "That first baby" and then followed with "But, oh, that second baby." It was very funny. At least to me. Mine would be that first baby and then 18 years later, that last one.

With the first one, you hail the first teeth with shouts of joy. Like isn't it too clever of the little dear to go out and cut one. I even kept a baby book with all the "firsts." We almost forced her into taking her first steps. So we could brag. As for feeding herself, toilet training, and giving up the bottle, we were so firm and rigid it's a wonder the little thing didn't pack up her little kit bag and run away from home. Thinking that nobody loved her.

MARY

Then there was that first day of school when we cried a little bit. And the loss of the first tooth when we could hardly wait for her to go to sleep so the fairy could deposit the dime beneath the pillow. And on and on and on.

But, with each successive child, we became less and less enthusiastic about all these completely natural events.

It didn't take me very long with the rest of the children to decide that a toy dropped to the floor was not necessarily germ infested needing immediate sterilization. Or that a crust picked from the floor and consumed was going to bring on an acute attack of botulism or something.

It's a wonder that the last one has survived to the ripe old age of five. The little crumb walked at ten and a half months and the reason I remember the age is I hated him to be so mobile so early. When he cut his teeth, I was upset because he chewed up all the nipples on his bottle thereby making a big mess of everything. I was tempted to keep him in diapers and let his wife take care of the training department. He foiled me and trained himself.

He is entered in school for this year and the registering of him was a happy, happy milestone. A cause for joy all around. To show how casual I have become, not heartless, just inured to the growing up process, he lost his first tooth the other day and the fairy almost forgot to leave a coin. But the fairy rallied to the cause and came through. It was a near thing.

O'Donnells Mark 50th Anniversary

A special high mass in St. Raymond Catholic Church, with renewal of their wedding vows, a brunch and a reception marked the golden wedding anniversary of Mount Prospect residents, the Thomas O'Donnells, 121 S. Pine.

Their June 21 anniversary was observed Saturday, June 22, amid friends and family members who came from California and New York. Immediate family members attending the brunch in Old Orchard Country Club included all the couple's children and their families, plus Mrs. O'Donnell's sister and family, the Howard Farrells of Johnson City, N. Y., her brother and family, the Ambrose Dwyers of Lincolnwood, and Mr. O'Donnell's brother and family, the William O'Donnell's of Des Plaines.

THE COUPLE'S five children, Mrs. William Mountain of San Diego, Miss Dorothy O'Donnell of Beverly Hills, Calif., Mrs. Robert Schwass and Mrs. Frank Walsh of Des Plaines and Thomas Jr. of Santa Clar, Calif. and their families, which included 12 grandchildren, completed the family circle.

The afternoon and evening reception for the O'Donnells, who have lived in Mount Prospect for nine years, was held in the Des Plaines home of the Schwasses.

Pink and White Motif Chosen by Area Bride

Janice J. Clausing of Arlington Heights chose June 8 for her wedding day and planned a soft pink and white setting in St. Peter Lutheran Church for the 6:30 p.m. ceremony. The bride, daughter of the Walter W. Clausings of 717 S. Evergreen, was married to Richard A. Nelson of Belvidere, son of the C. Howard Hodges of Rockford.

Two vases of white glads and pink roses graced the church altar as the couple repeated their vows before the bride's uncle, Rev. Christ Clausing. Rev. Robert O. Bartz gave the sermonette.

PINK AND white formed the bride's bouquet as she came down the aisle on the arm of her father. She carried a cascade composed of 10 gardenias, pink stephonatis and ivy.

Her gown was floor length in silk organza over taffeta. The bodice was alencon lace with a petaled neckline trimmed with pearls and sequins and had short petaled sleeves. The lace was repeated in a flower motif down the left side of the full skirt. The bride's illusion veil was held by a pillbox covered with matching lace.

HER ATTENDANTS were gowned alike in pink silk organza, styled with a front panel of self-fabric roses. Their headpieces were matching roses, and they carried pink roses with ivy.

Mrs. Eldon Anderson of Arlington Heights, the bride's sister, was matron of honor, and bridesmaids were Amelia Budd and Nancy Anderson, both of Arlington Heights; Nadine Meier, the bride's cousin from Bristol, Wis., and Mrs. Lawrence Veitch, the groom's sister from Rockford.

Three-year-old Janice Cronin of Arlington Heights served as flower girl and also wore pink silk organza. The ring bearer was 7-year-old Rick Veitch.

ELDON ANDERSON of Arlington Heights was best man, and ushers were Lloyd Stjernberg of Franklin Park, Fred Thayer of Mount Prospect, Charles Middleton of Dixon and Arthur Clausing of Palatine.

Taking part in the nuptials were the bride's sister, Mrs. Anderson, and Erhardt Roeske, her cousin, who were soloists, accompanied at the organ by Donald Hermann.

FOR THE buffet supper and reception which took place in Bensenville Firehall, the bride's mother wore a peacock sheath dress with matching jacket, and Mrs. Nelson wore an aqua sheath dress. Each had a cymbidium corsage. The wedding party greeted 300 guests at the evening reception.

The couple is now at home, after a honeymoon in Wisconsin, at 1031 S. Dunton Ave., Arlington Heights.

Both are employed in the local area, the bride at Arlington Federal Savings and Loan and the groom just beginning a contract to teach at Arlington High School. He is a graduate of Northern Illinois University and formerly taught English and journalism at Belvidere High School. The bride is a graduate of Arlington High School. (S (Jenart.

Palatine Teacher Is Bride of Virginian

The former Elizabeth Louise Holmes, who taught English at Palatine High School this past year, was married on June 22 in Saratoga Methodist Church, near Henry, Ill., to Warren T. Townsend Jr. of Arlington, Va. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Holmes of Bradford, Ill., and the groom's parents are the Terry Townsends of Arlington.

Close friends of the couple, Dr. William Stegner of Bloomington and Rev. David Newcomer of Princeton, officiated at the 3 o'clock rites. Prof. Hugh Beggs, of Jacksonville, Ill., an uncle of the bride, accompanied Miss Connie Gray on the piano as she sang "I Love Thee" and "O Promise Me."

THE BRIDE entered the sanctuary by candlelight, wearing a gown of pure silk organza over taffeta. The scoop neck, sleeveless dress had a matching short jacket which was embroidered in a flower motif. The dress had an embroidered cummerbund at the waist and a detachable train.

The bridal veil was shoulder length and was held by a cluster of organza roses. The bridal bouquet was a cascade of stephanotis and ivy, centered with pink rosebuds.

THE BRIDE'S three attendants were gowned alike in white silk organza over taffeta, featuring scoop neckline with a floral band, short sleeves and a controlled pink skirt. The dresses were embroidered with tiny pink motifs.

The maid of honor was the bride's sister, Carole Holmes, and bridesmaids were Mrs. Howard Rosengren of Oak Park and Jane Watkins of Rochester, Ill.

The girls' headpieces were fashioned of organza rose petals, which held a short pink nose veil in place. They carried crescent bouquets of Briarcliff roses tied with nylon tulle.

BEST MAN for the double ring rites was John Wiestart of Minonk, Ill. Groomsmen were Tim Townsend, the groom's brother, and Gary Coats of Princeton. Ushering the guests were James Holmes, the bride's brother, and Bob Cassidy of Milwaukee.

All of the men in the wedding party were attired in summer formal afternoon wear with white carnation boutonnieres.

A reception followed the ceremony in the church social room, and the couple then left for a honeymoon in Wisconsin.

The newlyweds are both graduates of Illinois Wesleyan University, where the groom was affiliated with Theta Chi fraternity. The bride will teach in Evergreen Park High School in fall, and the groom has received an Illinois Youth Commission scholarship for graduate study in social work at the University of Chicago. He is currently working for the Reception and Diagnostic Center of the Youth Commission in Joliet. (S

Gamma Phi's Invite Husbands to Party

Tables heaped with food, very casual dress. a variety of games and lots of fun are the order of things Saturday, July 6, when Gamma Phi Betas let husbands share the group's conviviality at the annual couples' picnic.

The potluck affair will be given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Impey, 621 S. Bristol, Arlington Heights. Tee-off time for games, hors d'oeuvres and refreshments is 6:30 p.m. A roast beef buffet dinner will be served at 8 p.m.

THE BERMUDA shorts-clad group will include about 25 couples from Park Ridge through the northwest suburbs to Barrington. To those who have not attended in the past, Gamma Phis tout the party as the year's best—especially since the men are included. The gals always hope that the summer fun will make husbands ignore the clocks during the rest of the year when the baby-sitting males work long hours on behalf of the northwest suburban chapter.

In addition to roast beef, party fare includes Jello molds, tossed salad, potato salad, relishes, french bread, vegetable casseroles, dessert and coffee.

ARRANGEMENTS for the picnic are being made by the club's corresponding secretary, Mrs. Donald Novaria of Arlington Heights. She reminds everyone to bring their own silverware, plates, cups and drinks. Those wishing to make last-minute reservations may call her at 392-3956. (S

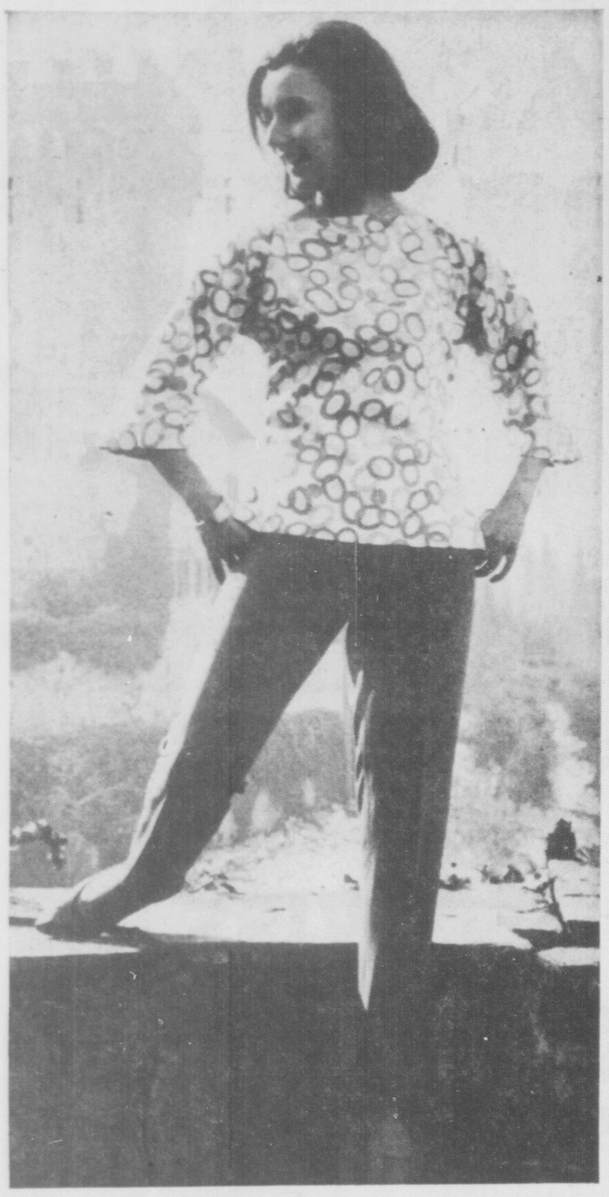
Designer Collections Available in Catalog



CREATED BY EMILIO PUCCI, this stretch pants and overblouse outfit, photographed at the Tower of the Saracens in Florence, is one of the outstanding fall fashions designed exclusively for national distribution by Ward's. A costume for indoors and outdoors, the color and fit of Pucci sportswear are faultless. The pants come in royal blue, brass, bright coral and black; the blouse in a circle print to enhance the color of the pants. (S CREATED BY JACQUES HEIM, this blue and gold imported brocade short evening dress, photographed on the steps of Heim's salon in Paris, is one of the fashions designed exclusively for Ward's fall catalogs. They are available at the Fair in Randhurst to shoppers who stop at the store's catalog order desk. This "dining out" dress is complemented by gold kid leather pumps, 8-button imported white kid gloves and rope necklace of pearl, gold and crystal. (S

Created by several of the world's most famous designers, the first collection of top fashions ever to be offered at popular prices will be available to shoppers at the Fair in Randhurst, through the store's Montgomery Ward catalog order desk.

The collection, to be featured in Ward's fall catalog in July, was recently introduced by the designers themselves in a special New York showing.

THE ROSTER of designer "Greats" in Ward's Brentshire Designers Fall Collection reads like the Who's Who of the couture world and includes Emilio Pucci, Laura and Nora Aponte, Nina Ricci, Jacques Heim, Vin Draddy, and Melba Hobson.

Pucci, one of Italy's fashion giants, has styled the collection of sportswear. The famous mother and daughter team of Laura and Nora Aponte of Rome has designed exquisite knits.

COATS inspired by Nina Ricci, trimmed in luxurious, buttery-soft Emba mink, are so French they almost have an accent. Jacques Heim has contributed cocktail dresses romantic enough to purr.

Vin Draddy and Melba Hobson have put a few more stars in the flag of American design with the daytime fashions they have styled.

ONE OF THE most unusual features of the collection is the fact that many of the garments have been completely and smartly accessorized by the designers who styled them, providing a complete fashion ensemble that fulfills the promise of these beautiful clothes.

One of the most enchanting features of the Montgomery Ward designer collection, available through the company's catalog only, is a special collection of children's clothes called "Heimettes," styled by Jacques Heim. (S

Secret to Catching Fish: Locate First

SPOONER, WIS., (UPI) — The most important thing in catching Wisconsin walleyes is locating the fish, says the State Conservation Department Area biologist.

"To locate walleyes try fishing bars, reefs, shallow bays, weed beds and snags, or inlets with a good flow of water," suggests Wallace Niemuth. "Look for the guy catching fish."

According to Niemuth, May, June and October are the best months for walleye fishing. He said walleyes are usually active during these months and generally feed in shallow water.

"IF YOU can sneak out of the house without helping with the summer dishes, or if you can roll out of bed at the crack of dawn," he said, "these are the preferred periods of the day to try for walleyes."

Trolling or casting artificial baits—such as jigs, deep-running plugs, spoons or spinners—will usually produce walleyes early and again late in the season, he said, advising fishermen to retrieve their bait slowly and to keep it near the bottom.

"From about the first of June on, watch for mayflies or other insect hatches," he said. "If you notice a good hatch, grab your fly rod and try fishing for walleyes on the surface with poppers, streamers or hair flies."

NIEMUTH SAID the best chance of catching walleyes during the hot summer months is to troll or cast deep along bars or reefs and weed beds. He said this is a good time of year to use live bait—such as minnows, angle worms or night crawlers, frogs or hellgrammites. (T

Wisconsin Man Kills Roving Bear

MADISON, WIS., (UPI) — A black bear, several hundred miles outside its normal Wisconsin range, was shot and killed recently, reports the State Conservation Department.

The animal, which weighed about 200 pounds, was shot in the town of Buena Vista May 19 by Arland Nol. Noll said the bear had chased pastured horses into a fence corner and was aparently intent on attacking them.

HE SAID he shot only after attempts to scare the beast away failed. Earlier the bear had been sighted moving in a southwesterly direction near Spring Green and in the town of Honey Creek.

Conservation Department specialist George Knudsen said the animal was hundreds of miles south of its normal range. A confirmed bear sighting in the southwest is "extremely rare," he said. (T

GENUINE OIL PAINTINGS BY EUROPEAN ARTISTS FROM $1 TO $100!

Our buyer has been touring Europe since April, visiting Paris, Rome, Berlin and less-known places where artists come to live and to paint. From Arles, near the Mediterranean coast, north to Hamburg, he has exercised discriminating taste in selecting works for your home.

Compliment the music and books which you enjoy with truly fine art. Here are paintings in the manner of the Dutch masters, intricate in detail, fascinating in subject. Here is the work of an artist unquestionably influenced by Buffet, speaking powerfully with a tracery of verticals — but priced at only a few dollars instead of thousands.

All are originals, all by European artists whose names could some day be household words, as are those of some of the unknowns of yesteryear.

Choose them for size and color, if you will, to match the decor of your home. Or select them because of the obvious influence of some old master—or present-day master.

Both the traditional and contemporary schools are included in our gallery — from literal renditions of historically famous subjects to non-objective abstractions — although you will find that the more classial approach appeals to our buyer, as we believe it will to you.

Come to the Milk Pail Restaurant at Fin 'n Feather Farm, Dundee, for lunch or dinner, then visit the gallery immediately to the rear, in a separate building. Or just come to the gallery. There is never an admission charge; no one will ask you to buy.

We even have very reasonably priced frames available to fit any painting you may select. Come see us. Make up a party and make an afternoon of it. You'll enjoy yourself — and you may add something of lasting beauty and value to your home.

'Undesirable Element' Opposed

Wisconsin Residents in Arms Over 'Land Grab' for Park

LAKE DELTON, WIS., (UPI)— Property owners at nearby Mirror Lake are up in arms again in protest of what they call a Conservation Department "land grab" of property around the lake.

The department has already purchased approximately 450 acres of land on the lake, the bulk of which was part of a land development also opposed by many of the property owners.

Larry Mirkes, an administrative assistant in the division of forests and parks, said the entire project when completed will involve about 2,400 acres of land and about 5½ miles of shoreline on the boot-shaped lake. The department hopes to be able to negotiate for most of it, but will condemn property if necessary.

THE PLAN for the park was approved in the outdoor resources bill of Gov. Gaylord Nelson, with money to come from the special one-cent-a-pack tax on cigarettes.

Mirkes said the park is planned to include nature trails and hiking trails, as well as camping areas, and said it is an effort to "keep one of the very few real examples of Dells landscape preserved."

But the owners say they can do it themselves. And what's more, they object not only to the manner in which the department is trying to obtain the land but the loss of tax base and the type of people such a park might attract.

"The new Interstate Highways 90-94 are now three hours away from the heartland of Chicago," said Robert K. Hynnes, treasurer of the Mirror Lake Property Owners Association.

"IF WE INVITE the undesirable element, which is now estimated at more than 46 per cent of Chicago's population—to visit us—(which we do through all of our mass advertising) to stay at the low-priced public camp sites—then we invite the same social problems that now prevail in Chicago parks, Chicago beaches and Cook County forest preserves.

"The additional cost of police protection for robbery, assault and major crimes should be anticipated by taxpayers who would still remain to pay taxes in Belton Township," he said.

Mirkes said the Conservation Department would provide help for the law enforcement agencies, if such a thing would come to pass.

"One of the things that has never been clearly explained to me is simply this—why do we have to give up our homes—not cottages lived in only a few months of the year, but homes, where we live the full 12 months of the year, for someone to pitch a tent on possibly six or eight weeks the entire year?" asked Raymond R. Gaumitz, another property owner, in a letter to Gov. John Reynolds.

MIRKES SAID several persons would be given life tenancy at the lake, if their ages were right and if the location of their properties would not interfere with what he called "an essential development."

"I certainly would say perbaits—such as jigs, deep-running plugs, spoons or spinners—will usually produce walleyes early and again late in the season, he said, advising fishermen to retrieve their bait slowly and to keep it near the bottom.

"From about the first of June on, watch for mayflies or other insect hatches," he said. "If you notice a good hatch, grab your fly rod and try fishing for walleyes on the surface with poppers, streamers or hair flies."

NIEMUTH SAID the best chance of catching walleyes during the hot summer months is to troll or cast deep along bars or reefs and weed beds. He said this is a good time of year to use live bait—such as minnows, angle worms or night crawlers, frogs or hellgrammites. (T sons in their middle 30's wouldn't qualify for life tenancy," he said. 'But those who are retired certainly would."

Mirkes also tried to answer another complaint—that of the possibility of big boats and waterskiers "ruining" the peacefulness of the lake.

"We will have to have restrictions on boats and skiing," he said. "But to do that we'll have to be able to buy the land."

MOST OF the protests, however, all of which were put into writing in letters to Reynolds, deal with what is described as the "bureaucracy of the Conservation Department."

"Why can a group who live in a different county and city turn this land-craving vampire on us?" asked B. M. Page, chairman of the town of Delton. "Do not make us have sit-ins or some child-like incidents. We too can be discriminated against—but why does not the President of the United States, our governor or the lower echelon officials throw political tirades over our plight? Must we change color to have our rights respected and protected?"

Said Page, "If we dare fight for our homes, we will face condemnation. They must go. We must go . . . what about our civil rights?" (T

by JEAN WELCH

I am sure that if, in a word association test, some one said, "Maine" my reaction would be "lobster." My first reaction, that is, and I'm not ashamed of it, for Maine lobsters have no peer. A second reaction might be, "beautiful, quiet and restful."

There are small villages and towns in Maine where one can really get away from hustle and bustle. One such is Belfast, halfway up the coast on the western shores of Penobscot Bay.

Belfast was first settled in 1770 by a group of Scotch-Irish and for many years was an important ship building center, building merchants ships which sailed the seven seas, many of them captained and manned by men of Belfast.

MANY OF the earliest buildings are still standing and if you are intrigued by old buildings, old churches, old homes, you will find much to see in Belfast.

Of a Sunday morning you will hear the mellow tones of a Paul Revere bell as it sounds its call to worship from the belfry of the First Church.

In East Belfast is the Little Stone Church, constructed of native field stone and containing an exact replica in stained glass of Hoffman's celebrated picture, "The Redeemer."

PRIMROSE HILL is the delightful name of a street which is the site of many houses 100 years and older. Belfast is small can strike up an acquaintence enough that it is likely that you waitress at dinner or the drug- and learn much about the hiscomplimentary remark to your tory and old architecture by a gist from whom you purchase sun tan oil. The poeple are proud of their town and well they might be.

For the fisherman, Maine offers good sport. You may not be familiar with the species called "togue" which Maine's cold waters provide. It's a gamey fish to catch, and good to eat, too. Togue up to 20 pounds have been taken, after a good fight.

They are most often prepared broiled, with salt pork strips, and any Maine native will assure you that it's a dish for a king.

THERE ARE many good motels in the area, many with views of the sea or bay. They tend to be small and homey. So do the many good restaurants such as the Mooring, with its wood paneled walls, its early American decor and its right-out-of-the-ocean seafood.

Maine is a beautiful state, and Belfast seems to personify its quiet charm. (T

Gems of Thought

When it comes to stopping a man's circulation, the best tourniquet of all is a wedding ring.

One of the troubles with knowledge is that it only takes a couple of sips to intoxicate some persons with it.

It is difficult to size up the true character of a person until you see how he behaves when he has a good reason to become perturbed.

Badger Brigades Play Key Role in Gettysburg Battle

by LANCE HERDEGEN

MILWAUKEE, (UPI) — Abe Lincoln was wrong when he said the "world will little note, nor long remember" what happened 100 years ago in the small Pennsylvania town of Gettysburg.

For Wisconsin residents touring the well-known battlefield park of today with its neat asphalt roads and trimmed grass, a high point is a stop at a thick woods on a low rise of ground where stand stone monuments commemorating three Wisconsin regiments that played a key part in the opening of the three-day battle exactly one century ago Monday.

On July 1, 1863, the roads were dirt and the grassy slopes farm fields as the little town few had ever heard of before suddenly became very important.

ROBERT LEE of Virginia had taken his hard-marching infantry northward a second time, and the Union Army had two corps waiting as the grey skirmishes moved toward Gettysburg with quick strides.

In the outnumbered federal battle line that hot July morning were three Wisconsin regiments, the 2nd, 6th and 7th, members of an outfit that earned by stout fighting the nickname "Iron Brigade."

The Southerners knew the Army of the Potomac was somewhere up ahead and halted quickly when heavy musket fire knocked down their advance lines. In front of the confederates, a Union unit, flags tilted proudly forward, was coming down the slope with a yell.

IT WAS THE "Iron Brigade" and the "Rebels" called to one another, "It ain't no militia. Thar cames them blackhats. It's the Army of the Potomac."

Caught off balance, the Southerners were routed by the hard-charging western men. Archer's Confederate brigade was shattered in a wild rush led by the 2nd and 7th Wisconsin along with two other regiments of the famed federal outfit.

The 6th Wisconsin, held in reserve, was ordered to the right to halt a second Confederate attack moving on the right flank of the embattled "Iron Brigade."

THE BADGER soldiers quickly opened up, sweeping the "Rebels" into an unfinished railroad cut with a heavy fire. The order "forward charge" went up and the Wisconsin men scrambled over two rail fences and rushed the Confederate line.

The Wisconsin men crossed the 175 yards quickly and drove to the edge of the cut with cries of "throw down your muskets," and the 2nd Mississippi surrendered.

On the rest of the field, things were going against the Union.

Outnumbered and overwhelmed, the thin blue line had broken at several places and was forced to retreat. The blue-clad soldiers had bought enough time, however, to allow the rest of the Union army to concentrate below Gettysburg, where two more days of fighting would take place.

SOME HISTORIANS have claimed the delaying action fought by Union units a century ago today at Gettysburg earned victory for the federal army. If that is so, then Wisconsin and the "Iron Brigade" must also take some of the credit.

The price in blood had been tragic. The 2nd Wisconsin lost 77 per cent of its numbers. The 7th and 6th lost 52 and 48 per cent respectively. Of the 1,883 men in the brigade who marched up to Gettysburg, 1,212 were missing, dead or wounded. (T

Van Schelven-Solon Rites Take Place in Michigan

The family of James Davis Solon traveled from Arlington Heights to Michigan to witness his June 15 marriage to Nancy Van Schelven, daughter of the Martin George Van Schelvens of Grand Haven. James, son of Mrs. John J. Solons, 614 S. Mitchell, Arlington Heights, is an ensign in the Navy's Nuclear Power School and he and his bride have been residing in San Diego since July 1.

The double ring ceremony took place in St. Mary's Church in Spring Lake where bouquets of white peonies decorated the altars. Msgr. Francis J. Kupinski officiated at the noon-time rites.

A buffet luncheon for 200 guests followed in the Spring Lake Country Club after which Mr. Solon took his bride on a honeymoon trip through northern Michigan and on to California.

THE BRIDE'S white peau de soie gown was fashioned with a full-length, A-line skirt and chapel train. The skirt line was accented with Alencon lace appliques and the bodice was made with long sleeves. A large peau de soie rose held her shoulder-length illusion veil and she carried a cascade of phalaenopsis, orchids, stephanotis and ivy. Mr. Schelven gave his daughter in marriage.

Miss Mary Ann Sherwood of Birmingham, Mich. was maid of honor and bridesmaids were the groom's sister, Miss Joan Solon, and the bride's sister, Miss Connie Van Schelven. All wore identical sheath gowns of white silk organza with bouffant overskirts of white silk organza trimmed in cornflower blue cabbage rose headpieces with short veils.

THE BRIDE'S mother chose a pink peau de soie costume suit with white accessories and a corsage of blush pink sweetheart roses, while Mrs. Solon chose a beige silk costume suit with matching accessories and a corsage of yellow rosebuds.

Robert Archer of Chicago was best man to the groom and ushers were the groom's brother, Patrick Solon of Arlington Heights, Michael Hamblet of Northbrook, John Henricks of Rockford and John Good of Chicago.

The bride was graduated from Milwaukee-Downer College and was employed as an occupational therapist at Children's Memorial Hospital. Her bridegroom was graduated from Notre Dame High School in Niles and the Illinois Institute of Technology. (S CRUMPLING STAGE money, which they hope will be replaced with the real thing, are cast and sponsors of "Everybody Loves Opal," to be presented Sunday, July 14, in Old Orchard Country Club Theatre. Sponsored by Wheeling Township Women's Republican Club, the performance will be given by the Old Orchard Country Club Little Theatre Group, including Gordon Oas-Heim, Jeri Jensen, standing second from right, and Patricia Ferris, seated. Republican Women's Club officers joining in the fun are Mrs. George Coker and Mrs. Thomas Novotny of Arlington Heights and Mrs. Franklin Friday of Mount Prospect, right. (S

"Everybody Loves Opal," the current presentation of Old Orchard Country Club Little Theatre group, will be the feature of this year's theatre party of the Wheeling Township Women's Republican Club to be held Sunday, July 14.

The club will sponsor a matinee performance at 2 p.m. and an evening production at 8:30 p.m.

A buffet dinner will be offered between the performances, with continuous service from 5 to 8 p.m.

MONEY RAISED goes to finance club and campaign activities in the township, Mrs. George Coker, club president, announced.

Reservations may be obtained by calling the ticket chairman, Mrs. William Andrew, at CL 3-2970. (S

Tropical Iced Tea

Next to a dip in the pool or a visit to an air-conditioned movie, a tall glass of iced tea is just about the best summer cooler there is. It's a refresher that really quenches your thirst and, because it's so low in calories and cost, you can drink all you want, all the day long. To make a big family-size pitcherful use this easy open saucepan method.

ICED TEA BY THE PITCHERFUL

Bring one quart of freshly drawn cold water to a full rolling boil in a saucepan. Remove from the heat and immediately add 1/3 cup loose tea or 15 teabags. Stir and let stand for 5 minutes uncovered.

STIR AGAIN and strain into a pitcher holding another quart of cold water. Or use the convenient instant teas, allowing about 4 tablespoons of the soluble powder to 2 quarts of cold tap water.

Serve in ice-filled glasses with lemon and sugar to taste. Or serve it tropical style with fruit kabobs made by loading a swizzle stick or sipper with a cube of pineapple, a grape, a quarter slice of orange, a red cherry, a slice of lime and a strawberry. (SH

Recess for The Summer

A potluck luncheon marked the end of the current club season for Itasca Garden Club on June 25, when Mrs. H. A. Davenport, 205 W. North Ave., hosted a gathering in her home.

After the luncheon members toured the spacious grounds at the Davenport home, viewing the many varieties of flowers, shrubs and trees.

Assisting the hostess that day were Mrs. Wesley Usher and Mrs. Yngoe Olsson; the club will resume sessions in September. (SH

THE RACING WILL be over for Jockey Walter Blum, who kibitzes here with Northwest Community Hospital Auxiliary members as they make plans for their annual luncheon and fashion show to be held in the Post and Paddock Club at Arlington Park Sept. 10. Blum, a leading jockey last year in the East and in Florida, is looking forward to his first season at Arlington, which closes Sept. 9, just in time for the ladies to take over the club. On the planning committee are Mrs. Richard Fenner, Mrs. William Ball and Mrs. Paul Knott. (S

Carol Meyer, David Lynk Married in Nuptial Mass

Four hundred guests attended the reception following a nuptial mass May 25 in which Miss Carol Ann Meyer, daughter of the Donald Meyers of Inkster, Mich., became the bride of Dale F. Lynk, son of the William Lynks, 635 N. Dunton, Arlington Heights. The double ring wedding took place in Sacred Heart Church in Dearborn, Mich. with Rt. Rev. Msgr. Walter Hardy officiating.

The bride was preceded down the aisle by two aunts and a cousin as her attendants, and was escorted to the white glad and carnation-decorated altar by her father.

Her gown was a floor-length silk organza and chantilly lace creation with long sleeves and sabrina neckline, and trimmed with cabbage roses. The full skirt ended in a short train and a crown of seed pearls held her fingertip veil. A cascade of white roses, stephanotis and ivy completed her ensemble.

MRS. PATRICIA HEIDT of Michigan, an aunt, was matron of honor and bridesmaids were Miss Alma Bordt, a cousin, and Mrs. Mary Lou Heidt, another aunt, all of Michigan. Their gowns were of white lace over blue taffeta sheaths, and they carried blue-tipped, white carnations in a cascade bouquet. Crown headpieces were also worn by the attendants.

Also in the wedding party was a 5-year-old flower girl, Catherine Smithy of Michigan, also a cousin of the bride, who wore a white organza gown and carried pink roses.

Richard Moran of Arlington Heights was the groom's best man and ushers were the bride's brother, Donald Meyer Jr. and Donald Heidt, an uncle of the bride.

The reception was held in the Wayne - Ford Civic League where the bride's mother received in a pink silk organza sheath with pink accessories and a pink rose corsage. Mrs. Lynk chose a turquoise silk organza sheath with white accessories and a corsage of yellow roses.

MR. AND MRS. Lynk honeymooned en route to Oklahoma where the groom is stationed at Fort Sill with the Army. They expect to remain in Oklahoma until December, when the groom will be discharged from service and they will then make their home in Arlington Heights.

Before their marriage, both young people were employed by the Jewel Tea Co. in Barrington. The groom attended Arlington High School and his bride was graduated from Sacred Heart High School in Dearborn.

Sheila Clark Resides In Evanston as Bride

An Arlington Heights girl, Miss Sheila Ann Clark, daughter of the Nelson Clarks, 935 N. Mitchel Ave., became the bride of Phillip Charles Zook of Crawfordsville, Ind., June 15.

The wedding took place in the First Presbyterian Church with Dr. Paul Stumpf officiating. Flower arrangements of white gladioli and carnations on the altar formed the setting for the candlelight double ring ceremony.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father, chose a gown of white net with an embroidered bodice. Her two-tier veil of silk illusion fell from a pearl crown highlighted with aurora borealis crystals and she carried a white Bible with a white orchid and stephanotis.

Miss Anita Weller of Homewood, who served as maid of honor, wore a pink taffeta gown and carried a bouquet of pink and white carnations.

Soloist Isaac Strain, sang "Love Never Faileth" and "Oh Perfect Love" accompanied by Mrs. Strain.

Mr. Zook had as his best man Robert Kilian of Chicago. William Doan and Raymond Beckman were ushers and the bride's cousin, Bruce Clark, served as acolyte.

One hundred guests attended the reception at the bride's home following the ceremony. Mrs. Clark received in a gown of taupe chiffon with matching accessories and wore a corsage of yellow cymbidiums. Mrs. Byon Stull, aunt of the bridegroom, wore a beige ensemble with matching accessories and a corsage of ivory cymbidiums.

The bridegroom, son of Willard Zook of Toledo, is a student at Northwestern University, where he will receive his B. S. degree in business administration in December. Mrs. Zook attended National College of Education in Evanston.

The couple is now residing in Evanston. (S

Prospect Heights Man Says Vows in Florida

The courtship of Dennis E. Knutson, AMM-PO 3.C of Pensacola Naval Air Station, and Glenda Dale Lovelace, daughter of Mrs. Ruby Lovelace of the same town, was culminated in a June 1 wedding ceremony in the bride's home town.

Miss Lovelace selected a white silk ballerina-length gown, blusher veil, silk crown and orchid corsage for the nuptials officiated at 5 p.m. in Warrington Baptist Church, Pensacola.

THE BRIDE'S mother, gowned in a white sheath and matching accessories, gave her daughter's hand in marriage. Nancy Lovelace served her sister as maid of honor and the girls' brother, Teddy, was best man.

Parents of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. Roy A. Knutson of 209 W. Circle Drive, Prospect Heights, were unable to attend the rites but are planning to host a reception when the groom is on leave in August.

Mr. Knutson, an aviation machinists mate, has been in service for two years, and was in the 1960 graduating class at Arlington High School. He and his bride have made their first home together in an apartment in Pensacola. (S

Lemon, Orange Enhance Cook's Mandarin Salad

Fruited Ice Cream Made the Easy Way

by LOIS SEILER

A light summertime salad, refreshingly orange-flavored and served with a fruited cream, is one of the favorite recipes of Mrs. Edwin H. Gill of 1598 Dunbar Road, Inverness.

More unique and more flavorful than most mandarin orange salads, this mold is made with lemon jello and concentrated frozen orange juice. The dressing which accompanies it contains mashed banana and crushed pineapple folded into mayonnaise and whipped cream.

"I like to unmold the salad on crisp endive," Mrs. Gill said. She serves it for buffet dinners and finds that is a nice accompaniment for fried chicken. "It is also the type of salad that could be used in lieu of dessert," she explained.

ANOTHER OF her specialties which she often serves for luncheons is a different and delicious tuna fish casserole.

Called Tuna Supreme, this dish is simple to prepare and can be made in advance — even the day before. It consists of only four ingredients: tuna fish, crushed cheese crackers, a medium white sauce and sliced ripe olives.

Baked either in a casserole or individual shells, this rich and tasty dish need only be accompanied by a tart salad and hot rolls. For either a light luncheon or a light dinner, Mrs. Gill's Chocolate Yummy would be an appropriate and appealing dessert choice.

"My sons, Bill, 13, and Bob, 12, love this," Mrs. Gill commented, "and it is chuck-full of calories."

MADE IN A square pyrex dish, this luscious dessert consists of a vanilla wafer crust, a rich and creamy chocolate filling, chopped pecans and vanilla ice cream. It is placed in the freezer until ready to serve.

Ladies who needn't worry about watching their weight will find Chocolate Yummy an elegant bridge dessert!

MANDARIN ORANGE SALAD WITH FRUITED CREAM

2 packages lemon jello
1 cup hot water
1 cup cold water
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 12-ounce can frozen orange juice, concentrate
2 11-ounce cans mandarin oranges, drained

Dissolve jello in hot water; stir in cold water, lemon juice, undiluted orange juice and mandarin oranges. Turn into a 1½ quart mold and chill until firm.

Unmold on crisp endive and serve with the following fruited cream dressing:

1 9-ounce can (1 cup) crushed pineapple, well-drained
1 cup mayonnaise
1 cup whipping cream

Mash banana. Mix with crushed pineapple and mayonnaise. Whip cream until stiff and fold in. Salad and dressing serves 8.

TUNA SUPREME

2 7-ounce cans (2 cups) tuna fish
2 cups crushed cheese crackers
3 cups medium white sauce
¾ cup sliced ripe olives

Break tuna into pieces. Combine with cheese crackers, ripe olives and 3 cups of your favorite white sauce. Turn into a greased casserole and sprinkle additional crushed cheese crackers on top.

Bake in a 350 degree oven for 35 minutes, until bubbly. Serves 6 generously. This is also good made in individual shells. It can also be made the day before and stored in the refrigerator.

CHOCOLATE YUMMY

Vanilla wafers, crushed
2 squares bitter chocolate
¼ pound butter or margarine
2 cups confectioners sugar
Pinch of salt
2 egg yolks
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 egg whites
½ cup finely chopped pecans
1 quart softened vanilla ice cream

Press a layer of crushed vanilla wafers into a buttered 8x8 inch pyrex dish.

Melt the chocolate and butter in the top of a double boiler. Stir into it the confectioners sugar, salt and egg yolks. Remove from heat and add vanilla.

Beat egg whites until stiff and fold into the chocolate mixture. Spread over crumbs. Sprinkle chopped pecans over the chocolate. Spread softened ice cream over the chocolate and nuts and sprinkle additional vanilla wafer crumbs on top. Store in freezer until ready to serve. Serves 8. (SH

Fruited Dressing Uses 'Whip' Cream

NO NEED TO SPEND hours turning the crank of an ice cream freezer as Grandmother used to do — a leading milk company has developed an up-to-date recipe for modern homemakers. The fruited dessert pictured can be frozen in refrigerator trays at home. (SH

With the coming of days that are warmer, thoughts turn to cool, refreshing desserts. First on the list of favorites is homemade ice cream.

Grandmother used to spend hours turning the crank of her ice cream freezer, but the modern homemaker can rely on Carnation Company's home economists who have developed an ice cream recipe that is creamy and rich—but oh, so easy to prepare.

THE SECRET is evaporated milk . . . whipped and blended with marshmallow whip and fruits. Evaporated milk insures a smooth texture every time, no need to worry about iciness. It's extra nutritious, too, with twice the amounts of Vitamin D, protein and minerals of whole milk.

HOMEMADE PEACH 'N STRAWBERRY ICE CREAM
Makes about 2½ quarts)

1 cup sliced fresh peaches*
1 cup sliced fresh strawberries
½ cup sugar
1½ cups (7½ to 8 ounce jar) marshmallow whip
1⅔ cups (large can) undiluted evaporated milk
¼ cup lemon juice
Whole fresh strawberries

Mash peaches and 1 cup sliced strawberries in bowl. Add sugar and marshmallow whip. Allow to stand for 25 minutes. Stir occasionally until well blended.

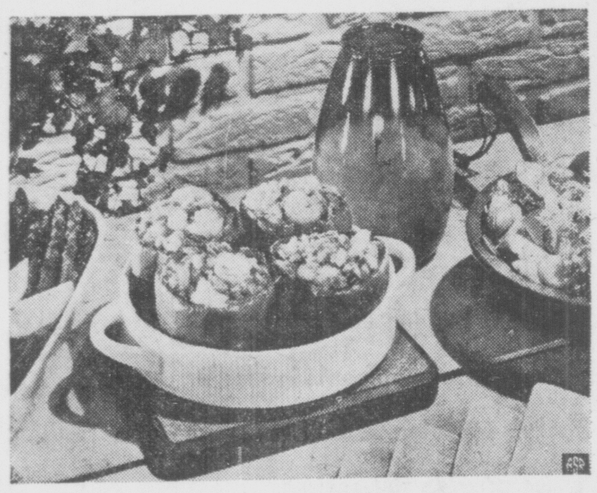
CHILL evaporated milk in refrigerator tray until soft ice crystals form around edges of tray (about 25 to 30 minutes). Whip evaporatee milk until stiff (about 2 minutes).

Add lemon juice. Whip very stiff (about 2 minutes longer). Fold peach mixture into whipped evaporated milk. Spoon into refreigerator trays. Freeze until firm (about 3 hours).

Serve garnished with whole strawberries.

*Or one 12-ounce package frozen sliced peaches and one 10-ounce package frozen sliced strawberries, thawed (omit sugar). (SH

Quick Patio Specialty– Shrimp Stuffed Peppers



Nourishing hot meals are necessary even in the hottest weather. But quick-as-a-wink "Shrimp Stuffed Peppers" served on the patio are a treat for the family and cool for you.

This simple combination of coarsely crumbled crisp saltine crackers, shrimp, catsup and butter, stuffed into green peppers, can be prepared early in the day and refrigerated until ready to bake and serve. So quick, so easy, so much more cool, free time for you. Here's how to make them:

SHRIMP STUFFED PEPPERS

4 large green peppers
1 cup coarse cracker crumbs, 12 double crackers
¼ cup butter or margarine
¼ cup catsup
2¼ to 2½ cups cooked, cleaned shrimp

Cut tops from peppers, remove seeds and membranes from insides; boil in salted water for 5 minutes; drain upside-down on rack. Crush crackers between two sheets of waxed paper with rolling pin; place in mixing bowl.

MELT BUTTER or margarine over low heat, stir in catsup and mix well. Stir mixture into crumbs, add shrimp and toss together. Pack gently into peppers and place in shallow baking dish; pour about ½ inch water around peppers.

Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) for about 20 minutes, or until completely heated through. Yield: 4 servings.

Six small peppers may be used for a luncheon; about 2 pounds of shrimp if you start from scratch.

Add Flair to Green Salads Using Pungent Blue Cheese

A ZESTY BLUE CHEESE dressing adds a taste-tempting flair to a main dish salad. Since only a little American blue cheese is needed to create the characteristic pungent flavor, it can be used often during the summer for family salads. (SH

Summer has arrived on the scene, and so have those delicious green salads! During the warm weather months when lighter foods are so popular, salads are the perfect solution to the constant problem of what to fix for supper.

TO PERK up your family's appetites, toss together a big, beautiful salad and prepare a taste-tempting blue cheese dressing. Pungent American blue cheese, which is budget-priced at supermarkets and grocery stores, gives any salad a "he-man" flavor that will score a hit with the whole family.

The delicately-marbled cheese adds its subtle flavor to the dressing, as well as making a colorful garnish. Blue cheese, hardcooked eggs, and strips of meat provide a protein bonus that makes this salad a meal in itself.

TO MAKE this main course salad, just mix ½ cup of crumbled American blue cheese, 2 tablespoons of lemon juice, ¼ cup milk, and a dash of Worcestershire sauce in a big bowl.

Add torn salad greens, thinly sliced radishes and carrots, and chopped celery. Toss lightly until well coated with the dressing.

Turn into generous individual bowls and arrange green pepper rings, tomato slices, onion rings, hard cooked egg quarters, and small strips of ham and summer sausage on top. Garnish with additional crumbled blue cheese. (SH

It's a small wonder!

The pounding of drums and the blaring of horns are part and parcel of a marching band's practice session. And a common sight during such sessions is the young "majorette" on the sidelines with undersize baton in hand, practicing and dreaming of the day when she will become part of such a band herself. To see her "perform," you would have to agree that she is a small wonder. And Paddock Publications Want Ads, in a similar sense, are a small wonder also. Nothing can equal them when it comes to selling "don't needs" around the house quickly and inexpensively. Call today and put a small wonder want ad to work for you.

Charity Group Sends Thanks

Although the final statistics are not yet completed (we're still counting money), we do know that over 13,000 persons came to Riverview Park last Tuesday night to make the 10th annual Ramble one of the biggest in United Charities' history and the largest family benefit in the country.

Quite obviously the main reason for the Ramble's success and its ever-growing popularity is the group of 13,000 persons who purchased tickets to the family-fun evening. They came for a gala evening because the volunteer ticket sellers had the tremendous support of community newspapers throughout the Chicago metropolitan area, giving extensive coverage in story and picture form.

IT IS DIFFICULT to really express the appreciation we feel for the tremendous job done, but I do want you to know that everyone at United Charities joins me in heartfelt "thanks" to you and to the members of your staff.

Most grateful, however, will be the thousands of men, women, and children whom United Charities will be able to help this year through its Family Service Bureau, Legal Aid Bureau and Camp Algonquin as a result of the success of this benefit.

Again, may I say, "Thank you."

Colorado Story Wins Plaudits

A most gracious thank you for your coverage of the Colorado trip for Troop 499. The pictures were excellent—and I'm just ham enough to love the one of me kissing daughter goodbye!

Guess that will teach me to quit yammering for Girl Scout publicity!

I've had lots of enthusiastic remarks about this senior troop doing this, and I'm sure it inspired many to keep up with their scouting. Thanks again to you and your staff for the cooperation.

Bell Ringing Support Urged

The Fourth of July has always been one of our country's most important holidays and this year Junior Women's Clubs all over the United States are working with their communities to bring back the message of freedom to this day through a "Ring the Bells" campaign.

The Elk Grove Village Junior Woman's Club as a member of the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs and the General Federation of Women's Clubs, is taking part in this nationwide program commemorating our American heritage.

Although Elk Grove Village is not presently equipped to take part in the actual ringing of church bells or government building bells, it is hoped that through this project the importance of July 4th will be emphasized — that this holiday represents more than just a day off from work. At 1 p.m. bells in every part of the country will ring for four minutes. Radio stations will also participate through readings from the Declaration of Independence at this hour.

WE URGE that everyone take the time on Thursday afternoon at 1 p.m. to think of the many freedoms we in the United States take for granted and remember that we are the world's greatest nation "under God, with liberty and justice for all."

Right to Work Laws Praised

Some of the least publicized and most revealing facts are those available concerning State Right to Work Laws. These are laws (passed thus far by 20 states) which prohibit compulsory union membership within the state.

U.S. Government statistics show that man's freedom to work at a job of his choice and economic progress go hand in hand. In the following 10 yardsticks of progress the rates of increases are:

	RTW States	Others
New Jobs, 1953-61	14.6%	3.8%
Wage Rates, 1953-61	37.5	33.3
Personal Income, 1953-61	30.2	25.3
Spending for Factories, 1954-59	29.7	8.2
Factory Production, 1954-59	57.6	34.3
Bank Deposits, 1953-61	47.3	40.6
Retail Sales, 1954-58	20.8	16.5
New Retailers, 1954-58	7.4	2.7
Retail Payrolls, 1954-58	24.1	17.3
Car Registrations, 1953-60	34.8	29.0

BUREAU OF Employment Security figures (March 1, 1963) show average unemployment in Right to Work States is 5.8 per cent of the "covered" work force, /while it is seven per cent in other states. RTW states had only half as much time lost due to strikes (.09 per cent of the total working time) as did other states (.18 per cent).

One of Illinois' problems is losing industries to other states. Let's help turn the tide in Illinois. Twenty states have shown the way — through Right to Work laws. The foregoing government figures show more business and industry, more jobs, money, higher wages and income. Who will benefit? Working people like you and me.

Black Bear Wanders At Will About Base

ALPENA, MICH., (UPI) — A black bear is posing a challenge to the men guarding the Collins Air National Guard Base here.

The 300-pound bear lives in a rotting cabin near Ziem Lake on the airport property. It long ago lost its fear of man and now wanders at will on the base, nosing around the jet aircraft and poking into the buildings.

The bear has not done any harm yet. He has, however, added a few gray hairs to sentries on guard duty.

ONE SERGEANT met the bear on a ramp during a guard tour. When the bear reared up and let out a growl, the sergeant beat a hasty retreat.

Officials at the base said they have taken a "live and let live" attitude.

"As long as he doesn't give us any trouble, our plans are to leave him alone," a spokesman said. (A-14

Iron Shirts Professionally

Ironing a man's shirt is the number one home laundry problem. Men who say they don't like starched shirts praise the looks and comfort of the easy, smooth finish that instant spray starch gives. Anyone can learn to do shirts easily and quickly.

Iron yoke, placing the slightly damp shirt on wide part of board, opened, top of shirt at far side. Fold yoke along back seam; spray lightly with convenient spray starch. Spray and iron inside shirt back. Shift the shirt forward to iron the tail.

Next iron right cuff, the one to your left, inside and out; spray as needed. Smooth and iron this sleeve. Follow by ironing left cuff and sleeve. Move shirt as little as possible.

Holding shirt by right side seam, place entire right side on board, front smoothed over back. Iron up seam and towards the middle. Pull shirt toward you to iron other side. Iron button hole strip carefully. Do wrong side of collar, turn and iron right side. If any wrinkles form, spray again and re-iron. While shirt is on board, insert coat hanger, shape collar and button top button. Pick up and there's the perfectly ironed shirt.

This is IMPACT!

When a community reads that its schools are better, or worse, than average — that's IMPACT!

When a town learns its police department is corrupt, or incorruptible — that's IMPACT!

When a suburb learns it is to have a new industry or a new recreational center or a new municipal building, or it isn't — that's IMPACT!

When you want to keep up with integration in Birmingham, developments in the Far East, and Rocky's wedding in New York, the Big City Dailies provide the answer.

But if you're interested in what's happening on Main street, in village elections, and in the schools, you'll read about it in your local paper, and nowhere else — that's IMPACT!

Just imagine the IMPACT if you didn't have a local suburban paper. Who would attend the Village Theatre productions, subscribe to the Boy Scout fund drive, or know when to — and when not to — sprinkle the lawn?

And when Kiwanis sold its peanuts, the Lions aided the blind, and the Little League was holding a Pancake Day, how would you know where to go to help out — that's IMPACT!

We recognize our obligation — to our readers, our community, our churches and schools, our advertisers — to maintain the impact of good journalism, outstanding effort and a desire to serve.

We appreciate your plaudits, the responsibility you have cast upon us, and reaffirm our pledge to do what's right for our community.

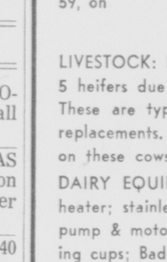
Just Around the Corner from Patty McArdle

School for Mom

Dear Peg:

Mama is going back to school. It was not altogether a thirst for knowledge that inspired me to register for three courses, in the summer school program at the National College of Education in Evanston, actually it was money. A teacher-friend of mine has been urging me for the past year to get my certificate up to date and apply at the local school districts for substitute teaching. She tells me that a substitute can earn $20.00 a day.



McARDLE

I knew that I couldn't undertake this project without the full cooperation of the family, so one morning I asked them, "Would you be willing to help me go to school for 6 weeks?" The looks I got ranged from startled, to quizzical, to you-must-be-kidding. However, after the initial shock wore off, we began discussing in what ways they would have to help.

The more we talked about their duties, the more an enthusiasm for the idea arose. Patrick and Joseph seemed very pleased that they would have to be responsible for making their beds, cleaning their room, emptying all wastebaskets, including the kitchen container, and seeing that no one ate on the floor in front of the TV (naturally, they are the worst offenders). Even children, as young as they, can become awfully bored with doing nothing but playing all summer. The addition to their days of simple, but definite, duties seems to make them happier. The promise of a nickel apiece helped too.

Megan has been bemoaning the fact that there are too many older sisters and high school girls around for her to get a job baby-sitting. Well, here was her golden opportunity, perhaps not as interesting as sitting with someone else's brothers and sisters, but lucrative nevertheless. Bridget saw the possibility of being able to buy the ultra fancy flowered bathing cap which I had adamantly refused to give her money for, and happily agreed to a few household chores and the hour and a half baby-sitting, while Megan attended her typing course.

And so Mama is off to school, to fulfill her requirements for an elementary school certificate. More about Registration Day next week.

My love,
Patty

Carlson Named to Benevolence Board

Rolland S. Carlson, 205 Wa-Pella, Mount Prospect, was recently elected to a five-year term on the Board of Benevolence of the Evangelical Covenant Church of America.

The election took place during the denomination's 78th Annual Meeting June 18-23 at North Park College, Foster and Kedzie Avenues, Chicago.

Mr. Carlson is cashier of the Metropolitan Branch of the Harris Trust and Savings Bank, Chicago.
